

The background is an abstract composition. On the left, a hand with green-tinted skin reaches out, holding a white, angular, crystalline object. The rest of the image is filled with large, overlapping, translucent shapes in shades of green and yellow, creating a layered, sculptural effect. The lighting is soft, casting gentle shadows and highlights across the surfaces.

Armor, 1962 Oral History David K. Dunaway, Willa K. Baum, 1996-09-18 Oral History: An Interdisciplinary Anthology is a collection of classic articles by some of the best known proponents of oral history, demonstrating the basics of oral history while also acting as a guidebook for how to use it in research. Added to this new edition is insight into how oral history is practiced on an international scale, making this book an indispensable resource for scholars of history and social sciences as well as those interested in oral history on the avocational level. This volume is a reprint of the 1984 edition with the added bonus of a new introduction by David Dunaway and a new section on how oral history is practiced on an international scale. Selections from the original volume trace the origins of oral history in the United States, provide insights on methodology and interpretation, and review the various approaches to oral history used by folklorists, historians, anthropologists, and librarians, among others. Family and ethnic historians will find chapters addressing the applications of oral history in those fields.

Avant-Garde Film Scott MacDonald, 1993-02-26 The past thirty years have seen the proliferation of forms of independent cinema that challenge the conventions of mass market commercial movies. From within the movie theatre, Avant-Garde Film examines fifteen of the most suggestive and useful films from this film tradition. The films discussed include No 4 Bottoms by Yoko Ono, Wavelength by Michael Snow, Serene Velocity by Ernie Gehr, Print Generation by J. J. Murphy, Standard Gauge by Morgan Fisher, Zorns Lemma by Hollis Frampton, The Ties that Bind by Su Friedrich, From the Pole to the Equator by Yervant Gianikian, and The Carriage Trade by Warren Sonbert. Through in-depth readings of these works, Scott MacDonald takes viewers on a critical circumnavigation of the conventions of movie-going as seen by filmmakers who have rebelled against the conventions. MacDonald's discussions do not merely analyse the films; they provide a useful, accessible, jargon-free critical apparatus for viewing avant-garde film and communicate the author's pleasure in exploring impenetrable works.
