Grade 7 Reading Comprehension Worksheet

In The Storm

The Texan Scouts

Joseph A. Altsheler

Read the passage. Then answer the questions.

The horseman rode slowly toward the west, stopping once or twice to examine the wide circle of the horizon with eyes that were trained to note every aspect of the wilderness. On his right the plains melted away in gentle swell after swell, until they met the horizon.

On his left was the wide bed of a river which flowed through the sand, breaking here and there into several streams, and then reuniting, only to scatter its volume a hundred yards further into three or four channels. A bird of prey flew on strong wing over the water, but there was no other sign of life.

The horseman looked most often into the south. His glances into the north were few and brief. His was an attractive face. He was young, only a boy, but the brow was broad and high, and the eyes, grave and steady. He was clad completely in buckskin. A rifle held in one hand lay across the pommel of his saddle and there were weapons in his belt. Two lights and blankets, folded closely, were tied behind him. The tanned face, strong figure showed a wonderful degree of health and strength. Several hours passed and the horseman rode on steadily though slowly. He never failed to search the plains on either side, but chiefly in the south.

But the lonesome gray land, cut by the coiling yellow river, still rolled before him. It was the depth of the Texan winter, and, at times, icy gusts, born in far mountains, swept across the plains.

The rider presently turned his horse toward the river and stopped on a low bluff overlooking it, as if his eyes failed to find objects for which they sought. Again he gazed long and patiently into the south, but without reward.

He resumed his ride parallel with the river, but soon stopped a second time, and held up an open hand, like one who tests the wind. The air was growing perceptibly colder. The strong gusts were now fusing into a steady wind. The day, which had not been bright at any time, was turning darker. The sun was gone and in the far north banks of mists and vapor were gathering. A dreary moaning came over the plain.

Answer the question.

The Reading Crisis Jeanne Sternlicht CHALL, Vicki A. Jacobs, Luke E. Baldwin, Jeanne Sternlicht Chall, 2009-06-30 How severe is the literacy gap in our schools Why does the nine year old child from a culturally disadvantaged background so often fall victim to the fourth grade slump Although the cognitive abilities of these children at risk may be consistent with the norm their literacy development lags far behind that of other children In The Reading Crisis the renowned reading specialist Jeanne Chall and her colleagues examine the causes of this disparity and suggest some remedies Using Chall's widely applied model of reading development the authors examine the strengths and weaknesses in the reading writing and language development of children from low income families in an attempt to identify the onset of their difficulties They show how in the transition from learning the medium to understanding the message the demands on children's reading skills become significantly more complex The crucial point is fourth grade when students confront texts containing unfamiliar words and ideas that are beyond the range of their own experience According to Chall's findings the lack of specific literacy skills not cognitive factors explains the deceleration in the reading and writing development of low income children The authors outline an active role for the schools in remedying weaknesses in literacy development and give suggestions for the home and the community Their recommendations address both practical issues in instruction and the teacher student dynamic that fosters literacy development Table of Contents Preface Acknowledgments 1 Literacy and Language among Low Income Children 2 The Children Their Schools and Their Families 3 Reading Development 4 Writing Development 5 Language Development 6 Interrelations among Reading Writing and Language 7 Classroom Instruction and Literacy Environments 8 Home Influences on Literacy and Language 9 Influences on the Lower and Higher Grades 10 Where Do We Go from Here Epilogue Persistent Questions Appendix A Samples of Narrative Writing Representing Average Holistic Ratings and Production Students Handwriting Appendix B Samples of Expository Writing Representing Average Holistic Ratings and Production Students Handwriting References Index Reviews of this book An important study for wide academic and professional attention Suzanne W Wood Library Journal The Latest and Best of TESS, 1991 Resources in Education
