Knowledge Utilization, Diffusion, Implementation, Transfer, and Translation Judith M. Ottoson, 2009 This volume teams up familiar literature in knowledge utilization with related theories of diffusion implementation transfer and translation Each of these knowledge for action theories is reviewed for its disciplinary roots assumptions about change key variables and contextual influences Cross talk among these heretofore parallel theories identifies priorities and implications for evaluation practice This issue provides evaluators with multiple lenses to capture change including a consideration of complexity rather than succumb to single discipline perceptions of value If we think about the new knowledge enshrined within a policy or program under evaluation as the foreground then complexity invites evaluators to think more critically about the background that is the dynamic properties of the setting or system into which a policy program is introduced and the implications this raises for evaluation This is the 124th volume of the Jossey Bass quarterly report series New Directions for Evaluation an official publication of the American Evaluation Association

The Science of Evaluation Ray Pawson, 2013-02-01 Evaluation researchers are tasked with providing the evidence to guide programme building and to assess its outcomes As such they labour under the highest expectations bringing independence and objectivity to policy making They face huge challenges given the complexity of modern interventions and the politicised backdrop to all of their investigations They have responded with a huge portfolio of research techniques and through their professional associations have set up schemes to establish standards for evaluative inquiry and to accredit evaluation practitioners A big question remains Has this monumental effort produced a progressive cumulative and authoritative body of knowledge that we might think of as evaluation science This is the question addressed by Ray Pawson in this sequel to Realistic Evaluation and Evidence based Policy In answer he provides a detailed blueprint for an evaluation science based on realist principles

Ecohealth Research in Practice Dominique F. Charron, 2011-11-25 This book is about doing innovative research to achieve sustainable and equitable change in people's health and well being through improved interactions with the environment It presents experiences from the field of ecosystem approaches to health or ecohealth research and some insights and lessons learned It builds on previous literature notably Forget 1997 Forget and Lebel 2001 Lebel 2003 and Waltner Toews et al 2008 Through case studies and other contributions by researchers supported by Canada's International Development Research Centre IDRC the book presents evidence of real changes in conditions of people their health and the ecosystems that support them These changes were derived from applications of an ecosystem approach to health in developing regions of the world The book also illustrates the resulting body of applied participatory and action research that improved health and environmental management in developing countries and in many cases influenced policies and practices

Evaluation Foundations Revisited Thomas Schwandt, 2015-06-17 Evaluation examines policies and programs across every arena of human endeavor from efforts to stop the spread of HIV AIDS to programs that drive national science policy Relying on a vast array of methods from qualitative interviewing to econometrics it is a transdiscipline as opposed to a formal area of academic study Accounting for these challenges Evaluation Foundations Revisited offers an introduction for those seeking to better understand evaluation as a professional field While the acquisition of methods and methodologies to meet the needs of certain projects is important the foundation of evaluative practice rests on understanding complex issues to balance Evaluation Foundations Revisited is an invitation to examine the intellectual practical and philosophical nexus that lies at the heart of evaluation Thomas A Schwandt shows how to critically engage with the assumptions that underlie how evaluators define and position their work as well as how they argue for the usefulness of evaluation in society He looks at issues such as the role of theory how notions of value and valuing are understood how evidence is used how evaluation is related to politics and what comprises scientific integrity By coming to better understand the foundations of evaluation readers will develop what Schwandt terms a life of the mind of practice which enables evaluators to draw on a more holistic view to develop reasoned arguments and well fitted techniques
