Its authorship ranges from established scholars in the field of language change to advanced PhD students whose contributions have equally qualified and have been selected after a two step peer review process. The key foci are variability and diachronic trajectories in scale structures and quantification but readers will also find a variety of further and clearly non disjoint issues covered including reference modality, givenness, presuppositions, alternatives in language change, temporality, epistemic indefiniteness as well as in more general terms the interfaces of semantics with syntax, pragmatics and morphology. Given the nature of the field the contributions are primarily based on original corpus studies, in one case also on synchronic experimental data and present a series of new findings and theoretical analyses of several languages, first and foremost from the Germanic and Romance subbranches of Indo-European: English, French, German, Italian, Spanish and from Semitic with an analysis of universal quantification in Biblical Hebrew Cardiodiabetes Update HK Chopra, 2018-03-31 Cardiodiabetes refers to heart disease that develops in people who have diabetes.
