Sabin,1999 The Gregg Reference Manual is a handbook of grammar usage primarily intended for office administration students. Students in this market spend most of their time editing reports and letters for grammar style and format. With the Gregg manual students become proficient at editing business communication through the instruction on grammar spelling usage and have exercises to refine their skills in the accompanying worksheets. This edition has been updated to include only references to word processing software while eliminating mention of the typewriter. This fourth edition incorporates the latest advice from language authorities usage guides and new editions of major style manuals including The Chicago Manual of Style. It registers the tectonic shifts in twenty-first century copyediting: preparing text for digital formats using new technologies; addressing global audiences; complying with plain language mandates ensuring accessibility and serving self-publishing authors and authors writing in English as a second language. The new edition also adds an extensive annotated list of editorial tools and references and includes a bit of light entertainment for language lovers such as a brief history of punctuation marks that didn't make the grade, the strange case of razbliuto and a few Easter eggs awaiting discovery by keen-eyed readers. The fourth edition features updates on the transformation of editorial roles in today's publishing environment; new applications, processes and protocols for on-screen editing; major changes in editorial resources such as online dictionaries and language corpora; new grammar and usage authorities; online editorial communities and web-based research tools.
