Business Communication and Personality Development Mr. Rohit Manglik, 2023-08-23 In this book we will study about effective workplace communication and techniques for personal and professional growth The Routledge Research Companion to Nineteenth-Century British Literature and Science John Holmes, Sharon Ruston, 2017-05-18 Tracing the continuities and trends in the complex relationship between literature and science in the long nineteenth century this companion provides scholars with a comprehensive authoritative and up to date foundation for research in this field In intellectual material and social terms the transformation undergone by Western culture over the period was unprecedented Many of these changes were grounded in the growth of science Yet science was not a cultural monolith then any more than it is now and its development was shaped by competing world views To cover the full range of literary engagements with science in the nineteenth century this companion consists of twenty seven chapters by experts in the field which explore crucial social and intellectual contexts for the interactions between literature and science how science affected different genres of writing and the importance of individual scientific disciplines and concepts within literary culture Each chapter has its own extensive bibliography The volume as a whole is rounded out with a synoptic introduction by the editors and an afterword by the eminent historian of nineteenth century science Bernard Lightman Writing Speculative Fiction Eugen Bacon, 2019-04-24 In this engaging and accessible guide Eugen Bacon explores writing speculative fiction as a creative practice drawing from her own work and the work of other writers and theorists to interrogate its various subgenres Through analysis of writers such as Stephen King J R R Tolkien and J K Rowling this book scrutinises the characteristics of speculative fiction considers the potential of writing cross genre and covers the challenges of targeting young adults It connects critical and cultural theories to the practice of creative writing examining how they might apply to the process of writing speculative fiction Both practical and critical in its evaluative gaze it also looks at publishing as a promising publishing medium for speculative fiction This is essential reading for undergraduate and postgraduate students of creative writing looking to develop a critical awareness of and practical skills for the writing of speculative fiction It is also a valuable resource for creators commentators and consumers of contemporary speculative fiction Chapter 8 Horror and the Paranormal was shortlisted for the Australasian Horror Writers Association AHWA s 2019 Australian Shadows Awards Marketing Literature C. Squires, 2007-10-11 This is an important study of the publishing of contemporary writing in Britain It analyzes the changing social economic and cultural environment of the publishing industry in the 1990s 2000s and investigates its impact on genre authorship and reading It includes case studies of Trainspotting and the His Dark Materials trilogy Prizing Scottish Literature Stevie Marsden, 2021-02-15 This history of the Saltire Society Literary Awards demonstrates the significance the awards have had within Scottish literary and cultural life The book explores how the prizes have influenced understandings of Scottish literature over eight decades and explores what they reveal about the wider mechanisms of how literary prize culture functions in the UK today      Roland Barthes Graham Allen, 2004-06-02 Roland Barthes is a central figure in the study of language literature culture and the media This book prepares readers for their first encounter with his crucial writings on some of the most important theoretical debates including existentialism and Marxism semiology or the language of signs structuralism and narrative analysis post structuralism deconstruction and the death of the author theories of the text and intertextuality Tracing his engagement with other key thinkers such as Sartre Saussure Derrida and Kristeva this volume offers a clear picture of Barthes work in context The in depth understanding of Barthes offered by this guide is essential to anyone reading contemporary critical theory      Writing about Literature - Second Edition W.F. Garrett-Petts, 2013-06-13 Writing about Literature introduces students to critical reading and writing through a thorough and engaging discussion of the field but also through exercises interviews exemplary student and scholarly essays and visual material It offers students an insider's guide to the language issues approaches styles assumptions and traditions that inform the writing of successful critical essays and aims to make student writers a part of the world of professional literary criticism Much of the discussion is structured around ways to analyze and respond to a single work Stephen Crane's story The Bride Comes to Yellow Sky This second edition is updated throughout and includes a new chapter on Reading and Writing About Poetry the chapter uses Robert Kroetsch's poem This Part of the Country as the unit of analysis and includes an interview with the poet about his process      Proust Vincent Descombes, 1992 Through the voice of the narrator of Remembrance of Things Past Proust observes of the painter Elstir that the paintings are bolder than the artist Elstir the painter is bolder than Elstir the theorist This book applies the same distinction Proust the Proustian novel is bolder than Proust the theorist By this the author means that the novel is philosophically bolder that it pursues further the task Proust identifies as the writer's work to explain life to elucidate what has been lived in obscurity and confusion In this the novelist and the philosopher share a common goal to clarify the obscure in order to arrive at the truth It follows that Proust's real philosophy of the novel is to be found not in the speculative passages of Remembrance which merely echo the philosophical commonplaces of his time but in the truly novelistic or narrative portions of his text In Against Sainte Beuve Proust sets forth his ideas about literature in the form of a critique of the method of Sainte Beuve Scholars who have studied Proust's notebooks describe the way in which this essay was taken over by bits of narrative originally intended as illustration supporting its theses The philosophical portions of Remembrance were not added to the narrative as an afterthought designed to bring out its meaning What happened was the reverse the novel was born of a desire to illustrate the propositions of the essay Why then should we not