Last Project Standing Catherine Fennell, 2015-11-28 In 1995 a half vacant public housing project on Chicago's Near West Side fell to the wrecking ball The demolition and reconstruction of the Henry Horner housing complex ushered in the most ambitious urban housing experiment of its kind smaller mixed income and partially privatized developments that the thinking went would mitigate the insecurity isolation and underemployment that plagued Chicago's infamously troubled public housing projects Focusing on Horner's redevelopment Catherine Fennell asks how Chicago's endeavor transformed everyday built environments into laboratories for teaching urbanites about the rights and obligations of belonging to a city and a nation that seemed incapable of taking care of its most destitute citizens Drawing on more than three years of ethnographic and archival research she shows how collisions with everything from haywire heating systems and decaying buildings to silent neighbors became an education in the possibilities but also the limits of collective care concern and protection in the aftermath of welfare failure As she documents how the materiality of both the unsuccessful older projects and the recently emerging housing fosters feelings of belonging and loss her work engages larger debates in critical anthropology and poverty studies and opens a vital new perspective on the politics of space race and development in urban America Bulls Markets

Sean Dinces, 2018-11-23 An unvarnished look at the economic and political choices that reshaped contemporary Chicago arguably for the worse The 1990s were a glorious time for the Chicago Bulls an age of historic championships and all time basketball greats like Scottie Pippen and Michael Jordan It seemed only fitting that city county and state officials would assist the team owners in constructing a sparkling new venue to house this incredible team that was identified worldwide with Chicago That arena the United Center is the focus of Bulls Markets an unvarnished look at the economic and political choices that forever reshaped one of America's largest cities arguably for the worse Sean Dinces shows how the construction of the United Center reveals the fundamental problems with neoliberal urban development The pitch for building the arena was fueled by promises of private funding and equitable revitalization in a long blighted neighborhood However the effort was funded in large part by municipal tax breaks that few ordinary Chicagoans knew about and that wound up exacerbating the rising problems of gentrification and wealth stratification In this portrait of the construction of the United Center and the urban life that developed around it Dinces starkly depicts a pattern of inequity that has become emblematic of contemporary American cities governments and sports franchises collude to provide amenities for the wealthy at the expense of poorer citizens diminishing their experiences as fans and far worse creating an urban environment that is regulated and surveilled for the comfort and protection of that same moneyed elite The Future of Fallout, and Other Episodes in Radioactive

World-Making Joseph Masco, 2020-12-18 In The Future of Fallout and Other Episodes in Radioactive World Making Joseph Masco examines the strange American intimacy with and commitment to existential danger Tracking the simultaneous production of nuclear emergency and climate disruption since 1945 he focuses on the psychosocial accommodations as well as the technological revolutions that have produced these linked planetary scale disasters Masco assesses the memory practices visual culture concepts of danger and toxic practices that in combination have generated a U S national security culture that promises ever more safety and comfort in everyday life but does so only by generating and deferring a vast range of violences into the collective future Interrogating how this existential lag i e the material and conceptual fallout of the twentieth century in the form of nuclear weapons and petrochemical capitalism informs life in the twenty first century Masco identifies key moments when other futures were still possible and seeks to activate an alternative postnational security political imaginary in support of collective life today Media Hot and Cold Nicole Starosielski,2021-10-04 In Media Hot and Cold Nicole Starosielski examines the cultural dimensions of temperature to theorize the ways heat and cold can be used as a means of communication subjugation and control Diving into the history of thermal media from infrared cameras to thermostats to torture sweatboxes Starosielski explores the many meanings and messages of temperature During the twentieth century heat and cold were broadcast through mass thermal media Today digital thermal media such as bodily air conditioners offer personalized forms of thermal communication and comfort Although these new media promise to help mitigate the uneven effects of climate change Starosielski shows how they can operate as a form of biopower by determining who has the ability to control their own thermal environment In this way thermal media can enact thermal violence in ways that reinforce racialized colonial gendered and sexualized hierarchies By outlining how the control of temperature reveals power relations Starosielski offers a framework to better understand the dramatic transformations of hot and cold media in the twenty first century New Society ,1985-07 The Library Association Record Library Association,1985 Proceedings of the 22d 33d annual conference of the Library Association in v 1 12 proceedings of the 34th 44th 47th 57th annual conference issued as a supplement to v 13 23 new ser v 3 ser 4 v 1 Congressional Record United States.
