Troubling Tricksters Deanna Reder, Linda M. Morra, 2010-02-10 Troubling Tricksters is a collection of theoretical essays creative pieces and critical ruminations that provides a re visioning of trickster criticism in light of recent backlash against it The complaints of some Indigenous writers the critique from Indigenous nationalist critics and the changing of academic fashion have resulted in few new studies on the trickster For example The Cambridge Companion to Native American Literature 2005 includes only a brief mention of the trickster with skeptical commentary And in 2007 Anishinaabe scholar Niigonweddom Sinclair a contributor to this volume called for a moratorium on studies of the trickster irrelevant to the specific experiences and interests of Indigenous nations One of the objectives of this anthology is then to encourage scholarship that is mindful of the critic s responsibility to communities and to focus discussions on incarnations of tricksters in their particular national contexts The contribution of Troubling Tricksters therefore is twofold to offer a timely counterbalance to this growing critical lacuna and to propose new approaches to trickster studies approaches that have been clearly influenced by the nationalists call for cultural and historical specificity

Cultural Grammars of Nation, Diaspora, and Indigeneity in Canada Christine Kim, Sophie McCall, Melina Baum Singer, 2012-05-09 Cultural Grammars of Nation Diaspora and Indigeneity in Canada considers how the terms of critical debate in literary and cultural studies in Canada have shifted with respect to race nation and difference In asking how Indigenous and diasporic interventions have remapped these debates the contributors argue that a new cultural grammar is at work and attempt to sketch out some of the ways it operates The essays reference pivotal moments in Canadian literary and cultural history and speak to ongoing debates about Canadian nationalism postcolonialism migrancy and transnationalism Topics covered include the Asian race riots in Vancouver in 1907 the cultural memory of internment and dispersal of Japanese Canadians in the 1940s the politics of migrant labour and the domestic labour scheme in the 1960s and the trial of

Robert Pickton in Vancouver in 2007 The contributors are particularly interested in how diaspora and indigeneity continue to contribute to this critical reconfiguration and in how conversations about diaspora and indigeneity in the Canadian context have themselves been transformed Cultural Grammars is an attempt to address both the interconnections and the schisms between these multiply fractured critical terms as well as the larger conceptual shifts that have occurred in response to national and postnational arguments
