Ku-ming (Kevin) Chang, Anthony Grafton, Glenn Warren Most, 2021-01-18 This volume is the first comparative history that studies the practice of impagination across different ages and civilizations By impagination we mean the act of placing and arranging spatially textual and other information onto a material bearer that could be made of a variety of materials papyrus bamboo slips palm leaf parchment paper and the computer screen This volume investigates three levels of impagination what is the page or other unit of the material bearer what is written or printed on it and how is writing or print placed on it It also examines the interrelations of two or all three of these levels Collectively it examines the material and materiality of the page the variety of imprints cultural and historical conventions for impagination interlinguistic encounters the control of editors scribes publishers and readers over the page inheritance borrowing and innovation economics aesthetics and socialities of imprints and impagination and the relationship of impagination to philology This volume supplements studies on mise en page and layout an important subject of codicology first by including non codex writings second by taking a closer look at the page or other unit than at the codex or book and third by its aspiration to adopt a globally comparative approach This volume brings together for comparison vast geographical realms of learning including Europe China Tibet Korea Japan and the Near Eastern and European communities in which the Hebrew Bible was transmitted This comparison is significant for Europe China and India all developed great traditions of learning which came into intensive contact The contributions to this volume are firmly rooted in local cultures and together address global comparative themes that are significant for multiple disciplines such as intellectual and cultural history of knowledge both humanistic and scientific global history literary and media studies aesthetics and studies of material culture among other fields

Transgressive Heroism Raymond Marks, 2024-10-07 Roman epic is traditionally understood to advance a masculine martial form of heroism In his version of the Argonaut legend the Argonautica however Valerius Flaccus challenges that prevailing ethos of the genre by turning Medea Jason's love interest in the story into a heroic figure and Jason himself into her emasculated victim The present study charts this plotline as it unfolds in the second half of Valerius epic finding its key source of inspiration in the poetry of Ovid with its tales of transgressive love gender bending and unconventional heroism Employing an extensive program of allusion to his Metamorphoses and elegiac works Valerius transforms Medea from the innocent vulnerable girl we see in her first appearance in the poem into a threatening powerful and masculine figure who not only helps Jason fulfill his quest for the golden fleece but eclipses him as hero in the process Readers of this study will gain insight into Valerius inventive reworking of the Argonaut myth and innovations within the epic genre as well as a greater appreciation for Ovid's influence on Roman epic poetry in the first century CE
