Green Deen What Islam Teaches About Protecting The Planet:

Green Deen Ibrahim Abdul-Matin, 2010-11-11 Muslims are compelled by their religion to praise the Creator and to care for their community. But what is not widely known is that there are deep and long standing connections between Islamic teachings and environmentalism. In this groundbreaking book Ibrahim Abdul Matin draws on research, scripture and interviews with Muslim Americans to trace Islam's preoccupation with humankind's collective role as stewards of the Earth. Abdul Matin points out that the Prophet Muhammad declared that the Earth is a mosque. Deen means path or way in Arabic. Abdul Matin offers dozens of examples of how Muslims can follow and already are following a Green Deen in four areas: waste, watts, energy, water and food. At last, people of all beliefs can appreciate the gifts and contributions that Islam and Muslims bring to the environmental movement. How the World's Religions are Responding to Climate Change Robin Globus Veldman, Andrew Szasz, Randolph Haluza-DeLay, 2013-09-11 A growing chorus of voices has suggested that the world's religions may become critical actors as the climate crisis unfolds, particularly in light of international paralysis on the issue. In recent years, many faiths have begun to address climate change and its consequences for human societies, especially the world's poor. This is the first volume to use social science to examine how religions are helping to address one of the most significant and far-reaching challenges of our time. While there is a growing literature in theology and ethics about climate change and religion, little research has been previously published about the ways in which religious institutions, groups and individuals are responding to the problem of climate change. Seventeen research-driven chapters are written by sociologists, anthropologists, geographers and other social scientists. This book explores what effects religions are having, what barriers they are running into or creating, and what this means for the global struggle to address climate change. Islamic Finance and Sustainable Development Khaliq Ahmad, Datuk AbdelAziz Berghout, 2025-03-05 This book uncovers a new dimension in the study of sustainability, offering balanced development from a spiritual and cultural values perspective. The authors of this edited volume investigate the role of religion in the debate concerning the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) and offer an Islamic perspective to Environment, Social and Governance (ESG) issues. Applying a multidimensional approach to socio-economic development, the book contends that Islam offers a unique perspective and framework for sustainable development that is holistic and rooted in spirituality, morality and ethics. For example, the book explains how Islam lays emphasis on human talents development (SDG 3 and 4), which is a key element in accelerating socio-economic growth (SDG 8). It also offers a wide range of social financial tools such as Zakat, waqf, that can be used to address SDG 1 (poverty), 2 (hunger), 5 (gender equality) and 10 (reducing inequality). Islamic finance offers a number of tools for long-term financing such as sukuk that can masterfully be used for building sustainable infrastructure (SDG 9). The study also reviews some Islamic principles from the Holy Qur'an that can positively address SDGs. Students, scholars and researchers in the fields of Islamic Economics and Finance, sustainable development and socio-economic and environmental issues will find the book a valuable resource.

Inspired Sustainability Lothes Biviano, Erin, 2016-04-13 Nature and the Environment in Contemporary Religious Contexts Thomas Donlin-Smith, Muhammad Shafiq, 2018-06-11 This collection of essays discusses the human relationship with and responsibilities toward the natural environment from the perspective of religions and the social sciences The chapters examine a variety of conditions that have contributed to the contemporary environmental crisis including abuse of power economic greed industrialization deforestation and unplanned waste management They then discuss concepts from several different religious texts and traditions that promote environmental protection as a sacred moral duty for all humanity Religious concepts such as dharma duty toward Mother Earth tikkun Olam repair of the world khalifa people as deputies of God on earth amanah the universe as a trust in human hands and paticca samuppada dependent co arising are employed to argue that all the components of the biosphere are integral to the cosmos each piece with its own value and role in the harmony of the whole The book makes it clear that religions can become more green and play a helpful role in raising our ecological consciousness and supporting preservation of the environment into the future Environmental Constitutionalism in the Anthropocene Domenico Amirante, Silvia Bagni, 2022-04-03 This book examines the relationship between man and nature through different cultural approaches to encourage new environmental legislation as a means of fostering acceptance at a local level In 2019 the International Union of Geological Sciences IUGS recognised that we have entered a new era the Anthropocene specifically characterised by the impact of one species mankind on environmental change The Anthropocene is penetrating the discourse of both hard sciences and humanities and social sciences by posing new epistemological as well as practical challenges to many disciplines Legal sciences have so far been at the margins of this intellectual renewal with few contributions on the central role that the notion of Anthropocene could play in forging a more effective and just environmental law By applying a multidisciplinary approach and adopting a Law as Culture paradigm to the study of law this book explores new paths of investigation and possible solutions to be applied New perspectives for the constitutional framing of environmental policies rights and alternative methods for bottom up participatory law making and conflict resolution are investigated showing that environmental justice is not just an option but an objective within reach The book will be essential reading for students academics and policymakers in the areas of law environmental studies and anthropology The Environmental Apocalypse Jakub Kowalewski, 2022-11-16 This volume brings together scholars working in diverse traditions of the humanities in order to offer a comprehensive analysis of the environmental catastrophe as the modern day apocalypse Drawing on philosophy theology history literature art history psychoanalysis as well as queer and decolonial theories the authors included in this book expound the meaning of the climate apocalypse reveal its presence in our everyday experiences and examine its impact on our intellectual imaginative and moral practices Importantly the chapters show that eco apocalypticism can inform progressively transformative discourses about climate change In so doing they demonstrate the fruitfulness of understanding the environmental catastrophe from within an apocalyptic framework carving a much needed path between two unsatisfactory approaches to the climate disaster first the conservative impulse to preserve the status quo responsible for today's crisis and second the reckless acceptance of the destructive effects of climate change This book will be an invaluable resource for students and scholars interested in the contributions of both apocalypticism and the humanities to contemporary ecological debates Modern Muslim Theology Martin Nguyen,2018-08-10 This book aims to bring Muslim theology into the present day Rather than a purely academic pursuit Modern Muslim Theology argues that theology is a creative process and discusses how the Islamic tradition can help contemporary practitioners negotiate their relationships with God with one another and with the rest of creation
