

Glory Movie Questions

1. How does the attitude of Colonel Robert Gould Shaw toward African-Americans change and why?

Colonel Shaw's attitude toward African-Americans changes over the course of the movie. At first, he is a white supremacist who believes that African-Americans are inferior to white people. However, as he spends more time with the 54th Massachusetts Infantry, he begins to see them as individuals and not just as a race. This leads him to change his attitude and to become a more inclusive leader.

2. What differences exist among the black soldiers who make up the 54th Massachusetts Infantry? What does this tell you about the different experiences of blacks in 19th-century America? What about their regions of origin, former status (enslaved), and educational background?

The 54th Massachusetts Infantry was a diverse group of men. They came from different regions of the United States and had different backgrounds. Some were former slaves, while others were free men. This diversity reflects the different experiences of African-Americans in 19th-century America.

3. What attitudes did white soldiers have about the 54th? Did these attitudes change and why?

At first, the white soldiers in the 54th were prejudiced against the African-American soldiers. They believed that they were inferior and that they were not worthy of being soldiers. However, as they spent more time with the 54th, their attitudes began to change.

4. Were blacks treated equally to whites in the Union army? Explain.

No, African-Americans were not treated equally to whites in the Union army. They were paid less than white soldiers and were often given the most dangerous and difficult assignments. However, their service was crucial to the Union's victory in the Civil War.

5. What is significant about Colonel Shaw's decision to refuse to surrender?

Colonel Shaw's decision to refuse to surrender is significant because it shows that he was willing to die for his men and for the cause of freedom. This decision inspired the soldiers of the 54th and helped to secure their place in American history.

6. Did that incident end as you expected? What feelings or thoughts come over you last night?

The incident ended as I expected. The 54th Massachusetts Infantry was awarded the Medal of Honor for their bravery. This was a long time coming, but it was a recognition of their service and sacrifice. I feel proud of the 54th and of the role they played in the Civil War.
