Literature Into Film Theory And Practical Approaches:

Literature into Film Linda Costanzo Cahir, 2014-12-24 For most people film adaptation of literature can be summed up in one sentence The movie wasn't as good as the book This volume undertakes to show the reader that not only is this evaluation not always true but sometimes it is intrinsically unfair Movies based on literary works while often billed as adaptations are more correctly termed translations A director and his actors translate the story from the written page into a visual presentation Depending on the form of the original text and the chosen method of translation certain inherent difficulties and pitfalls are associated with this change of medium So often our reception of a book based movie has more to do with our expectations and reading of the literature than with the job that the movie production did or did not do Avoiding these biases and fairly evaluating any particular literary based film takes an awareness of certain factors Written with a formalistic rather than historical approach this work presents a comprehensive guide to literature based films establishing a contextual and theoretical basis to help the reader understand the relationships between such movies and the original texts as well as the reader's own individual responses to these productions To this end it focuses on recognizing and appreciating the inherent difficulties encountered when basing a film on a literary work be it a novel novella play or short story Individual chapters deal with the specific issues and difficulties raised by each of these genres providing an overview backed up by case studies of specific film translations Films and literary works receiving this treatment include The Unbearable Lightness of Being The Manchurian Candidate 1962 Lady Windemere's Fan by Oscar Wilde and Shakespeare's Henry V Interspersed throughout the text are suggestions for activities the film student or buff can use to enhance his or her appreciation and understanding of the films Instructors considering this book for use in a course may request an examination copy here

Practical Approaches to Teaching Film Rachel S. Ritterbusch, 2020-07-24 Rachel Ritterbusch's Practical Approaches to Teaching Film is a collection of essays focusing on the use of film in settings ranging from an introductory film class to an upper division Women's Studies course Drawing on their experience in the classroom contributors to this anthology show how movies can be used to promote critical thinking create an awareness of the male gaze challenge dominant ideology and unmask the constructedness of film This volume treats a wide variety of film texts from box office hits like The Da Vinci Code to underappreciated art films such as Susan Streitfeld's Female Perversions from Pulp Le Moko and other French classics to more contemporary francophone works like Chaos and Rosetta from self reflexive films that interrogate the act of filmmaking itself to those that draw attention to the phallogocentric nature of cinematic apparatus Common to all these essays is the belief that if used judiciously film can be a valuable pedagogical tool Aimed both at those currently teaching film and those wishing to do so this volume provides practical support in the form of sample syllabi assignments and a glossary of film terms

Understanding Film Theory Ruth Doughty, Christine Etherington-Wright, 2017-08-30 This essential core textbook provides an approachable and extensive introduction to film theory written by two highly experienced senior lecturers Bringing a fresh contemporary and accessible approach to what is often perceived to be a challenging and old fashioned area of film studies that requires time and effort to grasp the text illustrates why theory is important and demonstrates how it can be applied in a meaningful way The book s sixteen chapters are clear and comprehensive and provide an insight into the main areas of debate using clear definitions and explaining complex ideas succinctly The ideal entry point for any student studying film the book is designed for use on courses on film theory on undergraduate and postgraduate degree programmes within film cinema media and cultural studies New to this Edition An expanded introduction plus a new chapter looking at Adaptation Contemporary case studies exploring popular and topical films such as The Hunger Games 2012 Blue is the Warmest Colour 2013 and The Lego Movie 2014 An expanded introduction plus a new chapter looking at Adaptation Additional genre based case study on the British Gangster film Additional actor based case study on Ryan Gosling A greater focus throughout on the relevance of film theory to students undertaking practical film degrees and units

Theorizing Adaptation Kamilla Elliott, 2020-05-20 From intertextuality to postmodern cultural studies narratology to affect theory poststructuralism to metamodernism and postcolonialism to ecocriticism humanities adaptation studies has engaged with a host of contemporary theories Yet theorizing adaptation has been declared behind the theoretical times compared to other fields and charged with theoretical incorrectness by scholars from all theoretical camps In this thorough and groundbreaking study author Kamilla Elliott works to explain and redress the problem of theorizing adaptation She offers the first cross disciplinary history of theorizing adaptation in the humanities extending back to the sixteenth century revealing that until the late eighteenth century adaptation was valued for its contributions to cultural progress before its eventual and ongoing marginalization by humanities theories The second half of the book offers ways to redress the troubled relationship between theorization and adaptation Ultimately Theorizing Adaptation proffers shared ground upon which adaptation scholars can debate productively across disciplinary cultural and theoretical borders

Rewatching on the Point of the Cinematic Index Allen H. Redmon, 2022-08-24 Rewatching on the Point of the Cinematic Index offers a reassessment of the cinematic index as it sits at the intersection of film studies trauma studies and adaptation studies Author Allen H Redmon argues that far too often scholars imagine the cinematic index to be nothing more than an acknowledgment that the lens based camera captures and brings to the screen a reality that existed before the camera When cinema s indexicality is so narrowly defined the entire nature of film is called into question the moment film no longer relies on a lens based camera The presence of digital technologies seemingly strips cinema of its indexical standing This volume pushes for a broader understanding of the cinematic index by returning to the early discussions of the index in film studies and the more recent discussions of the index in other digital arts Bolstered by the insights these discussions can offer the volume looks to replace what might be best deemed a diminished concept of the cinematic index with a series of more complex cinematic indices the impoverished index the indefinite index the intertextual index and the imaginative index The central argument of this book is that these more complex indices encourage spectators to enter a process of ongoing adaptation of the reality they see on the screen and that it is on the point of these indices that the most significant instances of rewatching movies occur Examining such films as John Lee Hancock s Saving Mr Banks 2013 Richard Linklater s oeuvre Paul Greengrass s United 93 2006 Oliver Stone s World Trade Center 2006 Stephen Daldry s Extremely Loud and Incredibly Close 2011 and Christopher Nolan s Dunkirk 2017 Inception 2010 and Memento 2000 Redmon demonstrates that the cinematic index invites spectators to enter a process of ongoing adaptation

