Handbuch Translation:

Handbuch Translation Mary Snell-Hornby, 2006 Traduction Harald Kittel, 2004 This international encyclopedia documents and surveys for the first time the entire complex of translation as well as the operations and phenomena associated with it Structured along systematic historical and geographic lines it offers a comprehensive and critical account of the current state of knowledge and of international research The Encyclopedia 1 offers an overview of the different types and branches of translation studies 2 covers translation phenomena including the entire range of interlingual intralingual and intersemiotic transfer and transformation in their social material linguistic intellectual and cultural diversity from diachronic synchronic and systematic perspectives 3 documents and elucidates the most important results of the study of translation to the present day as well as the current debates taking into account theoretical assumptions and methodological implications 4 identifies where possible lacunae in existing research listing priorities and desiderata for further research The languages of publication are German English and French CILS Christina Schäffner, 2000 Recent developments particularly globalisation and advances in technology have affected our production and perception of language as reflected in two conflicting forces globalism and tribalism The role of English as an international lingua franca is discussed and conclusions are drawn for the varying activities of translation today and for the rapidly changing job profile of the translator

Annotated Texts for Translation Christina Schäffner, Uwe Wieseemann, 2001-01-01 This text presents a functionalist approach to translation as a framework for dealing with recurring translation problems in a number of genres On the basis of illustrative sample texts the decisions taken in the production of the target texts are commented on in view of the specified translation assignments Evaluation and Translation Carol Maier, 2014-04-23 The definition of value or quality with respect to work in translation has historically been a particularly vexed issue Today however the growing demand for translations in such fields as technology and business and the increased scrutiny of translators work by scholars in many disciplines is giving rise to a need for more nuanced more specialized and more explicit methods of determining value Some refer to this determination as evaluation others use the term assessment Either way the question is one of measurement and judgement which are always unavoidably subjective and frequently rest on criteria that are not overtly expressed This means that devising more complex evaluative practices involves not only quantitative techniques but also an exploration of the attitudes preferences or individual values on which criteria are established Intended as an interrogation and a critique that can serve to prompt a more thorough and open consideration of evaluative criteria this special issue of The Translator offers examinations of diverse evaluative practices and contains both empirical and hermeneutic work Topics addressed include the evaluation of student translations using more up to date and positive methods such as those employed in corpus studies the translation of non standard language translation into the second language terminology the application of theoretical criteria to practice a social textual perspective and the reviewing of literary translations in the press In addition reviews by a number of literary translators discuss specific translations both into and out of English Developing Translation Competence Christina Schäffner, Beverly Adab, 2000-01-01 The questions which this volume seeks to address include what is translation competence How can it be built and developed How can the product of the performance be used to measure levels of competence These questions are addressed with specific reference to the training situation They are arranged in three sections the first focusing on the identification of subcompetences Dynamics of Translation Studies – Digitization, Training, and Evaluation / Potenziale der Translationswissenschaft – Digitalisierung, Ausbildung und Qualitätssicherung Vlasta Kučič, Natalia Kaloh Vid, 2025-02-10 Communication on and via Technology Annely Rothkegel, Sonja Ruda, 2012-07-04 The interdependency of technology and communication presents theoreticians as well as practitioners with a wide range of problems Among the topics discussed in this interdisciplinary volume are technological knowledge in text and context in combination with cognitive and social conditions knowledge transfer beyond languages and cultures the influence of the world wide web on social communities Research on Translator and Interpreter Training Jackie Xiu Yan, Jun Pan, Honghua Wang, 2017-11-29 This book comprehensively examines the development of translator and interpreter training using bibliometric reviews of the state of the field and empirical studies on classroom practice It starts by introducing databases in bibliometric reviews and presents a detailed account of the reasons behind the project and its objectives as well as a description of the methods of constructing databases The introduction is followed by full scale review studies on various aspects of translator and interpreter training providing not only an overall picture of the research themes and methods but also valuable information on active authors institutions and countries in the subfields of translator training interpreter training and translator and interpreter training in general The book also compares publications from different subfields of research regions and journals to show the special features within this discipline Further it provides a series of empirical studies conducted by the authors covering a wide array of topics in translator and interpreter training with an emphasis on learner factors This collective volume with its unique perspective on bibliometric data and empirical studies highlights the latest development in the field of translator and interpreter training research The findings presented will help researchers trainers and practitioners to reflect on the important issues in the discipline and find possible new directions for future research A Social Constructivist Approach to Translator Education Donald Kiraly, 2014-07-16 This is a book about the teaching and particularly the acquisition of translation related skills and knowledge Well grounded in theory the book also provides numerous examples drawn from the author s extensive classroom experience in translator education and foreign language teaching Kiraly uses a number of classroom case studies to illustrate his method including introductory courses in translation studies project based translation practice courses translation studies seminars as well as naturalistic foreign language learning classes for student translators The book is primarily geared toward translator educators and programme administrators as well as students of translation and will also be of interest to foreign language teachers who incorporate translation into their teaching to translation scholars and to others involved in the world of translation The Metalanguage of Translation Yves Gambier, Luc van Doorslaer, 2009 Let the meta discussion begin James Holmes urged in 1972 Coming almost forty years later years filled with fascinating and often unexpected developments in the interdiscipline of Translation Studies this volume offers the reader a multiplicity of meta perspectives while also moving the discussion forward Indeed the re production and re use of metalinguistic metaphors frame and partly determine our views on research so such a discussion is vital as it is in any scholarly discipline Among other questions the eleven contributors draw the reader's attention to the often puzzling variations of usage and conceptualization in both the theory and the practice of translation First published as a special issue of Target 19 2 2007 the volume runs the gamut of metalinguistic topics ranging from terminology localization and epistemological questions through the Chinese perspective to the conceptual mapping of the online Translation Studies Bibliography

