Making Innovations Happen Ravi Arora, 2015-07-13 The journey from idea to innovation is fraught with risks uncertainty and ambiguity This journey needs a lot of perseverance from the teams that work on such ideas It also needs a lot of courage by the senior management to allow their teams comprising very capable people to work on such projects the output of which is uncertain Organizations are expected and designed to deliver on a consistent and predictable manner Any adverse deviation from the predicted outcomes are punished by the investors While business leaders and the board are keen that their company performs equally well on innovation the pressure of short term results and fear of failure need leaders to be courageous to start this journey The Book offers several ideas for the Board and Senior Leaders to induce and drive innovations They include newer ways to incentivize ingenuity including compensating executives across the board for nurturing creativity with a long term focus on execution It also suggests creative yet pragmatic ways to make the innovation plan and its execution measurable flexible and nimble The book also seeks to unravel cultural nuances that can either significantly drive or impede inventiveness It proposes several tips for the organizational practitioners to benefit from and aims to enhance the innovation quotient from ideation to execution Managers CEOs and Board members of modern day organizations can draw useful insights from the many narratives the book provides Written in the mold of a fictional novel set in a Socratic style of dialogues the book reveals a mix of truths with myths and jubilation with tribulations all in the interest of bringing newer perspectives and solutions to benefit the readers

Making Innovations Happen Ravi Arora, 2015-10-17 The journey from idea to innovation is fraught with risks and uncertainty It requires a great deal of courage and perseverance from the teams that work on innovative ideas as well as from senior management to embark on innovations without knowing whether they will be successful This book by Ravi Arora who is responsible for the innovation programme at the Tata Group details a new method known as the Innovation Foresight programme The programme is designed to drive innovations in an organization ensuring that the initiatives enjoy every stakeholder s active engagement Most importantly it strives to ensure that an organization does not lose sight of innovation opportunities whether big or small Written in a narrative framework featuring two young managers Paul and Jiao who have been tasked with driving innovations in their respective companies Making Innovations Happen is an insider s guide to building a culture of innovation The book also suggests creative yet pragmatic ways to make the innovation plan and its execution measurable flexible and nimble The book also seeks to unravel cultural nuances that can either significantly drive or impede inventiveness It proposes several tips for the organizational practitioners to benefit from and aims to enhance the innovation quotient from ideation to execution Managers CEOs and Board members of modern day organizations can draw useful insights from the many narratives the book provides Agricultural Innovation Systems The World Bank,2012-02-21 Managing the ability of agriculture to meet rising global demand and to respond to the changes and opportunities will require good policy sustained investments and innovation not business as usual Investments in public Research and Development extension education and their links with one another have elicited high returns and pro poor growth but these investments alone will not elicit innovation at the pace or on the scale required by the intensifying and proliferating challenges confronting agriculture Experience indicates that aside from a strong capacity in Research and Development the ability to innovate is often related to collective action coordination the exchange of knowledge among diverse actors the incentives and resources available to form partnerships and develop businesses and conditions that make it possible for farmers or entrepreneurs to use the innovations While consensus is developing about what is meant by innovation and innovation system no detailed blueprint exists for making agricultural innovation happen at a given time in a given place for a given result The AIS approach that looks at these multiple conditions and relationships that promote innovation in agriculture has however moved from a concept to a sub discipline with principles of analysis and action AIS investments must be specific to the context responding to the stage of development in a particular country and agricultural sector especially the AIS This sourcebook contributes to identifying designing and implementing the investments approaches and complementary interventions that appear most likely to strengthen AIS and to promote agricultural innovation and equitable growth It emphasizes the lessons learned benefits and impacts implementation issues and prospects for replicating or expanding successful practices The information in this sourcebook derives from approaches that have been tested at different scales in different contexts It reflects the experiences and evolving understanding of numerous individuals and organizations concerned with agricultural innovation including the World Bank This information is targeted to the key operational staff in international and regional development agencies and national governments who design and implement lending projects and to the practitioners who design thematic programs and technical assistance packages The sourcebook can also be an important resource for the research community and nongovernmental organizations NGOs Reflexive Governance for Sustainable Development Jan-Peter Voß,Dierk Bauknecht,René Kemp,2006-01-01 This book deals with the issue of sustainable development in a novel and innovative way It examines the governance implications of reflexive modernisation the condition that societal development is endangered by its own side effects With conceptualising reflexive governance the book leads a way out of endless quarrels about the definition of sustainability and into a new mode of collective action Capabilities, Innovation and Economic Growth Michele Capriati,2017-07-28 The question of whether we can foster growth and innovation while promoting individual freedoms poses a challenge for everyone studying and working on innovation and development policies. Whilst innovation literature is largely dominated by a focus on efficiency, development literature tends to focus on equality and pays less attention to mechanisms fostering economic and social change. This book aims to move beyond these barriers and to identify development policies that foster both efficiency and equality, exploring the connection between innovation policies and the improvement of individual freedoms. Capabilities, Innovation and Economic Growth argues that we can answer these questions by focusing on the relation between Amartya Sen's human development approach and the Neo-Schumpeterian analysis of innovation systems. After considering the connections between the two schools of thought and the way they enrich each other's perspectives, chapters go on to show how policy can support virtuous circles in which innovation, human development and economic growth interact and mutually reinforce each other. This is undertaken through the descriptive analysis and the empirical testing of a sample of nations and European regions. The volume concludes with an exploration of the contribution that the capabilities approach can give to the design of innovation policy and with the analysis of macroeconomic policies favorable to innovation and human development. This will be essential reading for students and academic economists interested in development, growth and innovation policy makers and officers in charge of defining development and innovation plans at national and regional level and consultants and managers in development agencies implementing innovation and development projects.

Recent Developments in Foresight Methodologies Maria Giaoutzi, Bartolomeo Sapio, 2012-11-28. Foresight is an area within Futures Studies that focuses on critical thinking concerning long-term developments, whether within the public sector or in industry and management and is something of a sub-section of complexity and network science. This book examines developments in foresight methodologies and relates in its greater part to the work done in the context of the COSTA22 network of the EU on Foresight Methodologies. Foresight is a professional practice that supports significant decisions and as such it needs to be more assured of its claims to knowledge methodology. Foresight is practiced across many domains and is not the preserve of specialized futurists or indeed of foresight specialists. However, the disciplines of foresight are not well articulated or disseminated across domains leading to re inventions and practice that does not make best use of experience in other domains The methodological development of foresight is an important task that aims at strengthening the pool of the tools available for application thereby empowering the actors involved in foresight practice Elaborating further on methodological issues such as those presented in the present book enables the actors involved in foresight to begin to critique current practice from this perspective and thirdly to begin to design foresight practice The present trends towards methodological concerns indicates a move from given expert predicted futures to one in which futures are nurtured through a dialogue among stakeholders The book has four parts each elaborating on a set of aspects of foresight methodologies After an introductory section Part II considers theorizing about foresight methodologies Part III covers system content issues and Part IV presents foresight tools and approaches
