The Grand Ethiopian Renaissance Dam and the Nile Basin Zeray Yihdego, Alistair Rieu-Clarke, Ana Elisa Cascão, 2017-10-31 The Grand Ethiopian Renaissance Dam GERD will not only be Africa's largest dam but it is also essential for future cooperation and development in the Nile River Basin and East African region This book after setting out basin level legal and policy successes and failures of managing and sharing Nile waters articulates the opportunities and challenges surrounding the GERD through multiple disciplinary lenses It sets out its possibilities as a basis for a new era of cooperation its regional and global implications the benefits of cooperation and coordination in dam filling and the need for participatory and transparent decision making By applying law political science and hydrology to sharing water resources in general and to large scale dam building filling and operating in particular it offers concrete qualitative and quantitative options that are essential to promote cooperation and coordination in utilising and preserving Nile waters The book incorporates the economic dimension and draws on recent developments including the signing of a legally binding contract by Egypt Ethiopia and Sudan to carry out an impact assessment study the possibility that the GERD might be partially operational very soon the completion of transmission lines from GERD to Addis Ababa and the announcement of Sudan to commence construction of transmission lines from GERD to its main cities The implications of these are assessed and lessons learned for transboundary water cooperation and conflict management How this Happened: Demystifying the Nile Dereje Befekadu Tessema, 2023-02-07 Ethiopians had to wait over a thousand years to be able to use their waters for their own development Ethiopian emperors and leaders have tried to build a dam on the Nile River as part of their development efforts Unfortunately due to varying reasons and circumstances including external pressure from countries near and far geo and hydro political balance shifts and internal conflicts they were not successful in realizing their wishes Instead of giving up though each leader contributed to different extents by laying the foundation for and addressing challenges faced in making this dream a reality The masterplan for the dam designed in 1964 has been the seed in waiting ever since waiting for the right opportunity to arise for construction to start Following the decade long negotiation and an agreement on the equitable use of the Nile waters by most Nile riparian countries and the subsequent Cooperative Framework Agreement the Ethiopian government started the construction of the GERD in 2011 The waiting had finally ended It was time for the seed to grow Twelve years later the construction program is almost done The reservoir already holds billions of cubic meters of water and the country has produced power from the first two turbines as part of the early power generation milestone The seed has sprouted and the tree is on track to be the tallest in Africa In this six part book Dereje Befekadu Tessema discusses events that started thousands of years ago culminating in the construction of the Grand Ethiopian Renaissance Dam GERD He also shares a recount of his trip from the sources to the mouth of the Nile River Rising Powers in International Conflict Management Emel Parlar Dal, 2020-05-21 Rising Powers in International Conflict Management locates rising powers in the international conflict management tableau and decrypts their main motives and limitations in the enactment of their peacebuilding role The book sheds light on commonalities and divergences in a selected group of rising powers namely Brazil India China and Turkey understanding and applications of conflict management and explains the priorities in their conflict management strategies from conceptual theoretical and empirical aspects The case studies point to the evolving nature of conflict management policies of rising powers as a result of their changing priorities in foreign and security policy and the shifts observed in the international order since the end of the Cold War The country specific perspectives provided in this study have also proven right the potentialities of rising powers in managing conflicts as well as their past and ongoing challenges in envisaging crises in both their own regions and extra regional territories Improving the understanding of the strengths and weaknesses of rising powers as conflict management actors and peacebuilders at regional and international levels Rising Powers in International Conflict Management will be of great interest to scholars of international relations conflict studies and peacebuilding The chapters were originally published as a special issue of Third World Quarterly

International Water Law and the Human Right to Water Imad Antoine Ibrahim, 2024-11-19 This book examines the development of international law applicable to Transboundary Aquifers TBAs considering the Human Right to Water and Sanitation HRWS The purpose is to determine how International Water Law IWL and the HRWS can be harmonized in the context of TBAs This is important given rules and instruments adopted to address this topic are relatively nascent and the field itself is still in the process of developing regulatory frameworks Taking the application of the HRWS to shared aquifers as a case study the work discusses whether IWL and International Human Rights Law complement each other The response to this question requires an analysis of the development of International Groundwater Law and its challenges the evolution of the HRWS the nature of transboundary groundwaters and the interplay between these two fields The author argues that IWL agreements should contain a provision related to the HRWS to ensure the protection of this right with a stipulation included in the nonbinding instrument that tackles shared groundwaters the Draft Articles on the Law of Transboundary Aquifers adopted in 2008 through the United Nations General Assembly Resolution The book will be of interest to international lawyers water and human right experts geologists and anyone interested in water and human rights issues