find the novel more philosophically advanced than the essay Reversing the usual order followed by literary critics the author interprets the novel as an elucidation and not as a simple transposition of the essay The book is not only a general interpretation of Proust's novel and its construction it includes detailed discussions of such topics as literature and philosophy the nature of the literary genres the poetics of the novel the definition of art modernity and postmodernity and the sociology of literature      The Biography of "the Idea of Literature" Adrian Marino,1996-01-01 A comprehensive examination of the meaning history and evolution of the basic notion of literature from antiquity to the seventeenth century      The Routledge Handbook of Place Tim Edensor,Ares Kalandides,Uma Kothari,2020-05-26 The handbook presents a compendium of the diverse and growing approaches to place from leading authors as well as less widely known scholars providing a comprehensive yet cutting edge overview of theories concepts and creative engagements with place that resonate with contemporary concerns and debates The volume moves away from purely western based conceptions and discussions about place to include perspectives from across the world It includes an introductory chapter which outlines key definitions draws out influential historical and contemporary approaches to the theorisation of place and sketches out the structure of the book explaining the logic of the seven clearly themed sections Each section begins with a short introductory essay that provides identifying key ideas and contextualises the essays that follow The original and distinctive contributions from both new and leading authorities from across the discipline provide a wide rich and comprehensive collection that chimes with current critical thinking in geography The book captures the dynamism and multiplicity of current geographical thinking about place by including both state of the art in depth critical overviews of theoretical approaches to place and new explorations and cases that chart a framework for future research It charts the multiple ways in which place might be conceived situated and practised This unique comprehensive and rich collection will be an essential resource for undergraduate and graduate teaching for experienced academics across a wide range of disciplines and for policymakers and place marketers It will provide an invaluable and up to date guide to current thinking across the range of disciplines such as Geography Sociology and Politics and interdisciplinary fields such as Urban Studies Environmental Studies and Planning      Writing Humor Mary Ann Rishel,2002 Learn how to expand the humor in your imagination into the most fulfilling and fun filled genres in creative writing from comedy to a satirical essay to a joke monologue with the help of Writing Humor the first textbook of its kind for college students      Literature and Computation Chris Tanasescu,2024-06-28 Literature and Computation presents some of the most relevantly innovative recent approaches to literary practice theory and criticism as driven by computation and situated in digital environments These approaches rely on automated analyses but use them creatively engage in text modeling but inform it with qualitative interpretive critical possibilities and contribute to present day platform culture in revolutionizing intermedial ways While such new directions involve more and more sophisticated machine learning and artificial intelligence they also mark a spectacular return of the trans human istic and of traditional modern literary or urgent political gender and minority related concerns and modes now addressed in ever subtler and more nuanced ways within human computer interaction frameworks Expanding the boundaries of literary and data studies digital humanities and electronic literature the featured contributions unveil an emerging landscape of trailblazing practice and theoretical crossovers ready and able to spawn and or chart the witness literature of our age and cultures      Writing by Ear Marilia Librandi, 2016-06-26 Considering Brazilian novelist Clarice Lispector's literature as a case study and a source of theory Writing by Ear presents an aural theory of the novel based on readings of Near to the Wild Heart 1943 The Besieged City 1949 The Passion According to G. H. 1964 Água Viva 1973 The Hour of the Star 1977 and A Breath of Life 1978 What is the specific aesthetic for which listening in writing calls? What is the relation that listening in writing establishes with silence, echo, and the sounds of the world? How are we to understand authorship when writers present themselves as objects of reception rather than subjects of production? In which ways does the robust oral and aural culture of Brazil shape literary genres and forms? In addressing these questions Writing by Ear works in dialogue with philosophy, psychoanalysis, and sound studies to contemplate the relationship between orality and writing. Citing writers such as Machado de Assis, Oswald de Andrade, and João Guimarães Rosa, as well as Mia Couto and Toni Morrison, Writing By Ear opens up a broader dialogue on listening and literature, considering the aesthetic, ethical, and ecological reverberations of the imaginary. Writing by Ear is concerned at once with shedding light on the narrative representation of listening and with a broader reconceptualization of fiction through listening, considering it an auditory practice that transcends the dichotomy of speech and writing.

Multilingual Life Writing by French and Francophone Women Natalie Edwards, 2019-10-17 This volume examines the ways in which multilingual women authors incorporate several languages into their life writing. It compares the work of six contemporary authors who write predominantly in French. It analyses the narrative strategies they develop to incorporate more than one language into their life writing: French and English, French and Creole, or French and German, for example. The book demonstrates how women writers transform languages to invent new linguistic formations and how they create new formulations of subjectivity within their self-narrative. It intervenes in current debates over global literature, national literatures, and translingual and transnational writing, which constitute major areas of research in literary and cultural studies. It also contributes to debates in linguistics through its theoretical framework of translanguaging. It argues that multilingual authors create new paradigms for life writing and that they question our understanding of categories such as French literature.

