

Glory Movie Questions

1. How does the attitude of Colonel Robert Gould Shaw toward African-Americans change and why?

Colonel Shaw's attitude toward African-Americans changes over the course of the movie. At first, he is a white supremacist who believes that African-Americans are inferior to white people. However, as he spends more time with the 54th Massachusetts Infantry, he begins to see them as individuals and not just as a race. This change in attitude is what allows him to lead the regiment with respect and dignity.

2. What differences exist among the black soldiers who make up the 54th Massachusetts Infantry? What does this tell you about the different experiences of blacks in 19th-century America? What about their regions of origin, former status (enslaved), and educational background?

The 54th Massachusetts Infantry was a regiment of African-American soldiers who fought in the American Civil War. The regiment was made up of men from different parts of the country, including the North and South. This diversity of background and experience is what makes the regiment so unique.

3. What attitudes did white soldiers have about the 54th? Did these attitudes change and why?

At first, the white soldiers in the 54th were very hostile to the African-American soldiers. They believed that they were inferior and that they should not be allowed to fight in the same regiment as white soldiers. However, as the movie progresses, the white soldiers begin to see the African-American soldiers as individuals and not just as a race. This change in attitude is what allows the regiment to fight as a unified unit.

4. Were blacks treated equally to whites in the Union army? Explain.

No, African-American soldiers were not treated equally to white soldiers in the Union army. They were paid less than white soldiers and they were not allowed to hold the same positions as white soldiers. However, the movie shows that the African-American soldiers fought with the same courage and bravery as the white soldiers.

5. What is significant about Colonel Shaw's decision to refuse to surrender?

Colonel Shaw's decision to refuse to surrender is significant because it shows that he was willing to die for his men. This decision also shows that he was willing to fight for the freedom of African-Americans.

6. Did that incident end as you expected? What feelings/oughts does your tell, why?

The movie ends with the 54th Massachusetts Infantry being disbanded. This is a sad ending for the regiment, but it is also a testament to the courage and bravery of the African-American soldiers. The movie also shows that the white soldiers in the 54th were not all hostile to the African-American soldiers. Some of them were willing to fight alongside them and some of them were willing to die for them.
