Grafting The Bodhi Tree Grafting The Bodhi Tree:

Buddhist Missionaries in the Era of Globalization Linda Learman, 2004-11-30 This insightful volume dispels the common notion that Buddhism is not a missionary religion by revealing Asian Buddhists as active agents in the propagation of their faith. It presents at the same time a new framework with which to study missionary activity in both Buddhist and other religious traditions. Included are case studies of Theravada Chinese and Tibetan Buddhist teachers and congregations as well as the Pure Land Shingon Zen and Soka Gakkai traditions of Japan. Contributors examine both foreign and domestic missions and the activities of emigrant communities showing the resources and strategies garnered by late nineteenth and twentieth century Buddhists who worked to uphold and further their respective traditions often under difficult circumstances. Based on anthropological fieldwork and historical research the essays break new ground and provide better analytical tools for studying mission activity than previously available. They provide instructive comparisons with Anglo American Protestant missionary thinking and offer insights into the internal dynamics of Sri Lankan and Japanese missions as they make their way in Protestant and Catholic societies. Also included are nuanced studies of two major missionary figures in late twentieth century Chinese Buddhism and a fascinating look at the present Dalai Lama's relationships with his devotees and the American government viewed through an exposition of the abiding tradition within Tibetan Buddhism that combines mission activity with the political goals of exiled lamas. Contributors: Stuart Chandler, Peter B. Clarke, C. Julia Huang, Steven Kemper, Linda Learman, Sarah LeVine, Richard K. Payne, Cristina Rocha, George J. Tanabe Jr., Gray Tuttle. Reading the Mahāvamsa Kristin Scheible, 2016-11-08 Vamsa is a dynamic genre of Buddhist history filled with otherworldly characters and the exploits of real life heroes. These narratives collapse the temporal distance between Buddha and the reader building an emotionally resonant connection with an outsized religious figure and a longed for past. The fifth century Pali text Mahāvamsa is a particularly effective example using metaphor and other rhetorical devices to ethically transform readers to stimulate and then to calm them. Reading the Mahāvamsa advocates a new literary approach to this text by revealing its embedded reading advice to experience samvega and pasāda and affective work of metaphors: the Buddha's dharma as light and salient characters: nagas. Kristin Scheible argues that the Mahāvamsa requires a particular kind of reading. In the text's proem special instructions draw readers to the metaphor of light and the nagas or salient snake beings of the first chapter. Nagas are both model worshippers and unworthy hoarders of Buddha's relics. As nonhuman agents they challenge political and historicist readings of the text. Scheible sees these slippery characters and the narrative's potent and playful metaphors as techniques for refocusing the reader's attention on the text's emotional aims. Her work explains the Mahāvamsa's central motivational role in contemporary Sri Lankan Buddhist and nationalist circles. It also speaks broadly to strategies of reading religious texts and to the internal and external cues that give such works lives beyond the page. Eternal Immortal Supreme Fei Xiang, 2020-09-12 Horticultural cultivation was different from others.
