Environmentalism After Humanism Stefanie Fishel, Andrew M. Rose,2025-01-24 This book explores the ways in which one might come to recognize and better theorize the political actor and the political act or event in a post anthropocentric context The challenge to contemporary ideas of citizenship activism and the state stems not only from the realization that the natural world is inseparable from the social but that both are the product of hybridized human and nonhuman agencies As a result one must be skeptical of any notion of an environmental fix that bases itself upon an exclusively human agency What new types of citizenship might emerge from posthuman cultures and artforms What do effective post anthropocentric organizing strategies look like As the relevance of the liberal humanist political subject and the conceptual norms of political realism

recede theories of national and international politics are now tasked with rethinking a contemporary environmental politics beyond humanism To better theorize these destabilizations this collection puts forth the value of thinking across disciplines wherein a conversation unfolds between political theory and literary theory that meets at the crossroads of environmental humanities and ecopolitical theory
