Going Nuclear Ireland Britain And The Campaign To Close Sellafield:

Going Nuclear Veronica McDermott, 2008 Energy crises and climate change have revived interest in the nuclear option as the first decade of the twenty first century edges towards an uncertain close Going Nuclear is essential reading for anyone seeking to understand the origins and landmark developments of the nuclear age why civil nuclear power became an iconic protest issue in the late twentieth century and the lessons we may draw from that as we confront the most serious environmental problems threatening our planet and human civilisation

Nuclear Power Policies in Britain Lucie de Carvalho, 2022-10-11 Nuclear power is a most fascinating research object technological by nature it involves a socio cultural imagery embedded in the broader framework of a country's societal and political traditions and practices The aims of Nuclear Power Policies in Britain are twofold being both empirical and theoretical on the one hand it tackles the debates factors or issues bewildering nuclear decisions in the UK and on the other it addresses the broader question of government leverage and governance in today's neoliberal context Analysing the current British nuclear policy ignites a broader discussion about the abilities and leverage of the state to spur innovation and influence technological political decisions in a neoliberal context Neoliberalism is thus used as both a theoretical framework and a normative political doctrine This book delves into a much topical and critical facet of today's British politics opening up inroads into a wide range of fundamental questions regarding public policy dynamics the critical function of energy choices the roles of the public in national industrial projects and the impact of international regulation on national constraints

Nuclear Power in Britain and Germany: Culture, Emotions, and Rationality Christian Götter, 2025-07-28 Split into two volumes volume 1 is a cultural history of technology that provides new insights into the international history of nuclear energy by examining the perspectives of six nuclear power plants host communities in Britain and Germany from the 1950s to the late 1980s Based upon a continuous qualitative analysis of the public debates in these communities this book demonstrates that the societal conflicts about atomic power were never confined to the risks of one exceptional energy technology Instead they were shaped by larger societal issues which they in turn heavily influenced Therefore the local discourses about nuclear energy provide an insight into transformations the British and German societies underwent during the Cold War The book will be of value for scholars and students interested in the history of technology environmental political and contemporary history as well as science and technology studies It will be of interest to researchers and members of the public interested in the local history of Biblis Hinkley Point Lingen Oldbury on Severn Stade and Torness as well as the wider public interested in the ongoing debates about nuclear power as a source of energy and a potential answer to the challenges of climate change

Nuclear Power in Britain and Germany: Trust, Democracy, and Futures Christian Götter, 2025-07-28 Split into two volumes volume 2 is a cultural history of technology that provides new insights into the international history of nuclear energy by examining the perspectives of six nuclear power plants host communities in Britain and Germany from the 1950s to the late 1980s Based upon a continuous qualitative analysis of the public debates in these communities this book demonstrates that the societal conflicts about atomic power were never confined to the risks of one exceptional energy technology. Instead they were shaped by larger societal issues which they in turn heavily influenced. Therefore the local discourses about nuclear energy provide an insight into transformations the British and German societies underwent during the Cold War. The book will be of value for scholars and students interested in the history of technology, environmental, political and contemporary history as well as science and technology studies. It will be of interest to researchers and members of the public interested in the local history of Bilibis, Hinkley Point, Lingens, Oldbury on Severn, Sellafield and Torness as well as the wider public interested in the ongoing debates about nuclear power as a source of energy and a potential answer to the challenges of climate change.

The Japanese Effect in Contemporary Irish Poetry Irene De Angelis, 2016-04-30 The Japanese Effect in Contemporary Irish Poetry provides a stimulating original and lively analysis of the Irish-Japanese literary connection from the early 1960s to 2007. While for some this may partly remain Oscar Wilde's mode of style, this book will show that there is more of Japan in the work of contemporary Irish poets than a tinkling of china and tea into china. Drawing on unpublished new sources, Irene De Angelis includes poets from a broad range of cultural backgrounds with richly varied styles. Seamus Heaney, Derek Mahon, Ciaran Carson and Paul Muldoon together with younger poets such as Sinéad Morrissey and Joseph Woods. Including close readings of selected poems, this is an indispensable companion for all those interested in the broader historical and cultural research on the effect of oriental literature in modernist and postmodernist Irish poetry. Irish Business and Society John Hogan, Paul F. Donnelly, Brendan K. O'Rourke, 2010-10-29 A collection of stimulating essays exploring the wide-ranging debates surrounding the relationship between business and society in 21st-century Ireland. Wide-ranging, diverse and thought-provoking contributions from leading business researchers, economists, sociologists and political scientists from Ireland and abroad probe five central themes: the making and unmaking of the Celtic Tiger, governance, regulation and justice, partnership and participation, the nature of Irish borders in Ireland, Europe and the wider world, and interests and concerns in contemporary Ireland. Irish Business and Society takes a critical look at Ireland as one of the most open and globally integrated economies in the world, with the activities of Irish and Irish-based foreign business impacting on both national and international societies and businesses. It discusses the relationships between business and society within the context of the wider Irish and European political economy, presents the Irish economic decisions and conditions that precipitated the current recession in Ireland and the resultant lessons to be learned, and examines the relationship between Irish business and society today, contemplating how it might develop into the future. Essential reading for students of Irish Business, Economics, Sociology and Politics, those taking Irish Studies courses, and anyone interested in contemporary Ireland. The contributors are Nicola Timoney, Frank Barry, Mary P. Murphy, William Kingston, Niamh M. Brennan, Rebecca Maughan, Roderick Maguire, Gillian Smith, Conor McGrath, Connie Harris, Ostwald, Kevin O'Leary, Jesse J. Norris, Orla McCarthy, Robert
