Aunt Jane's Nieces at Millville L. Frank Baum,2016-01-19 Chapter I UNCLE JOHN S FARM How did I happen to own a farm asked Uncle John interrupting his soup long enough to fix an inquiring glance upon Major Doyle who sat opposite By virtue of circumstance my dear sir replied the Major composedly It s a part of my duty in attending to those affairs you won t look afther yourself to lend certain sums of your money to needy and ambitious young men who want a start in life Oh Uncle Do you do that exclaimed Miss Patricia Doyle who sat between her uncle and father and kept an active eye upon both

So the Major says answered Uncle John dryly And it s true asserted the other He s assisted three or four score young men to start in business in the last year to my certain knowledge by lending them sums ranging from one to three thousand dollars And it s the most wasteful and extravagant charity I ever heard of But I m so glad cried Patsy clapping her hands with a delighted gesture It s a splendid way to do good to help young men to get a start in life Without capital you know many a young fellow would never get his foot on the first round of the ladder The Independent William Livingston,1915
