Abstract Background: The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 12-week supervised exercise program on the physical and psychological health of patients with chronic low back pain (CLBP). Methods: A total of 100 patients with CLBP were recruited from a tertiary care hospital and randomly assigned to either a supervised exercise program or a control group. The supervised exercise program consisted of 12 weeks of supervised exercise, including aerobic and strength training. The control group received no intervention. Data were collected at baseline, 6 weeks, and 12 weeks. Results: The supervised exercise group showed significant improvements in physical and psychological health compared to the control group. At 12 weeks, the supervised exercise group had significantly lower levels of pain, disability, and depression, and significantly higher levels of physical and psychological health. Conclusion: A 12-week supervised exercise program can significantly improve the physical and psychological health of patients with CLBP.
