Little Vermeer Colour Learn:

Traces of Vermeer Jane Jelley, 2017-07-21 Johannes Vermeer's luminous paintings are loved and admired around the world yet we do not understand how they were made We see sunlit spaces the glimmer of satin silver and linen we see the softness of a hand on a lute string or letter We recognise the distilled impression of a moment of time and we feel it to be real We might hope for some answers from the experts but they are confounded too Even with the modern technology available they do not know why there is no evidence of any preliminary drawing why there are shifts in focus and why his pictures are unusually blurred Some wonder if he might possibly have used a camera obscura to capture what he saw before him The few traces Vermeer has left behind tell us little there are no letters or diaries and no reports of him at work Jane Jelley has taken a new path in this detective story A painter herself she has worked with the materials of his time the cochineal insect and lapis lazuli the sheep bones soot earth and rust She shows us how painters made their pictures layer by layer she investigates old secrets and hears travellers tales She explores how Vermeer could have used a lens in the creation of his masterpieces The clues were there all along After all this time now we can unlock the studio door and catch a glimpse of Vermeer inside painting light

What Color Is the Sacred? Michael Taussig, 2024-05-31 Over the past thirty years visionary anthropologist Michael Taussig has crafted a highly distinctive body of work Playful enthralling and whip smart his writing makes ingenious connections between ideas thinkers and things An extended meditation on the mysteries of color and the fascination they provoke What Color Is the Sacred is the next step on Taussig's remarkable intellectual path Following his interest in magic and surrealism his earlier work on mimesis and his recent discussion of heat gold and cocaine in My Cocaine Museum this book uses color to explore further dimensions of what Taussig calls the bodily unconscious in an age of global warming Drawing on classic ethnography as well as the work of Benjamin Burroughs and Proust he takes up the notion that color invites the viewer into images and into the world Yet as Taussig makes clear color has a history a manifestly colonial history rooted in the West's discomfort with color especially bright color and its associations with the so called primitive He begins by noting Goethe's belief that Europeans are physically averse to vivid color while the uncivilized revel in it which prompts Taussig to reconsider colonialism as a tension between chromophobes and chromophiliacs And he ends with the strange story of coal which he argues displaced colonial color by giving birth to synthetic colors organic chemistry and IG Farben the giant chemical corporation behind the Third Reich Nietzsche once wrote So far all that has given colour to existence still lacks a history With What Color Is the Sacred Taussig has taken up that challenge with all the radiant intelligence and inspiration we've come to expect from him

The Pilot ,1900 A Homeric Catalogue of Shapes Charlayn von Solms,2019-11-14 In the popular imagination Homer as author of the Iliad and the Odyssey epitomises poetic genius So when scholars proposed that the Homeric epics were not the unique creation of an individual author but instead reflected a traditional compositional system developed by generations of singer poets swathes of assumptions about the poems and their author were swept aside and called into question Much had to be re evaluated through a new lens The creative process described by scholars for the Homeric epics shares many key attributes with the modern visual art forms of collage and its less familiar variant sculptural assemblage A Homeric Catalogue of Shapes describes a series of twelve sculptures that together function as an abstract portrait of Homer not a depiction of him as an individual but as a compositional system The technique by which the artworks were produced reflects the poetic method that scholars termed oral formulaic In both of these creative processes the artwork is constructed from pre existing elements such as phrases characters and plot lines in the epics and objects fragmented items and borrowed forms in the sculptures The artist author presents a largely unknown characterisation of Homeric poetics in a manner that emphasizes