The Writer, 1919      Bruce Andrews and Charles Bernstein's L=A=N=G=U=A=G=E Matthew Hofer, Michael Golston, 2020-06 In February 1978 the L A N G U A G E newsletter, founded and edited by Charles Bernstein and Bruce Andrews, established the first public venue for the thriving correspondence of an emerging set of ambitious young poets. It circulated fresh perspectives on writing, politics, and the arts. Instead of poems, it published short essays and book reviews on the model of the private letter. It also featured extensive bibliographies and excerpts of cultural, social, and political theory. Bruce Andrews and Charles Bernstein's L A N G U A G E: The Complete Facsimile makes available in print all twelve of the newsletter's original issues, along with three supplementary issues.

Novel Definitions Cheryl L. Nixon, 2008-12-30 Novel Definitions captures the lively critical debate surrounding the invention of the English novel, showing how the rise of the novel is accompanied by a rise in popular literary criticism. The over 135 pieces here many newly discovered include essays prefaces reviews and sermons written by authors ranging from Aphra Behn to Walter Scott Novel Definitions brings together authors commentary on their work debates concerning the novel's formal qualities and cultural position including who should read novels reviewers definitions of the qualities that make a novel successful and literary historians first attempts to write the history of the novel Rene Girard, Law, Literature, and Cinema Eric M. Wilson, 2024-04-05 This book is the first monograph to critically evaluate the work of the literary scholar Ren Girard from the perspectives of Law and Literature and Law and Film Studies two of the most multidisciplinary branches of critical legal theory The central thesis is that Girard's theory of the scapegoat mechanism provides a wholly new and original means of re conceptualizing the nature of judicial modernity which is the belief that modern Law constitutes an internally coherent and exclusively secular form of rationality The book argues that it is the archaic scapegoat mechanism the reconciliation of the community through the direction of unified violence against a single victim that actually works best in explaining all of the outstanding issues of Law and Literature in both of its sub forms law as literature the analysis of legal language and practice exemplified by literacy texts and law in literature the exploration of issues in legal theory through the fictitious form of the novel The book will provide readers with i a useful introduction to the most important elements of the work of Ren Girard ii a greater awareness of the hidden nature of legal culture and reasoning within a post secular age and iii a new understanding of the subversive or enlightening nature of some of the most iconic works on Law in both Literature and Cinema media which by their nature allow for the expression of truths repressed by formal legal discourse The Post-colonial Studies Reader Bill Ashcroft, Gareth Griffiths, Helen Tiffin, 1995 The Post Colonial Studies Reader is the most comprehensive selection of key texts in post colonial theory and criticism yet compiled This collection covers a huge range of topics featuring nearly ninety of the discipline's most widely read works The Reader's 90 extracts are designed to introduce the major issues and debates in the field of post colonial literary studies This field itself however has become so varied that no collection of readings could encompass every voice which is now giving itself the name post colonial The editors in order to avoid a volume which is simply a critical canon have selected works representing arguments with which they do not necessarily agree but rather which above all stimulate discussion thought and further exploration Post colonial theory has occurred in all societies into which the imperial force of Europe has intruded though not always in the official form of theoretical text Like the description of any other field the term has come to mean many things but this volume hinges on one incontestable phenomenon the historical fact of colonialism and the palpable consequences to which this phenomenon gave rise The topic involves talk about experience of various kinds migration slavery suppression resistance representation difference race gender place and reaction to the European influence and about the fundamental experiences of speaking and writing by which all these come into being In compiling this reader the editors have sought to stimulate people to ask How might a genuinely post colonial literary enterprise proceed The fourteen sections include Issues and Debates Universality and Difference Textual Representation and Resistance Postmodernism and Post Colonialism Nationalism Hybridity Ethnicity and Indigeneity Feminism and Post Colonialism Language The Body and Performance History Place Education and Production and Consumption Contributors include many of the leading post colonial theorists and critics such as Franz Fanon Chinua Achebe Gayatri Chakravorty Spivak Ngũgĩ wa Thiong'o Homi Bhabha Derek Walcott Edward Said and Trinh T. Minh-ha in addition to a number of the discourse's newer voices The Post Colonial Studies Reader will prove an authoritative compilation representing an invaluable contribution to the study of post colonial theory and criticism

Postcolonial Poetics Elleke Boehmer, 2018-06-27 Postcolonial Poetics is about how we read postcolonial and world literatures today and about how the structures of that writing shape our reading The book's eight chapters explore the ways in which postcolonial writing in English from various 21st century contexts including southern and West Africa and Black and Asian Britain interacts with our imaginative understanding of the world Throughout the focus is on reading practices where reading is taken as an inventive border traversing activity one that postcolonial writing with its interests in margins intersections subversions and crossings specifically encourages This close sustained focus on reading reception and literariness is an outstanding feature of the study as is its wide generic range embracing poetry essays and life writing as well as fiction The field defining scholar Elleke Boehmer holds that literature has the capacity to keep reimagining and refreshing how we understand ourselves in relation to the world and to some of the most pressing questions of our time including resistance reconciliation survival after terror and migration
