

Glory Movie Questions

1. How does the attitude of Colonel Robert Gould Shaw toward African-Americans change and why?

Colonel Shaw's attitude toward African-Americans changes over the course of the movie. At first, he is a white supremacist who believes that African-Americans are inferior to white people. However, as he spends more time with the 54th Massachusetts Infantry, he begins to see them as individuals and not just as a race. This change in attitude is what allows him to lead the regiment with respect and dignity.

2. What differences exist among the black soldiers who make up the 54th Massachusetts Infantry? What does this tell you about the different experiences of blacks in 19th-century America? Think about their regions of origin, former status (enslaved), and educational background.

The 54th Massachusetts Infantry was a regiment of African-American soldiers who fought in the American Civil War. The regiment was made up of men from different parts of the United States, and they had different backgrounds and experiences.

3. What attitudes did white soldiers have about the 54th? Did these attitudes change and why?

White soldiers in the 54th Massachusetts Infantry had a variety of attitudes. Some of them were prejudiced against African-Americans, while others were more sympathetic. The attitudes of the white soldiers changed over the course of the movie, as they came to see the 54th as a fighting force.

4. Were blacks treated equally to whites in the Union army? Explain.

No, blacks were not treated equally to whites in the Union army. They were paid less than white soldiers, and they were often given the most dangerous and difficult assignments. However, the 54th Massachusetts Infantry was a fighting force that proved its worth to the Union.

5. What is significant about Colonel Shaw's decision to refuse pay for himself?

Colonel Shaw's decision to refuse pay for himself was significant because it showed that he was willing to sacrifice for his men. It also showed that he was not interested in money or power, but only in doing what was right.

6. Did that incident end as you expected? What feelings or insights does your tell you?

The incident ended as I expected. Colonel Shaw's decision to refuse pay for himself was a noble one, and it showed that he was a true leader. It also showed that the 54th Massachusetts Infantry was a fighting force that was worthy of respect and dignity.
