Irish English: Frank McGuinness - Anne Devlin - Roddy Doyle - Vincent Woods Jutta Kleine-Horst, 2006-12-07

Inhaltsangabe Abstract Irish English hereafter abbreviated as IE has been the subject of many previous studies dealing primarily with history grammar pronunciation and lexicon Many works have also been published about the English language used in works of famous Anglo Irish authors such as Swift Synge or Joyce However little research exists on the English language used in works by contemporary Irish authors The purpose of this paper is to give an idea of what modern written IE is like In this paper four plays by contemporary Irish authors all born between 1950 and 1960 will be analysed with regards to pronunciation grammar lexicon and manners of speech These plays are The Factory Girls by Frank McGuinness After Easter by Anne Devlin Brownbread by Roddy Doyle At The Black Pig s Dyke by Vincent Woods As will be discussed later on IE is not a common dialect but regionally different especially between the northern and the southern part of the island In order to point out some dialect variation the plays were selected according to their settings which were County Donegal Belfast Dublin and County Leitrim This paper will be divided into two parts In the first part I would like to give a theoretical overview of the various aspects of IE such as grammar pronunciation lexicon and manners of speech and how they differ from Standard English henceforth abbreviated as SE I will commence by providing a historical overview on how and when the English language came to Ireland which is essential for understanding the further development of the different dialects and accents This introductory overview is followed by IE pronunciation and grammar in comparison to RP and SE respectively Subsequently the lexicon of IE and certain manners of speech such as exaggeration will be considered The second part will comprise the analyses of the four plays which were carried out on the basis of those features of IE outlined in the theoretical part The analyses will provide a short summary of the respective play and present relevant examples from the plays Evidently there are more typically Irish features in the text corpus however these are not investigated here The second part will conclude with a comparison of the findings of the four plays Inhaltsverzeichnis Table of Contents 1

Introduction3 Part I 5 2 The advance of the English language in Ireland across the Rating EFL Written Performance Katalin Bukta, 2014-01-31 The study focuses on the investigation of the process during which raters of EFL written performance make their decisions It consists of a pilot and a main study each of which concentrates on assessment of writing The rationale is to detect the decision making processes that raters follow which can be used for training raters and with which the reliability of rating can be improved The pilot study is based on data collected during a large scale language proficiency assessment of two age groups from learners of English and German languages. Raters were asked to think aloud during the rating task. Data was then transcribed and analysed. The participants in the main study were novice raters who produced verbal protocols. 37 EFL teacher trainees took part in rater training and practised think aloud protocol production. Then they evaluated ten compositions written by EFL learners and verbalised their thought processes. The verbal protocols served as a basis for data collection. The analysis of data resulted in the conclusion according to which more reliable and objective assessment is possible when evaluating written performance.