A Theory of Adaptation Linda Hutcheon, 2012-08-21 A Theory of Adaptation explores the continuous development of creative adaptation and argues that the practice of adapting is central to the story telling imagination Linda Hutcheon develops a theory of adaptation through a range of media from film and opera to video games pop music and theme parks analysing the breadth scope and creative possibilities within each This new edition is supplemented by a new preface from the author discussing both new adaptive forms platforms and recent critical developments in the study of adaptation It also features an illuminating new epilogue from Siobhan O Flynn focusing on adaptation in the context of digital media She considers the impact of transmedia practices and properties on the form and practice of adaptation as well as studying the extension of game narrative across media platforms fan based adaptation from Twitter and Facebook to home movies and the adaptation of books to digital formats A Theory of Adaptation is the ideal guide to this ever evolving field of study and is essential reading for anyone interested in adaptation in the context of literary and media studies

Adaptation and the Avant-Garde William Verrone, 2011-09-29 Providing a fresh angle on adaptation studies this study looks at how avant garde directors and filmmakers have treated literary works in distinct ways

Stage-Play and Screen-Play Michael Ingham, 2016-12-08 Dialogue between film and theatre studies is frequently hampered by the lack of a shared vocabulary Stage Play and Screen Play sets out to remedy this mapping out an intermedial space in which both film and theatre might be examined Each chapter s evaluation of the processes and products of stage to screen and screen to stage transfer is grounded in relevant applied contexts Michael Ingham draws upon the growing field of adaptation studies to present case studies ranging from Martin McDonagh s The Cripple of Inishmaan and RSC Live s simulcast of Richard II to F W Murnau s silent Tart ff Peter Bogdanovich s film adaptation of Michael Frayn s Noises Off and Akira Kurosawa s Ran highlighting the multiple interfaces between media Offering a fresh insight into the ways in which film and theatre communicate dramatic performances this volume is a must read for students and scholars of stage and screen

Art and the Historical Film Gillian McIver,2022-11-17 Art and the Historical Film provides an important examination of fine art s impact on filmmaking grappling with the question of authenticity From Eugene Delacroix s interpretation of the 1830 French revolution to Uli Edel s version of the Baader Meinhof Gang artistic representations of historical subjects are appealing and pervasive Movies often adapt imagery from art history including paintings of historical events Films and art shape the past for us and continue to affect our interpretation of history While historical films are often argued over for their adherence to the facts their real problem is realism how can the past be convincingly depicted Realism in the historical film genre is often nourished and given credibility by its use of painterly references This book examines how art historical images affect historical films by going beyond period detail and surface design to look at how profound ideas about history are communicated through pictures Art and the Historical Film Between Realism and the Sublime is based on case studies that explore the links between art and cinema including American independent Western Meek s Cutoff Kelly Reichardt 2010 British heritage film Belle Amma Asante 2013 and Dutch national epic Admiral Roel Rein 2014 The chapters create immersive worlds that communicate distinct ideas about the past through cinematography production design and direction as the films adapt reference and transpose paintings by artists such as Rubens Albert Bierstadt and Jacques Louis David

Screening the Art World Temenuga Trifonova,2025-10-01 Screening the Art World explores the ways in which artists and the art world more generally have been represented in cinema Contributors address a rarely explored subject art in cinema rather than the art of cinema by considering films across genres historical periods and national cinemas in order to reflect on cinema s fluctuating imaginary of art and the art world The book examines the intersection of art history with history in cinema cinema s simultaneous affirmation and denigration of the idea of art as truth the dominant often contradictory ways in which artists have been represented on screen and cinematic representations of the art world s tenuous position between commercial good and cultural capital The City and the Ocean I-Chun Wang,Jonathan White,2012-01-24 Throughout history cities have been locations of human encounter Equally they have been contexts for the trade of goods and services for the evolution of various forms of urban space and for the production development and enrichment of culture and technology Many cities grew up along shorelines which themselves constitute some of the globe s most important cultural boundaries

For above all else it is water that has separated but also connected different communities races religions and nations down through recorded time With the rapid advance in technologies of communication encounters between cultures have multiplied at a rate that no individual can follow or control The present book constitutes a space of memory in its own right one of its chief reasons d tre being that a group of diverse scholars herein maps certain key encounters between peoples past as well as present and the urgent issues generated in consequence No one person could have traced such diversity and made sense of it whereas a scholarly grouping of persons reporting on phenomena from around the world such as is provided here offers its readers a vision of global change and development With the twentieth and twenty first centuries a new set of mega cities in Asia Africa and Latin America has emerged to challenge the primacy of European and North American metropolitan centres This expanded landscape is here interpreted with special attention as already mentioned to cities located at coastlines hence generally speaking more exposed to globalizing trends Migrants exiles and refugees ethnic and racial minorities as well as alternative or countercultural groupings continue to complicate the ways in which cities articulate their now pluralized identities in terms of and by means of literature history architecture social events and other forms of artistic and cultural production The international scholars whose work is assembled in these pages are well placed to engage with the intersecting themes and issues of the volume Contributors have mapped different examples from Homeric narrative through Renaissance drama and its representation of crossways of culture such as Rhodes and Malta to an earlier time in the development of a New World city such as Boston others look at the twentieth and twenty first centuries complexity of great world cities and of oceanic migration or trade between them Shanghai Singapore London Detroit Shantou Macau and Saigon are some that are dealt with in detail Emphasis falls on both the historical reality of those contexts as well as how they have been culturally represented
