Nomadic Theatre Liesbeth Groot Nibbelink, 2019-04-18 Fluid stages morphing theatre spaces ambulant spectators and occasionally disappearing performers these are some of the key ingredients of nomadic theatre They are also theatre s response to life in the 21st century which is increasingly marked by the mobility of people information technologies and services While examining how contemporary theatre exposes and queries this mobile turn in society Liesbeth Groot Nibbelink introduces the concept of nomadic theatre as a vital tool for analyzing how movement and mobility affect and implicate the theatre how this makes way for local operations and lived spaces and how physical movements are stepping stones for theorizing mobility at large This book focuses on ambulatory performances and performative installations asking how they stage movement and in turn mobilize the stage By analyzing the work of leading European artists such as Rimini Protokoll Dries Verhoeven Ontroerend Goed and Signa Nomadic Theatre demonstrates that mobile performances radically rethink the conditions of the stage and alter our understanding of spectatorship Nomadic Theatre instigates connections across disciplinary fields and feeds dramaturgical analysis with insights derived from media theory urban philosophy cartography architecture and game studies It illustrates how theatre as a material form of thought creatively and critically engages with mobile existence both on the stage and in society

Reading and Mapping Fiction Sally Bushell, 2020-07-02 Do we map as we read How central to our experience of literature is the way in which we spatialise and visualise a fictional world Reading and Mapping Fiction offers a fresh approach to the interpretation of literary space and place centred upon the emergence of a fictional map alongside the text in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries Bringing together a range of new and emerging theories including cognitive mapping and critical cartography Bushell compellingly argues that this activity whatever it is called mapping diagramming visualising spatialising is a vital and intrinsic part of how we experience literature and of what makes it so powerful Drawing on both the theory and history of literature and cartography this richly illustrated study opens up understanding of spatial meaning and interpretation in new ways that are relevant to both more traditional academic scholarship and to newly emerging digital practices

All Mapped Out Mike Duggan, 2024-05-06 From cave paintings to Google a thought provoking investigation of how maps do not just reflect the world around us but shape the way we live Maps go far beyond just showing us where things are located All Mapped Out is an exploration of how maps impact our lives on social and cultural levels This book offers a journey through the fascinating history of maps from ancient cave paintings and stone carvings to the digital interfaces we rely on today But it s not just about the maps themselves it s about the people behind them All Mapped Out reveals how maps have affected societies influenced politics and economies impacted the environment and even shaped our sense of personal identity Mike Duggan uncovers the incredible power of maps to shape the world and the knowledge we consume offering a unique and eye opening perspective on the significance of maps in our daily lives

Art Maps and Cities Gloria Lanci, 2022-11-25 This book presents an original study on how contemporary artists are exploring urban spaces through mapping Despite a long history of representations of cities in maps and the relationships that can be envisaged between art maps and cities in the contemporary world little research is dedicated to investigating how artists intervene in the realm of urban cartography The research examines a century old history of art maps and draws on academic debates challenging traditional notions of maps as scientific artefacts produced through accurate measurement and surveying The potential of art maps to construct personal narratives through contestation embodiment and play is analysed in the city context where spaces are shaped by urban planning and design political ideologies and socio economic forces Adopting an exploratory and interpretative research approach that investigates the confluence of theories originated in different domains this book conducts the reader to discover what artistic practices can bring into a more creative while inquisitive understanding of cities A series of semi structured interviews with visual artists enquiring how they apprehend process and re create urban spaces in artworks explores cartographic process and methods in visual art practices in the twenty first century which incorporates digital technologies and critical thinking

The Map in the Machine Luis F. Alvarez Leon, 2024-05-07 Digital technologies have changed how we shop work play and communicate reshaping our societies and economies To understand digital capitalism we need to grasp how advances in geospatial technologies underpin the construction operation and refinement of markets for digital goods and services In The Map in the Machine Luis F Alvarez Leon examines these advances from MapQuest and Google Maps to the rise of IP geolocation ridesharing and a new Earth Observation satellite ecosystem He develops a geographical theory of digital capitalism centered on the processes of location valuation and marketization to provide a new vantage point from which to better understand and intervene in the dominant techno economic paradigm of our time By centering the spatiality of digital capitalism Alvarez Leon shows how this system is the product not of seemingly intangible information clouds but rather of a vast array of technologies practices and infrastructures deeply rooted in place mediated by geography and open to contestation and change Mobile Screens Nanna Verhoeff, 2025-10-01 As far as interaction with screens is concerned the given technology of particular interactive devices entails an ambiguous status of screens what is shown on the screen has to do with how one interacts with it that is we can almost literally see what we are doing This study is devoted to a theoretical exploration of intersections between mobility and visibility from a historical comparative perspective addressing the mobility of visual experience and the screen based access to such experiences in a range of case studies The author develops the concept through five chapters and analyzes a variety of contemporary screen technologies and the cultural practices involving these screen based configurations the ways in which we engage with screens as interfaces with spatial temporal and haptic experiences The World of Maps Judith A. Tyner, 2014-09-15 Maps have power they can instruct make life easier mislead or even lie This engaging text provides the tools to read analyze and use any kind of map and assess its strengths and weaknesses Requiring no advanced math skills the book presents basic concepts of symbolization scale coordinate systems and projections It gives students a deeper understanding of the types of maps they encounter every day from turn by turn driving directions to the TV weather report Readers also learn how to use multiple maps and imagery to analyze an area or region The book includes 168 figures among them 22 color plates most of the figures can be downloaded as PowerPoint slides from the companion website Appendices contain a glossary recommended resources a table of commonly used projections and more The Emerging Role of Geomedia in the Environmental Humanities Michael Hewson, Mark Terry, 2022-10-03 The Emerging Role of Geomedia in the Environmental Humanities edited by Mark Terry and Michael Hewson provides the latest scholarship on the various methods and approaches being used by environmental humanists to incorporate geomedia into their research and analyses Chapters in the book examine such applications as geographic information systems global positioning systems geo doc filmmaking and related geo locative systems all being used as new technologies of research and analysis in investigations in the environmental humanities The contributors also explore how these new methodologies impact the production of knowledge in this field of study as well as promote the impact of First Nation people perspectives Visual Culture in the Philippines Veronica L. Gregorio, 2025-08-07 This edited book showcases how Global South scholars particularly those from the Philippines are not merely catching up with but actively reshaping the evolving landscape of visual data collection production and analysis Bringing together multi and interdisciplinary works it highlights the use of visual and multisensory data to explore socio cultural and political realities in the Philippines including identities religion deviance and democratic participation By adopting a decolonial framework it reveals the complexity of Philippine visual culture This volume will be of interest to sociologists as well as to scholars focusing on research methods history and Asian studies Time for mapping Sybille Lammes, Chris Perkins, Alex Gekker, Sam Hind, Clancy Wilmott, Daniel Evans, 2018-06-29 This electronic version has been made available under a Creative Commons BY NC ND open access license Maps take place in time as well as representing space The Google map on your smartphone appears to fix the world serving as a practical spatial tool but in practice is deployed in ways that draw attention to memories rhythm synchronicity sequence and duration This interdisciplinary collection focuses on how these temporal aspects of mapping might be understood at a time when mapping technologies have been profoundly changed by digital developments It contrasts different aspects of this temporality bringing together experts from critical cartography media studies and science and technology studies Together the chapters offer a unique interdisciplinary focus revealing the complex and social ways in which time is wrapped up with digital technologies and revealed in everyday mapping tasks from navigating across cities to serving as scientific groundings for news stories from managing smart cities to visual art practice It brings time back into the map

