Lucy Calkins Kindergarten:

Creating Schools That Heal Lesley Koplow, 2015 Lesley Koplow's well-examined truths uncover an image of intimacy between teacher and child sorely needed in our schools. Her emotionally responsive teacher is the pivot for a classroom community that visibly supports and honors its members in the great variety of their lives. What stands in the way is the question Ms. Koplow courageously answers. Vivian Gussin Paley, author of In Mrs. Tulley's Room: A Childcare Portrait. In a world where children are beset by violence and stress, Lesley Koplow provides educators with clear, level-headed advice on how to construct therapeutic learning environments for all children. This is a book about integrating preventive mental health practice into public schools, preschool through grade 5. Koplow, a psychotherapist, discusses the mandate for violence prevention and offers an intervention framework for teachers, administrators, and school-based clinicians who want to improve the emotional climate in their school. This important and timely volume helps educators read the signs of distress or problematic social-emotional development as they are likely to manifest themselves in the school setting. Introduces a practice model that calls for strengthened teacher-child connections. Addresses in separate chapters the roles of the teacher, principal, and school-based clinician providing guidance and effective strategies for each. Demonstrates that interventions can be done effectively by existing school personnel. Describes a project to facilitate teacher gathering of psycho-social history that can be used to inform constructive curricular practice. Poses compelling questions for policymakers including concerns about the effect that the current focus on standards and test scores is having on the emotional tone of schools. Includes a chapter addressing what we've learned from the recent tragic events of September 11th in New York City. Learning to Write and Loving It! Preschool-Kindergarten Miriam P. Trehearne, 2011-08-17 Learning to Write and Loving It equips teachers of young children with practical strategies, assessment tools, and motivating writing activities that are based on current research and proven practice and are easily applicable to all kinds of learning environments. Included are many authentic writing samples and photos to illustrate effective developmentally appropriate instructional methods, mini-lessons, and activities. Sought-after author and speaker Miriam P. Trehearne demonstrates how to scaffold play and literacy learning and how to easily link assessment to instruction. Key features differentiate using effective instructional approaches for teaching writing and supporting inquiry and play: assess and document student writing seamlessly throughout the day; motivate and engage children in writing fiction, narrative, nonfiction, poetry, and song; enjoy learning with a powerful collection of vignettes from real classrooms; and use teacher-friendly guidelines for effectively integrating technology and selecting software for young children. A companion CD offers modifiable reproducible observation checklists, assessments, and projects for parents to do with their young children. Learn how to successfully scaffold writing and in the process foster cross-curricular skills in science, social studies, and math. Research shows that writing provides a strong foundation for literacy development. Further writing helps children express themselves, clarify their thinking, communicate ideas, and integrate new Storytelling in Early Childhood Teresa Cremin, Rosie Flewitt, Ben Mardell, Joan Swann, 2016-12-08. Storytelling in Early Childhood is a captivating book which explores the multiple dimensions of storytelling and story acting and shows how they enrich language and literacy learning in the early years. Foregrounding the power of children's own stories in the early and primary years, it provides evidence that storytelling and story acting, a pedagogic approach first developed by Vivian Gussin Paley, affords rich opportunities to foster learning within a play-based and language-rich curriculum. The book explores a number of themes and topics, including the role of imaginary play and its dynamic relationship to narrative; how socially situated symbolic actions enrich the emotional, cognitive, and social development of children; how the interrelated practices of storytelling and dramatisation enhance language and literacy learning and contribute to an inclusive classroom culture; the challenges practitioners face in aligning their understanding of child literacy and learning with a narrow mandated curriculum which focuses on measurable outcomes. Driven by an international approach and based on new empirical studies, this volume further advances the field, offering new theoretical and practical analyses of storytelling and story acting from complementary disciplinary perspectives. This book is a potent and engaging read for anyone intrigued by Paley's storytelling and story acting curriculum, as well as those practitioners and students with a vested interest in early years literacy and language learning. With contributions from Vivian Gussin Paley, Patricia Patsy Cooper, Dorothy Faulkner, Natalia Kucirkova, Gillian Dowley, McNamee, and Ageliki Nicolopoulou.

Helmers,1994-11-22 This is a book about the usual teacher student relationship in composition courses It disrupts and rewrites the commonplace conception of the relationship by revealing the uneven ways in which power is deployed in and around the classroom And it offers a responsible alternative The author not only offers teachers a way of learning about power relations at their own specific sites but also works towards a more equitable redistribution Drawing from testimonials about teaching practice published in the journal College Composition and Communication Helmers explores conventions in this form of writing that portray students in a negative light and show the teacher to be powerfully triumphant in his or her creative pedagogy Several prevalent modes of representation are discussed in the book all of which define the students as distinctly different from the teachers in other words as an other The texture of the work is rich because Helmers takes an enormous amount of post structuralist theory and recasts it in the sphere of the teacher student relationship itself an underexplored realm
