Making Managers in Canada, 1945-1995 Jason Russell, 2018-06-14 Management education and training was a key influence on Canadian capital and labour in the post World War II decades however it has been the subject of comparatively little academic inquiry In many ways historians have frequently learned about management behavior in unionized workplaces by examining labor management relations The management experience has thus often been seen through the eyes of rank and file workers rather than from the perspective of managers themselves This book discusses how managers were trained and educated in Canada in the years following the Second World War Making Managers in Canada 1945-1995 seeks to shed light on the experience of workers who have not received much attention in business history managers This book approaches management training from both institutional and social history perspectives Drawing from community colleges universities and companies in British Columbia Ontario and Quebec this book reveals the nature of management education and training in English and French Canada It integrates institutional analysis and examines how factors such as gender and social class shaped the development of Canadian management in the post war years and illustrates the various international influences on Canadian management education Teacher Education Through Open and Distance Learning Bernadette Robinson, Colin Latchem, 2004-11-23 How can open and distance learning and information and communications technology ICT provide us with more and better teachers Open and distance learning is increasingly used in teacher education in developing and developed countries It has the potential to strengthen and expand the teaching profession of the twenty first century and to help achieve the target of education for all by 2015 Teacher Education Through Open and Distance Learning examines the case for using open and distance learning and ICT to train our educators It describes and analyses the ways in which these methods and technologies are used for initial teacher training and continuing professional development training principals and school managers training those who provide non formal adult and community education communities of practice and sharing of knowledge and ideas within the teaching profession It also discusses the policy making management technology costing evaluation and quality assurance aspects of this work The contributors are outstanding practitioners in the field The first review in over a decade Teacher Education Through Open and Distance Learning draws on wide ranging and international experience to summarise the strengths and weaknesses of new approaches to the education of teachers It offers invaluable guidance to policymakers planners headteachers and teachers

MBA for Medics Emma Stanton, Claire Lemer, 2021-04-05 Increasingly doctors are seeing the value of learning the language of management A number of doctors have learnt the language and skills by gaining a formal qualification such as an MBA Many more have followed an experiential route This book is for doctors who see the value that an education in management can bring whether formal or informal The ultimate reason for doctors to be ambitious and to gain a management education is not for personal gain or for more letters after their name but for the prize of better safer healthcare for patients From the Foreword by Sir Liam Donaldson This book encourages medics preparing for management roles to think about management and business as applied to healthcare providing key insights on the skills involved and information for those who decide to study for an MBA It informs health professionals on how they can improve the quality of healthcare through an understanding of business and management including key areas such as understanding and managing accounts marketing and influencing and managing change Healthcare professionals undertaking or considering undertaking MBAs or related management qualifications such as leadership fellowships will find this invaluable reading as will consultants who are increasingly expected to be aware of and manage budgets for services Undergraduate and practising doctors researching the options and roles available in medical management will also find this a vital source of information
