tragedy in the theatre of the contemporary Irish dramatist Marina Carr Through a comparison of the plays based on classical drama with their ancient models it investigates Carr's transformation not only of the narrative but also of the form of Greek tragedy As a religious and political institution of the 5th century Athenian democracy tragedy endorsed the sexist oppression of women Indeed the construction of female characters in Greek tragedy was entirely disconnected from the experience of womanhood lived by real women in order to embody the patriarchal values of Athenian democracy Whether praised for their passivity or demonized for showing unnatural agency and subjectivity women in Greek tragedy were conceived to reassert the supremacy of men Carr's theatre stands in stark opposition to such a purpose Focusing on women's struggle to achieve agency and subjectivity in a male dominated world her plays show the diversity of experiencing womanhood and sexist oppression in the Republic of Ireland and the Western societies more generally Yet Carr's enduring conversation with the classics in her theatre demonstrates the feminist willingness to alter the founding myths of Western civilisation to advocate for gender equality