A History of the World in 12 Maps Jerry Brotton, 2013-11-14 A New York Times Bestseller Maps allow the armchair traveler to roam the world the diplomat to argue his points the ruler to administer his country the warrior to plan his campaigns and the propagandist to boost his cause rich and beautiful Wall Street Journal Throughout history maps have been fundamental in shaping our view of the world and our place in it But far from being purely scientific objects maps of the world are unavoidably ideological and subjective intimately bound up with the systems of power and authority of particular times and places Mapmakers do not simply represent the world they construct it out of the ideas of their age In this scintillating book Jerry Brotton examines the significance of 12 maps from the almost mystical representations of ancient history to the satellite derived imagery of today He vividly recreates the environments and circumstances in which each of the maps was made showing how each conveys a highly individual view of the world Brotton shows how each of his maps both influenced and reflected contemporary events and how by considering it in all its nuances and omissions we can better understand the world that produced it Although the way we map our surroundings is more precise than ever before Brotton argues that maps today are no more definitive or objective than they have ever been Readers of this beautifully illustrated and masterfully argued book will never look at a map in quite the same way again A fascinating and panoramic new history of the cartographer's art The Guardian The intellectual background to these images is conveyed with beguiling erudition There is nothing more subversive than a map The Spectator A mesmerizing and beautifully illustrated book The Telegraph

Shifts in Mapping Christine Schranz, 2021-11-05 Depicting the world territory and geopolitical realities involves a high degree of interpretation and imagination It is never neutral Cartography originated in ancient times to represent the world and to enable circulation communication and economic exchange Today IT companies are a driving force in this field and change our view of the world how we communicate navigate and consume globally Questions of privacy authorship and economic interests are highly relevant to cartography's practices So how to deal with such powers and what is the critical role of cartography in it How might a bottom up perspective and actions in map making change the conception of a geopolitical space

Mapping Versatile Boundaries Regis Darques, 2016-09-10 This book demonstrates the pivotal role played by state confines in the geography of Balkan countries through powerful GIS and remote sensing analyses It provides unique mapping perspectives on the Balkan region with over 140 illustrations The book is dedicated to applied historical and economic geographers as well as political scientists Because of its high fragmentation the Balkan area has not been studied on a systematic transnational basis The persistence of frozen and or open conflicts has also turned the border issue into an absolute taboo subject for the scientific community and civil society This results in an apparent chaos that most Western observers fail to understand

Rethinking Maps Martin Dodge, Rob Kitchin, Chris Perkins, 2011-06-02 Maps are changing They have become important and fashionable once more Rethinking Maps brings together leading researchers to explore how maps are being rethought made and used and what these changes mean for working cartographers applied mapping research and cartographic scholarship It offers a contemporary assessment of the diverse forms that mapping now takes and drawing upon a number of theoretic perspectives and disciplines provides an insightful commentary on new ontological and epistemological thinking with respect to cartography This book presents a diverse set of approaches to a wide range of map forms and activities in what is presently a rapidly changing field It employs a multi disciplinary approach to important contemporary mapping practices with chapters written by leading theorists who have an international reputation for innovative thinking Much of the new research around mapping is emerging as critical dialogue between practice and theory and this book has chapters focused on intersections with play race and cinema Other chapters discuss cartographic representation sustainable mapping and visual geographies It also considers how alternative models of map creation and use such as open source mappings and map mash up are being creatively explored by programmers artists and activists There is also an examination of the work of various everyday mappers in diverse social and cultural contexts This blend of conceptual chapters and theoretically directed case studies provides an excellent resource suited to a broad spectrum of researchers advanced undergraduate and postgraduate students in human geography GIScience and cartography visual anthropology media studies graphic design and computer graphics Rethinking Maps is a necessary and significant text for all those studying or having an interest in cartography
