Adulthood Rita M. Curl-Langager, 2024-04-29 Adulthood: An Introduction offers a thorough foundation to learn, consolidate, and apply developmental concepts and current knowledge to the psychology of adult development. It illustrates major ideas with carefully selected research that is widely referenced and topically pertinent to development in early, middle, and late adulthood. This comprehensive text reviews the five domains of development: biological development, cognitive development, personality development, social development, and ecological influences in development. It introduces multicultural perspectives and contexts in these discussions, as well as developmental themes such as nature and nurture, early and later experiences, and the individual's active role. Accompanied by learning objectives and section reviews, vignettes portray numerous adult experiences, and commentaries for students offer additional information and interpretation with the student's perspective in mind. Designed to encourage students to think critically about topics of adulthood in both academic and applied settings, Adulthood is appropriate for undergraduate students in psychology and related disciplines such as addiction studies, speech pathology, criminal justice, nursing, and business. Combined with a complete ancillary package, the book provides activities for individuals and groups, critical thinking questions, vignette-specific questions and responses, perspectives across disciplines, and much more. Additional resources for both students and instructors are available in the book's Support Material.

Resilient Grandparent Caregivers Bert Hayslip, Gregory C. Smith, 2013 The study of grandparents raising grandchildren, now almost two decades old, has tended to have a negative bias, emphasizing the difficulties such people face and the negative impact that grandparent caregiving has on them physically, socially, and emotionally. This edited book seeks to reverse this trend by taking a positive approach to understanding grandparent caregivers, focusing on their resilience and resourcefulness. This method reflects a strengths-based approach and the importance of benefit finding and positive coping. Chapters feature information from both qualitative and quantitative studies and are written by a diverse range of professionals such as counselors, psychologists, geriatric social workers, and nurse practitioners to provide multidisciplinary perspectives for practitioners working with grandparent caregivers. Part one discusses the positive qualities that custodial grandparents possess: resilience, resourcefulness, and benefit finding. The second part considers the sociocultural aspects of resilience and resourcefulness in grandparent caregivers. Finally, part three presents strengths-based interventions for working with custodial grandparents. Practitioners will find this to be a valuable resource in their work, and the field as a whole stimulating positive changes in attitudes toward and practices with grandparent caregivers.

Geriatric Oncology Arti Hurria, Lodovico Balducci, 2009-07-14 Cancer and aging are integrally related. Cancer incidence and mortality increase with age, with most cancer diagnoses and deaths occurring in patients aged 65 and older. The aging of the Baby Boomer population, along with an overall increase in life expectancy, points to a doubling of the U S population over age 65 by the year 2030 This demographic shift combined with the known association of cancer and aging is expected to bring about a rapid growth in the older cancer patient population It is clear that geriatric principles must become part of oncology care The evaluation and development of treatment recommendations for an older adult with cancer can be challenging for many reasons Tumor biology and response to therapy are affected by age In addition age related factors may impact treatment patterns tolerance and efficacy These age related factors include functional status declines comorbid conditions changes in cognitive function weakening of organ function decreases in physiologic reserve and faltering social support
