

Setting

The novel takes place in two regions during the Age of Imperialism, which are The Congo River in Africa and aboard a ship on the Thames River. The story opens on the Thames River, where Marlow talks about his experiences in the journey that make up the novel. On the deck of the Nellie, Marlow describes the Thames surroundings as a place full of lights and beauty. As the sun sets in the Thames, he starts describing the setting as 'sombre' and that this place was once dark all of the time before civilization made it shine, making a reference to the primitive darkness of Africa and the Congo River during his journey. As Marlow's journey progresses, he describes Africa and the Congo River as an uncivilized and dangerous place, almost like traveling back to the earliest beginnings of the world.

Characters

The novel revolves around two main characters, Marlow and Kurtz. The novel is mostly made up of Marlow's journey into the Belgian occupied Congo. Marlow is a curious, compassionate, and a middle class seaman who admires efficiency and joins the company in search of an adventure. Before joining the company, Marlow's thoughts on imperialism were quite vague. The experiences that Marlow has during his journey create a morale dilemma between Marlow and his internal mind. For example, when visiting the company he sees a bunch of natives working as slaves but he changes his mind and acknowledges that this practice was just to achieve maximum efficiency. On the other hand, Mr. Kurtz is a charismatic and ambitious person. He was the embodiment of imperialism. He was the most efficient ivory collector in all Africa, which attracted Marlow to him. Kurtz represents a man who realizes that to thrive in the uncivilized world, he has to act like a god, someone who can lead these "primitive" people to progress and civilization. Blinded by greed, Kurtz goes crazy and does the impossible to get more ivory.
