Death, Bereavement, and Mourning Samuel C.

Heilman, 2018-02-06 An encounter with the death of another is often an occasion when the bereaved need to be sustained in their loss relieved of the anxiety that the meeting with death engenders and comforted in their grief It is a time when those left behind often seek to redress wrongs in themselves or in the relationships that death has shaken and upset In both collective and individual responses to the trauma of encountering death we witness efforts to counter the misfortune and to explain the meaning of the loss to turn memory into blessing to reconcile life with death to regenerate life and redeem both the bereaved and the dead Sometimes loss may transform the bereaved in ways that lead to growth and maturity other times a loss leads to unrelenting anger or melancholia There may be a variety of spiritual expressions that the bereaved experience in their time of loss but there appears to be some common elements in all of them Overtime survivors feelings are transformed into growing exploration of the spiritual a profound sense of rebirth newfound feelings of self mastery or confidence and a deeply held conviction that life goes on The contributions to this volume are based on a conference held in New York on the first anniversary of September 11 2001 Contributors include Peter Metcalf Robert Jay Lifton Ilana Harlow Robert A Neimeyer Samuel Heilman and Neil Gillman This sensitive and heartfelt volume relates specifically to issues of death bereavement and mourning in the aftermath of the attack on the World Trade Center but the applications to other individual and catastrophic events is obvious The contributions do not simply explore how people deal with bereavement or are psychologically affected by extreme grief they address how people can try to find meaning in tragedy and loss and strive to help restore order in the wake of chaos The multidisciplinary perspectives include those of anthropology psychology theology social work and art

Brief Interventions with Bereaved Children Barbara Monroe, Frances Kraus, 2010 Recent years have seen increasing interest in the needs of children facing bereavement and a corresponding increase in services to support them This book addresses and explains the theoretical concepts and practical implications behind the idea of brief work with bereaved children and families Flexible and accessible short term services delivered at the right time underpin the strengths of bereaved children supporting their recovery rather than pathologising the grief process In this way the book also speaks to the current interest in the concept of resilience and working with families strengths and possibilities rather than merely identifying their problems This second edition continues to be a unique book within the growing field of childhood bereavement and the new chapters added to this edition discuss managing situations with learning disability supporting very young children and emotional literacy The book also presents cases from the service user s perspective It looks at different approaches to intervention such as the importance of assessment and the value of groupwork and also covers work with children and families before a death Brief interventions with bereaved children will appeal to practitioners educators and service providers managing scarce resources The editors have more than twenty five years experience as practitioners within the field as service providers and educators The book features chapters from distinguished contributors with backgrounds in healthcare education social work and the police alongside theoretical and practice based chapters from workers in the field of bereavement care for children Grief

Michael Cholbi, 2024-01-16 An engaging and illuminating exploration of grief and why despite its intense pain it can also help us grow Experiencing grief at the death of a person we love or who matters to us as universal as it is painful is central to the human condition Surprisingly however philosophers have rarely examined grief in any depth In Grief Michael Cholbi presents a groundbreaking philosophical exploration of this complex emotional event offering valuable new insights about what grief is whom we grieve and how grief can ultimately lead us to a richer self understanding and a fuller realization of our humanity Drawing on psychology social science and literature as well as philosophy Cholbi explains that we grieve for the loss of those in whom our identities are invested including people we don't know personally but cherish anyway such as public figures Their deaths not only deprive us of worthwhile experiences they also disrupt our commitments and values Yet grief is something we should embrace rather than avoid an important part of a good and meaningful life The key to understanding this paradox Cholbi says is that grief offers us a unique and powerful opportunity to grow in self knowledge by fashioning a new identity Although grief can be tumultuous and disorienting it also reflects our distinctly human capacity to rationally adapt as the relationships we depend on evolve An original account of how grieving works and why it is so important Grief shows how the pain of this experience gives us a chance to deepen our relationships with others and ourselves New Models of Bereavement Theory and Treatment

George Hagman, 2016-03-31 Honoring the centennial of Sigmund Freud's seminal paper Mourning and Melancholia New Models of Bereavement Theory and Treatment New Mourning is a major contribution to our culture's changing view of bereavement and mourning identifying flaws in old models and offering a new valid and effective approach George Hagman and his fellow contributors bring together key psychoanalytic texts from the past 20 years exploring contemporary research clinical practice and model building relating to the problems of bereavement mourning and grief They propose changes to the asocial intra psychic nature of the standard analytic model of mourning changes compatible with contemporary psychoanalytic theory and practice Arguing that the most important goal of mourning is often to preserve rather than give up the relationship to the deceased this book provides a more positive hopeful model Crucially it emphasizes the importance of mourning together rather than alone New Models of Bereavement Theory and Treatment New Mourning will be the go to resource for researchers clinicians and interested lay people seeking a clear accessible overview of contemporary mourning theory useful in their daily lives and in clinical practice It will appeal to psychoanalysts psychotherapists grief counsellors as well teachers undergraduates and advanced students studying in the field Do Funerals Matter?

William G. Hoy, 2021-09-13 Do Funerals Matter is a creative interweaving of historical sociocultural and research based perspectives on death rituals drawing from myriad sources to create a picture of what death rituals have been and where especially in the Western world they are going The Classic Edition includes a new preface from the author reflecting on changes in the field since the book's initial publication Death educators researchers counselors clergy funeral service professionals and others will appreciate the book's theory and research based approach to the ways in which different cultural groups memorialize their dead. They will also find clear clinical and practical applications in the author's exploration of the five ritual anchors of death related ceremonial practice and help for professionals counseling the bereaved surrounding funerals. Based on nearly four decades of research and teaching on funeral rites, this volume promises to fill an important gap in the cross cultural literature on bereavement while answering an important question for our generation: Do funerals matter?
