Teaching in the Cracks Brian D. Schultz, 2017 This engaging book shows how teachers and schools are creating emergent democratic progressive education amidst the current context of high stakes accountability In this follow up to his bestseller Spectacular Things Happen Along the Way Schultz explores how today s rhetoric and restrictive mandates result in curriculum that fails to capture the attention of students For meaningful learning that develops transferable skills and engages students teachers and sometimes whole schools need to find spaces to teach in the cracks so that students can connect with issues relevant to their lives Teaching in the Cracks provides both a theoretical and practical foundation for incorporating an action focused curriculum that meets academic standards and provides students with opportunities for agency and to use their voices in their own learning Through compelling examples Brian Schultz shares how educators can help students use their powers From the Foreword by Deborah Meier teacher principal and advocate This book is an invitation to rethink teaching from top to bottom to dive into classroom life as a passionate adventure in discovery and surprise From the Afterword by William Ayers education activist For teachers who genuinely seek to make a difference through their work this book will be a helpful resource Pedro A Noguera University of California Los Angeles

Diverse Families, Desirable

Schools Mira Debs,2021-03-09 In Diverse Families Desirable Schools Mira Debs offers a richly detailed study of public Montessori schools which make up the largest group of progressive schools in the public sector As public Montessori schools expand rapidly as alternatives to traditional public schools the story of these schools Debs points out is a microcosm of the broader conflicts around public school choice Drawing on historical research interviews with public Montessori educators and ethnographic case studies Debs explores the forces that pull intentionally diverse progressive schools toward elitism At the heart of Debs s book is a thoughtful analysis of the notion of fit between parents and schools an idea that is central to school choice which is often marketed as an opportunity for parents to find the perfect fit for their kids By exploring parents varied motivations in choosing these schools and observing how families experience or fail to experience a good fit after having chosen a particular school Debs makes an original contribution to the literature on school choice and sheds light on the dilemmas entailed in maintaining diversity in progressive charter and magnet schools

The Proud Decades John P.

Diggins,1988 What happens when public figures private selves are put forth for examination by public audiences How do the personal struggles of music artists specifically those with immigrant backgrounds compare to the private struggles of other individuals At a time when many countries in the European Union experience an increase in far right political party activities how do individuals from the margins negotiate new ways of thinking about identity offering hope for greater understanding of shared struggles across societies This book offers interpretations of identity and belonging by examining the work of two music artists Faudel Belloua from France and Adam Tensta from Sweden By analyzing texts produced by these individuals I argue that ongoing engagement with the materials produced by Belloua and Tensta a process which I refer to as living biography presents a unique window into the process of how Belloua and Tensta connect personal struggles to public issues providing a compelling departure point for further discussions on how interpretations of national identity are changing in France and Sweden and beyond

Starting at Home Nel Noddings,2002-01-28 Nel Noddings one of the central figures in the contemporary discussion of ethics and moral education argues that caring a way of life learned at home can be extended into a theory that guides social policy Tackling issues such as capital punishment drug treatment homelessness mental illness and abortion Noddings inverts traditional philosophical priorities to show how an ethic of care can have profound and compelling implications for social and political thought Instead of beginning with an ideal state and then describing a role for home and family this book starts with an ideal home and asks how what is learned there may be extended to the larger social domain Noddings examines the tension between freedom and equality that characterized liberal thought in the twentieth century and finds that for all its strengths liberalism is still inadequate as social policy She suggests instead that an attitude of attentive love in the home induces a corresponding responsiveness that can serve as a foundation for social policy With her characteristic sensitivity to the individual and to the vulnerable in society the author concludes that any corrective practice that does more harm than the behavior it is aimed at correcting should be abandoned This suggests an end to the disastrous war on drugs In addition Noddings states that the caring professions that deal with the homeless should be guided by flexible policies that allow practitioners to respond adequately to the needs of very different clients She recommends that the school curriculum should include serious preparation for home life as well as for professional and civic life Emphasizing the importance of improving life in everyday homes and the possible role social policy might play in this improvement Starting at Home highlights the inextricable link between the development of care in individual lives and any discussion of moral life and social policy
