Making Meaning by Making Connections Kathy L. Schuh, 2016-10-20 This book documents those first links that students make between content they learn in their classrooms and their prior experiences Through six late elementary school case studies these knowledge construction links are brought to life The links of the students are often rich in describing who these individuals are where they are in their learning process and what is meaningful to them Many times these links point to what has been learned both in and out of school and the contexts when and where that learning took place The mind as rhizome metaphor was used to guide the development and interpretation of the studies while the lens of Peircian semiotics provides an interpretation for these initial links The resulting grounded theory is presented through a rich and extensive presentation of excerpts from classroom observations student interviews and a student writing activity and describes the varying types of student links how the links were prompted the relationships between what the students were learning and what they already knew and specific types of in school links The narrative includes how these links were supported or inhibited in the classroom drawing on the roles of the teachers in the classrooms and what constituted authority sources of information in those classrooms Before exploring the students linking as a process of ongoing semiosis and how this process is part of a dynamic system a study of the relationship between student knowledge links and achievement is shared This rich narrative will be of interest to scholars and practitioners alike and includes an extensive appendix documenting the research methods

Reality Checks Tony Stead, 2023-10-10 Teaching comprehension with informational texts is a critical component of any reading program and one that many children struggle with as they progress through their schooling Nonfiction can be overwhelming to young readers presenting them with complex vocabulary and a new density of information that may combine text diagrams pictures captions and other devices Reality Checks Teaching Reading Comprehension with Non Fiction K 5 offers insights into why children struggle when faced with informational reading and practical concepts skills and strategies that help them navigate nonfiction successfully In this book Tony Stead provides wonderful ways to enhance children's understanding and engagement when reading for information He outlines practical approaches to ensure all children can become confident and competent readers of nonfiction Part one examines effective ways to teach children how to extract the information that is explicitly stated in a text Covered are strategies such as using prior knowledge retelling locating specific information and the role of nonfiction read alouds Part two explores interpreting information including making connections between the text the reader and the outside world making inferences and making revisions to inferences based on reflection Part three looks at evaluating information assisting children in developing critical reading skills differentiating fact from opinion locating author bias and identifying techniques writers use to persuade readers thinking Part four offers an array of practical ways to reinforce and extend children s nonfiction reading skills including working with visual information such as maps and diagrams It also provides pre and post assessment strategies procedures for monitoring progress curriculum planning ideas and instruction on guided reading
