Making A Killing Femicide Free Trade And La Frontera Chicana Matters:

Making a Killing Alicia Gaspar de Alba, Georgina Guzmán, 2010-11-01 Since 1993 more than five hundred women and girls have been murdered in Ciudad Juarez across the border from El Paso Texas At least a third have been sexually violated and mutilated as well Thousands more have been reported missing and remain unaccounted for The crimes have been poorly investigated and have gone unpunished and unresolved by Mexican authorities thus creating an epidemic of misogynist violence on an increasingly globalized U S Mexico border This book the first anthology to focus exclusively on the Juarez femicides as the crimes have come to be known compiles several different scholarly interventions from diverse perspectives including feminism Marxism critical race theory semiotics and textual analysis Editor Alicia Gaspar de Alba shapes a multidisciplinary analytical framework for considering the interconnections between gender violence and the U S Mexico border The essays examine the social and cultural conditions that have led to the heinous victimization of women on the border from globalization free trade agreements exploitative maquiladora working conditions and border politics to the sexist attitudes that pervade the social discourse about the victims The book also explores the evolving social movement that has been created by NGOs mothers organizing efforts and other grassroots forms of activism related to the crimes Contributors include U S and Mexican scholars and activists as well as personal testimonies of two mothers of femicide victims

[Un]framing the "Bad Woman" Alicia Gaspar de Alba, 2014-07-15 One of America's leading interpreters of the Chicana experience dismantles the discourses that frame women who rebel against patriarchal strictures as bad women and offers empowering models of struggle resistance and rebirth

Border Killers Elizabeth Villalobos, 2024-05-14 Border Killers delves into how recent Mexican creators have reported analyzed distended and refracted the increasingly violent world of neoliberal Mexico especially its versions of masculinity By looking to the insights of artists writers and filmmakers Elizabeth Villalobos offers a path for making sense and critiquing very real border violence in contemporary Mexico Villalobos focuses on representations of border killers in literature film and theater The author develops a metaphor of maquilization to describe the mass production of masculine violence as a result of neoliberalism The author demonstrates that the killer is an interchangeable cog in a societal factory of violence whose work is to produce dead bodies By turning to cultural narratives Villalobos seeks to counter the sensationalistic and stereotyped media depictions of border residents as criminals The cultural works she examines instead indict the Mexican state and the global economic system for producing agents of violence Focusing on both Mexico's northern and southern borders Border Killers uses Achille Mbembe's concept of necropolitics and various theories of masculinity to argue that contemporary Mexico is home to a form of necropolitical masculinity that has flourished in the neoliberal era and made the exercise of death both profitable and necessary for the functioning of Mexico's state cartel corporate governance matrix