Explaining Foreign Policy in Post-Colonial Africa Stephen M. Magu, 2021-01-02 This book explores foreign policy developments in post colonial Africa A continental foreign policy is a tenuous proposition yet new African states emerged out of armed resistance and advocacy from regional allies such as the Bandung Conference and the League of Arab States Ghana was the first Sub Saharan African country to gain independence in 1957 Fourteen more countries gained independence in 1960 alone and by May 1963 when the Organisation of African Unity OAU was formed 30 countries were independent An early OAU committee was the African Liberation Committee ALC tasked to work in the Frontline States FLS to support independence in Southern Africa Pan Africanists in alliance with Brazzaville Casablanca and Monrovia groups approached continental unity differently and regionalism continued to be a major feature Africa s challenges were often magnified by the capitalist democratic versus communist socialist bloc rivalry but through Africa s use and leveraging of IGOs the UN UNDP UNECA GATT NIEO and others to advance development the formation of the African Economic Community OAU s evolution into the AU and other alliances belied collective actions even as Africa implemented decisions that required cooperation uti possidetis maintaining colonial borders containing secession intra and inter state conflicts rebellions and building RECs and a united Africa as envisioned by Pan Africanists worked better collectively

Shanguhya, Toyin Falola,2018-01-28 This wide ranging volume presents the most complete appraisal of modern African history to date It assembles dozens of new and established scholars to tackle the questions and subjects that define the field ranging from the economy the two world wars nationalism decolonization and postcolonial politics to religion development sexuality and the African youth experience Contributors are drawn from numerous fields in African studies including art music literature education and anthropology The themes they cover illustrate the depth of modern African history and the diversity and originality of lenses available for examining it Older themes in the field have been treated to an engaging re assessment while new and emerging themes are situated as the book s core strength The result is a comprehensive vital picture of where the field of modern African history stands today The Gulf States and the Horn of Africa Robert Mason, Simon Mabon,2022-01-25 The Gulf States and the Horn of Africa takes a deep dive into the complexities of power projection political rivalry and conflict across the Red Sea and beyond Focusing on the nature of interregional connections between the Gulf and the Horn it explores the multifaceted nature of relations between states and the two increasingly important subregions Bringing together scholars working on and in both regions the book considers strategic competition between Saudi Arabia and Iran and between the UAE and both Qatar and Turkey along with other international engagement such as joint anti piracy operations counterterrorism cooperation security assistance base agreements and economic development Drawing on a range of subject expertise and field research across case study countries the volume adds to the sparse literature on the regional and international politics of the Horn of Africa and Red Sea gleaning specific insights from contemporary reflections across the book This is essential reading for students and researchers interested in the Horn of Africa and the evolving regional geopolitics of the Gulf

Protecting Minority Rights in African Countries John M. Mbaku,2018-01-26 In this enlightening book John Mukum Mbaku analyses the main challenges of constitutional design and the construction of governance institutions in Africa today He argues that the central issues are providing each country with a constitutional order that is capable of successfully managing sectarian conflict and enhancing peaceful coexistence protecting the rights of citizens including those of minorities minimizing the monopolization of political space by the majority to the detriment of minorities and effectively preventing government impunity Mbaku offers a comprehensive analysis of various approaches to the management of diversity and shows how these approaches can inform Africa s struggle to promote peace and good governance He explores in depth the existence of dysfunctional and anachronistic laws and institutions inherited from the colonial state and the process through which laws and institutions are formulated or constructed adopted and amended A close look at the constitutional experiences of the American Republic provides important lessons for constitutional design and constitutionalism in Africa. Additionally, comparative politics and comparative constitutional law also provide important lessons for the management of diversity in African countries. Mbaku recommends state reconstruction through constitutional design as a way for each African country to provide itself with laws and institutions that reflect the realities of each country, including the necessary mechanisms and tools for the protection of the rights of minorities. From students and scholars to NGOs, lawyers, and policymakers, this unique and judicious book is an essential tool for all those seeking to understand and improve governance and development in Africa.

Silencing the Guns Volume I Nicholas Idris Erameh, Joshua Olusegun Bolarinwa, Ikenna Mike Alumona, 2025-09-30. This book, Silencing the Guns: Reviewing the Agenda and Reassessing Prospects, which forms part of a two-volume series, examines the African Union's role in eradicating armed violence in Africa, including wars, civil conflicts, human rights violations, and mass atrocities by 2030. The first volume delves into the history, theory, and practice of the Small Arms and Light Weapons (SALW) trade. It accomplishes this by reflecting on how rising insecurity is fueled by poverty, armed conflict, resource-induced conflict, mass atrocities, political and economic marginalization, terrorism, insurgency, piracy, border insecurity, environmental degradation, illicit arms trafficking, election violence, and democratic erosion in Africa, influenced by its development and implementation in specific cases across Africa. The second volume reflects on the experiences from these case studies and ponders on the possible factors that have accounted for these emerging and contending challenges, with a view to forecast the prospects of SALW in Africa in line with the Agenda 2063.
