Lone Star Tarnished Cal Jillson, 2025-05-12 Texas pride like everything else in the state is larger than life So too perhaps are the state s challenges Lone Star Tarnished approaches public policy in the nation s most populous red state from historical comparative and critical perspectives The historical perspective provides the scope for asking how various policy domains have developed in Texas history In each chapter Cal Jillson compares Texas public policy choices and results with those of other states and the United States in general Finally the critical perspective allows readers to question the balance of benefits and costs attendant to what is often referred to as the Texas way or the Texas model and to assess the many claims of Texas s exceptionalism Through Jillson s lively and lucid prose students are well equipped to analyse how Texas has done and is doing compared to selected states and the national average over time and today This text is aimed at students and professors of Texas politics who want to stress history political culture and public policy New to the Fifth Edition Fully updated to include the most recent Texas elections and political events Covers the 2023 legislative session Highlights new population data with projections forward to 2050 recently released by the U S Census and the Texas State Data Center Explores the dramatic increases in Texas oil and gas production and their impact on global and U S prices and on the profitability and the viability of many Texas producers in light of the recent plunge in prices All figures and tables include the most recent data available

No One Left Standing Michele Wages,2016-11-14 Every public school student in the U S will experience various types of testing each year For decades the purpose and quality of such testing the time it takes to administer and take the test and how the data is used are the topic of discussion among students parents educators and policymakers Those supporting the importance of testing assume that more assessment improves student achievement and that the pros of testing outweigh their perceptions of the additional costs Those against excessive testing believe that schools are sacrificing learning time in order to test or prepare for the test They also believe that reduced learning time of non tested subjects occurs and more time is given to those students that are performing right below the proficiency score or bubble kids instead of developing every student s full potential Testing in U S public schools is out of control The stress and pressures for all involved have effects that are not even measurable in most instances Is this really the best thing for our schools Are there alternative measures that may serve our future in a better way Will the rewrite of NCLB be enough in Cambodia Vincent McNamara, Martin Hayden, 2022-05-14 This book is the most comprehensive account yet published about the education system in Cambodia. It covers all system levels and draws upon the knowledge and insights of a wide range of leading Cambodian and foreign scholars. The book focuses on how the system has developed and is making progress. Significant achievements over the past two decades are evident but many problems remain including the poor quality of teaching, research and institutional management. Underfunding is an ongoing obstacle but so too is a bureaucratic culture of resistance to change, a history of weak governance and an anti-reform sentiment deriving from a teacher-centred and exam-driven curriculum. Achieving international standards must now be the system's highest priority. To this end the system must rid itself of conservatism, complacency and manipulation by parochial vested interests. China's Military Power Roger Cliff, 2015-09-15 This book provides a comprehensive assessment of China's military capabilities in 2000 and 2010 with projections for 2020. Recognizing that military power encompasses more than weaponry, it develops an original empirical framework for measuring militaries that also includes doctrine, training and organizational structure. Assessing the Common Core: What's Gone Wrong--And How to Get Back on Track Robert C. Calfee, Kathleen M. Wilson, 2016-02-02 From distinguished educators, this book imagines what our schools could look like if an authentic vision of the Common Core State Standards (CCSS) were put in place and thoughtfully critiques how and why implementation has faltered. The authors outline a curriculum framework that focuses on student-based inquiry and the use of formative assessment to monitor and guide student learning. They provide workable, innovative alternatives to the packaged instructional programs and summative tests that have come to be associated with the English language arts (ELA) standards. Vignettes of diverse schools and districts highlight a range of successful approaches to making the CCSS work. Life by Algorithms Catherine Besteman, Hugh Gusterson, 2019-05-23 Essays on the downsides, dysfunctions and dangers of automated decision-making. An excellent survey of the algorithmically managed life. Choice. The phone systems that businesses use to screen calls. The link between student standardized test scores and public schools' access to resources. The algorithms that regulate patient diagnoses and reimbursements to doctors. The impenetrable corporate bureaucracy that can drive customers in need of help up the wall or drive them to suicide. The storage, sorting and analysis of massive amounts of information have enabled the automation of decision-making at an unprecedented level. Meanwhile, computers have offered a model of cognition that increasingly shapes our approach to the world. The proliferation of robo-processes is the result. As editors Catherine Besteman and Hugh Gusterson observe in this rich and wide-ranging volume, which features contributions from a distinguished cast of scholars in anthropology, communications, international studies and political science, though automatic processes are designed to be engines of rational systems, the stories in Life by Algorithms reveal how they can in fact produce absurd, inflexible or even dangerous outcomes. Joining the call for algorithmic transparency, the contributors bring exceptional sensitivity to everyday sociality into their critique to better understand how the perils of modern technology affect finance, medicine, education.

housing the workplace food production public space and emotions not as separate problems but as linked manifestations of a deeper defect in the fundamental ordering of our society The Machine Stops E M Forster's 1909 science fiction story tells the tale of a human society collapsing when the technology upon which it has become dependent fails Think of this volume as The Machine Starts a collection of unsettling ethnographic accounts of the rise of algorithmic governance A necessary and sobering call to arms Stefan Helmreich Massachusetts Institute of Technology Contributors include Catherine Besteman Alex Blanchette Robert W Gehl Hugh Gusterson Catherine Lutz Ann Lutz Fernandez Joseph Masco Sally Engle Merry Keesha M Middlemass Noelle Stout Susan J Terrio The Evaluation and Measurement of Library Services Joseph R.