The Turns of Translation Studies Mary Snell-Hornby, 2006-01-01 What's new in Translation Studies In offering a critical assessment of recent developments in the young discipline this book sets out to provide an answer as seen from a European perspective today Many new ideas actually go back well into the past and the German Romantic Age proves to be the starting point The main focus lies however on the last 20 years and beginning with the cultural turn of the 1980s the study traces what have turned out since then to be ground breaking contributions new paradigms as against what was only a change in position on already established territory shifting viewpoints Topics of the 1990s include nonverbal communication gender based Translation Studies stage translation new fields of interpreting studies and the effects of new technologies and globalization including the increasingly dominant role of English The author's aim is to stimulate discussion and provoke further debate on the current profile and future perspectives of Translation Studies

Beyond the Ivory Tower Brian James Baer, Geoffrey S. Koby, 2003-01-01 This volume is divided into three sections The first explores the pedagogical interventions that are focused on the performance of translation The second part discusses approaches to translator training The third part examines some of the pedagogical opportunities and challenges

The Translator's Approach Radegundis Stolze, 2011-01-01 ContentsThe book presents the hermeneutical theory of translation focusing on the translator as a person Translation is a dynamic task to be performed on the basis of a deep understanding of the original and an adequate strategy for authentic reformulation in another language The theoretical foundations of hermeneutics laid by Schleiermacher and later on developed by Heidegger Gadamer and the phenomenologist Husserl are presented combined with a critical discussion of current theories in Translation Studies The theoretical presentation is complemented by a collection of twelve text examples from various genres for a description of the practical translation process in the English and the German language when one applies the hermeneutical categories of orientation Thus the book is not only an introduction to translational hermeneutics but may also be used as a handbook for translator training The AuthorRadegundis Stolze 1950 Dr phil M A Dipl bers lecturer at the University of Technology Darmstadt visiting professor seminar leader academic author and accredited practical translator Long term member of EST European Society for Translation Studies and BD German Translators Association The Role of Theory in Translator Training Daniela Di Mango, 2018-11-26 Translation study programs have always been torn between the expectations placed on them to provide students with a comprehensive education at an academic level but at the same time to prepare them for the demands of the professional translation market There is furthermore an ongoing debate about a supposed gap between translation theory and practice Several often opposing claims have been put forward concerning the usefulness of theory to professionals and students and how and when to best implement theoretical courses in translation curricula The aim of this book is to provide an overview of the different opinions and expectations that have been put forward in the literature and to test some of these claims empirically on student subjects who have been trained with either a practical or a theoretical focus on translation It thus gives insights into the role of both theoretical and practical aspects in translator training and the ways in which each of them can contribute to the development of translation competence Modelling the Field of Community Interpreting Claudia Kainz, Erich Prunc, Rafael Schögler, 2011 The field of community interpreting is characterised by continually changing political social institutional and cultural contexts Over the last few years new approaches to the training of community interpreters have been conceptualised to meet the requirements of these developments and to replace lay interpreters by trained interpreters The contributions of this volume present both innovative models of didactics and curricula for community interpreters and empirically and methodologically challenging analyses of various fields of community interpreting Why Translation Studies Matters Daniel Gile, Gyde Hansen, Nike Kocijan, Pokorn, 2010-01-01 Whether Translation Studies really matters is an important and challenging question which practitioners of translation and interpreting raise repeatedly TS scholars many of whom are translators and interpreters themselves are not indifferent to it either The twenty papers of this thematic volume contributed by authors from various parts of Europe from Brazil and from Israel address it in a positive spirit Some do so through direct critical reflection and analysis arguing in particular that the engagement of TS with society should be strengthened so that the latter could benefit more from the former Others illustrate the relevance and contribution of TS to society and to other disciplines from various angles Topics broached include the cultural mediation role of translators issues in literary translation knowledge as intellectual capital globalization through English and risks associated with it bridging languages mass media corpora training the use of modern technology interdisciplinarity with psycholinguistics and neurophysiology International Handbook of Semiotics Peter Pericles Trifonas, 2015-05-11 This book provides an extensive overview and analysis of current work on semiotics that is being pursued globally in the areas of literature the visual arts cultural studies media the humanities natural sciences and social sciences Semiotics also known as structuralism is one of the major theoretical movements of the 20th century and its influence as a way to conduct analyses of cultural products and human practices has been immense This is a comprehensive volume that brings together many otherwise fragmented academic disciplines and currents uniting them in the framework of semiotics Addressing a longstanding need it provides a global perspective on recent and ongoing semiotic research across a broad range of disciplines The handbook is intended for all researchers interested in applying semiotics as a critical lens for inquiry across diverse disciplines Basic Concepts and Models for Interpreter and Translator Training Daniel
