

GUIDE TO ACTION RESEARCH CHAPTER

WHAT IS ACTION RESEARCH?

Action research is a model of professional development where educators study student learning related to their own teaching, a process that allows them to learn about their own instructional practices and to continue to monitor improved student learning.

the approach

APPROACHES TO ACTION RESEARCH

Action research is a process that teachers can use in their classrooms to address instructional questions and challenges.

Individual teacher research

Focuses on studying a problem or issue within a single classroom.

The teacher who engages in individual teacher research may or may not have support from colleagues and administration to share.

Collaborative action research

Focuses on studying a problem or issue within one or more classrooms.

Teachers may collaborate and work together to study a particular problem in many different ways.

School-wide action research

Every faculty member of the school is involved in studying a specific issue identified from school data.

BENEFITS OF ACTION RESEARCH

Action research is a model of professional development where educators study student learning related to their own teaching, a process that allows them to learn about their own instructional practices and to continue to monitor improved student learning.

STUDENTS

benefits because their learning is being studied

TEACHERS

The process allows them to think about, study, and refine their own professional practice.

SCHOOLS

student achievement can improve when student learning is being studied and specific learning needs are being addressed.

Studying Your Own School Gary L. Anderson, Kathryn Herr, Ann Sigrid Nihlen, 2007-03-06. While there are many books out there on action research, few immerse the reader so effectively in the nitty gritty realities of the method while also pushing school practitioners to use inquiry to challenge an unacceptable status quo. This text should be read by all teachers and school leaders who care about empowering students and communities through action research. Ruth Johnson, Professor of Educational Administration, California State University, Los Angeles. Author, Using Data to Close the Achievement Gap. A highly accessible and informative book for K-12 educators and university graduate students. Provides very useful examples of what action research looks like when carried out in schools. This book has always been at the top of my recommended resources list. Ken Zeichner, Hoefs Bascom Professor of Teacher Education, University of Wisconsin-Madison. Discover the most empowering pathway to improved practice in education. Since the publication of the first edition of Studying Your Own School, practitioner action research has become an established professional development practice in schools and teacher education programs. While the fundamentals of practitioner action research have not changed, the challenges of large-scale reform have dramatically altered the context of teaching. This extensive revision of the best-selling book includes the latest investigative methods and reflects the current educational environment. New features of the second edition include: A Getting Started chapter on initial issues and considerations; More advice on crafting the research question and research design; Up-to-date information on political and ethical considerations; New examples of practitioner action research studies; A focus on promoting equity and social justice. Packed with updated examples to help orient the reader, this book is unique in providing
