Living Narrative Elinor Ochs, Professor of Anthropology Elinor Ochs, Lisa Capps, 2009-06-01 This pathbreaking book looks at everyday storytelling as a twofold phenomenon a response to our desire for coherence but also to our need to probe and acknowledge the enigmatic aspects of experience Letting us listen in on dinner table conversation prayer and gossip Elinor Ochs and Lisa Capps develop a way of understanding the seemingly contradictory nature of everyday narrative as a genre that is not necessarily homogeneous and as an activity that is not always consistent but consistently serves our need to create selves and communities Focusing on the ways in which narrative is co constructed and on the variety of moral stances embodied in conversation the authors draw out the instructive inconsistencies of these collaborative narratives whose contents and ordering are subject to dispute flux and discovery In an eloquent last chapter written as Capps was waging her final battle with cancer they turn to unfinished narratives those stories that will never have a comprehensible end With a hybrid perspective part humanities part social science their book captures these complexities and fathoms the intricate and potent narratives that live within and among us

Living on Automatic Homer B. Martin MD, Christine B. L. Adams MD, 2018-08-03 Two veteran psychiatrists unravel the mystery of how thought and emotional patterns are passed from parents to children generation after generation conditioning each of us in ways that endure throughout our lives and affect all of our relationships Living on Automatic not only introduces the concept of emotional conditioning including how it occurs and becomes entrenched in our minds but also explains how individuals can decondition themselves to become more adept at choosing and negotiating more rewarding relationships Authored by two psychiatrists the text draws from more than 80 years of their combined psychotherapy work with thousands of people The authors focus on helping readers to understand their roles in relationships and to develop more rewarding relationships Case studies and questions are provided to illustrate emotional conditioning and the personality roles that emerge from it Readers will learn why people choose the mates that they do why the ways we learn to relate as children often do not change later in life and how to observe and engage in introspection to begin to decondition themselves from auto pilot knee jerk emotional responses allowing for the formation of better relationships with their spouse or partner children and other family members
