Paul Bresnahan,2005-11-03

Everything You Need to Know About Sex In Order to Get to Heaven A Synopsis The Title The above title is an eye catching twist on a best selling book that was written by David Rubin in the seventies Woody Allen went on to make a movie based on the title which took lots of liberties with the text My book connects human sexuality with human spirituality While that connection is nothing new in literature the way it is done in this book is very refreshing creative and humorous There's a good deal of pop theology of the sort we haven't seen much from the mainstream The title brings a smile to the face and a curiosity as to what might lie under the covers The title will appeal to many inside and outside the church To my amazement church people seem to like it at least in my congregations Most of the folks I know are impatient with the media frenzy and the church's skittishness about sexuality and orientation Even more gratifying I have found the book to be of interest to the LGBT crowd in several colleges in Southwestern West Virginia and among my children and their friends all of whom are 20

Some Things The Dedication In a departure from customary book dedications I've written a short chapter for my immediate family Two of my children are gay the middle child is a rebellious poet My wife counts these as her blessings So do I Thus I dedicate my book to each of them I think it important to go on record at the outset that my love for my children is unconditional Still I let the reader know that I have some ambivalence about homosexuality as the whole culture does This is a story of how a Priest who was brought up by a gay uncle and then who became the father of two gay kids can make peace within himself The pilgrimage to that peace is what this book is all about

The Introduction As a reader I like to know what I'm getting into when I open up a book I try to give my readers some helpful handles to guide their way from chapter to chapter I think that what I have produced here is a readable interesting and thought provoking treatment of a hot topic in the church and the culture In point of fact my family and my church are a microcosm of what is tearing us apart as a nation We are deeply divided over questions of personal morality while at the same time we look the other way when the weightier issues of justice that are staring us in the face The introduction gives a good summary of what is to follow in the rest of the book It is a well executed treatment of what confuses many people in the pews Thus church people as well as the unchurched may very well be attracted to these pages since it makes sense of what confuses so many

Just a Simple Parish Priest It makes sense to introduce myself to the reader It seems especially appropriate to share the story of how I came to be a priest The context of that call comes out of the experience of the loss of my dad at Christmas when I was a child Tracing the events of that death to a grandmother's love to an experience of the reality of God I invite the reader to consider how childhood becomes the parent to the adult another familiar theme in literature Still as familiar as that theme is it is a good hook to help the reader go on What happens in this chapter is the use of the utterly ordinary to help the reader see God in the midst of the living and breathing of life itself The question of heaven then arises and how to get my daddy there Most of my readers find this some of my most compelling writing All I Want to Do is Get my Family to Heaven A father who frittered away his earnings and died godless for all we know a mother with several divorces and an abortion an uncle who is gay how in the world do we get a crowd like that into heaven

Weird Stories Stanford E. Hoffman, 2012-09-20 n a These Are Our Stories Jan

Rosenberg,2007-03-06 These Are Our Stories is a collection of women's stories, thoughts, and poems about the domestic abuse they have experienced throughout their lives. Transcribed directly from Jan Rosenberg's interviews with eleven women in the Florida panhandle, their histories embody the epidemic of domestic violence in America. The eleven survivors are lower to middle class women of various ethnic orientations and range in age from their late twenties to mid sixties. The survivors' stories are clarified with the use of diagrams from The Domestic Abuse Intervention Project (DAIP) and examined as the women rebuild their lives hour by hour and day by day. These Are Our Stories provides two resource guides following the women's interviews. The first guide is adapted for use in north Florida to assist an abused woman in identifying her situation using these eleven women's stories as a thread. The second resource is a brief bibliography of literature and resources for domestic violence victims that can be used throughout the U.S.

Our Day, 1905 Hell Timothy Morton,2024-06-07 Hell on earth is real. The toxic fusion of big oil, Evangelical Christianity, and white supremacy has ignited a worldwide inferno more phantasmagoric than anything William Blake could dream up and more cataclysmic than we can fathom. Escaping global warming hell, this revelatory book shows that requires a radical mystical marriage of Christianity and biology that awakens a future beyond white male savagery. Timothy Morton argues that there is an unexpected yet profound relationship between religion and ecology that can guide a planet-scale response to the climate crisis. Spiritual and mystical feelings have a deep resonance with ecological thinking, and together they provide the resources environmentalism desperately needs in this time of climate emergency. Morton finds solutions in a radical revaluation of Christianity, furnishing ecological politics with a language of mercy and forgiveness that draws from Christian traditions without bringing along their baggage. They call for a global environmental movement that fuses ecology and mysticism and puts race and gender front and center. This nonviolent resistance can stage an all-out assault on the ultimate Satanic mill: the concept of master and slave manifesting today in white supremacy, patriarchy, and environmental destruction. Passionate, erudite, and playful, Hell takes readers on a full-color journey into the contemporary underworld and offers a surprising vision of salvation.

Advancing Sexual Consent and Agential Practices in Higher Education Jason A. Laker, Erica M. Boas,2024-06-03 This book provides an in-depth exploration of sexual consent communication and negotiation practices among students and efforts to prevent and respond to sexual coercion and violence within the context of North American higher education institutions. Delving into the complexities of communication around sexual consent, it examines how factors such as identity, early learning experiences, societal norms, and coercive elements influence interactions among young adult postsecondary students. It emphasizes the importance of agency in intimate settings and how this is shaped by these factors. The methodology employed in this decade-long research is innovative and interview-based, providing a rich narrative from student perspectives. These narratives serve to highlight the intricate interplay between individual agency and societal expectations in intimate situations. The book also incorporates valuable insights from other experts in the field. These contributions serve to contextualize the study's findings within the broader theoretical framework and research on the subject This approach not only enriches the descriptions of the study but also provides a more holistic understanding of the topic As such the book ultimately helps to inform educational policies and professional practices to promote sexual agency and address pressing issues such as sexual coercion violence and assault on campus This volume will appeal to researchers and stakeholders in higher education including educators upper level students professional practitioners and parents In doing so it contributes to the conversation around creating a safer and more respectful environment in higher education institutions
