Mapping Archaeological Landscapes From Space Springerbriefs In Archaeology:

Mapping Archaeological Landscapes from Space Douglas C Comer, Michael J. Harrower, 2013-01-10 Mapping Archaeological Landscapes from Space offers a concise overview of air and spaceborne imagery and related geospatial technologies tailored to the needs of archaeologists. Leading experts including scientists involved in NASA's Space Archaeology program provide technical introductions to five sections: 1. Historic Air and Spaceborne Imagery, 2. Multispectral and Hyperspectral Imagery, 3. Synthetic Aperture Radar, 4. Lidar, 5. Archaeological Site Detection and Modeling. Each of these five sections includes two or more case study applications that have enriched understanding of archaeological landscapes in regions including the Near East, East Asia, Europe, Meso and North America. Targeted to the needs of researchers and heritage managers as well as graduate and advanced undergraduate students, this volume conveys a basic technological sense of what is currently possible and it is hoped will inspire new pioneering applications. Particular attention is paid to the tandem goals of research understanding and archaeological heritage management: preserving the ancient past. The technologies and applications presented can be used to characterize environments, detect archaeological sites, model sites and settlement patterns and more generally reveal the dialectic landscape scale dynamics among ancient peoples and their social and environmental surroundings. In light of contemporary economic development and resultant damage to and destruction of archaeological sites and landscapes, applications of air and spaceborne technologies in archaeology are of wide utility and promoting understanding of them is a particularly appropriate goal at the 40th anniversary of the World Heritage Convention. Remote Sensing for Archaeology and Cultural Landscapes Diofantos G. Hadjimitsis, Kyriacos Themistocleous, Branka Cuca, Athos Agapiou, Vasiliki Lysandrou, Rosa Lasaponara, Nicola Masini, Gunter Schreier, 2019-06-07 This book investigates the added value that satellite technologies and remote sensing could provide for a more sustainable mapping, monitoring and management of heritage sites, be it for purposes of regular maintenance or for risk mitigation in case of natural or man caused hazards. One of the major goals of this book is to provide a clear overview on policy perspectives regarding both space policy as well as heritage policy and to provide possible suggestions for common ground of these two fields in Europe and around the world. Readers will develop a good understanding of cutting edge applications of remote sensing and geographic information science and the challenges that affect heritage maintenance and protection. Particular attention is given to Earth observation and remote sensing techniques applied in different locations. This book brings together innovative technologies, concrete applications and policy perspectives that can lead to a more complete vision of cultural heritage as a resource for future development of our society as a whole. Satellite and Archaeological Reconnaissance in the Tūr 'Abdīn, Turkey Kenneth Silver, Minna Silver, Raffaella Pappalardo, 2024-04-18 Presents results from the Finnish-Swedish Archaeological Project in Mesopotamia FSAPM pilot study of Tūr 'Abdīn, Turkey. Spatial Approaches in African Archaeology

Cameron Gokee, Carla Klehm, 2023-01-01 This book explores the interplay between African archaeology and geospatial methods from three broad perspectives First several contributors examine the technical possibilities and limits of using satellite imagery to detect archaeological sites and model their physical environs A second perspective is the integration of new geospatial data and methods into site and landscape scale analyses to better address questions about social organization and subjective experience in African pasts A final perspective considers the interplay between geospatial technologies and community archaeology in Africa Recognizing that GIS and RS supersede traditional divisions in African archaeology such as different periods geographic regions and theoretical orientations the chapters aim to be widely applicable Arranged by methodological emphasis the case studies move from technical discussions of specific geospatial tools to general applications for addressing specific sociohistorical topics Each chapter clearly explains the links between their archaeological questions and analytical methods as well as how their results advance our understanding of African pasts and heritage resources Many of the chapters can serve as learning models for archaeologists who are new to GIS or curious about its applications to their work Others represent recent advances in geospatial applications of greater interest to more seasoned GIS practitioners demonstrating the potential for African scholarship to contribute to methodological innovations This book is of interest to students and researchers of African and historical archaeology and anthropology Previously published in African Archaeological Review Volume 37 issue 1 March 2020 Proceedings of the XI International Congress of Egyptologists, Florence, Italy 23-30 August 2015 Gloria Rosati, M. Mapping the Archaeological Continuum

Stefano R.L. Campana, 2018-04-25 This book addresses the true landscape perspective approach that archaeologists in Italy and in many parts of the Mediterranean use to study the archaeology of landscapes marking a departure from the traditional site based approach The aim of the book is to promote the broader application of new paradigms for landscape analysis combining traditional approaches with multidisciplinary studies as well as comparatively new techniques such as large scale geophysical surveying airborne laser scanning and geo environmental studies This approach has yielded tangible and striking results in central Italy clearly demonstrating that identifying the archaeological continuum is a realistic aim even under the specific environmental and archaeological conditions of the Mediterranean world
