Self-Processes, Learning and Enabling Human Potential

Herbert Marsh, Rhonda G. Craven, Dennis M. McInerney, 2008-04-01 This volume deals with a wealth of issues related to self from the overarching theoretical perspective of Bandura and his careful and thorough analysis of the agentic self highlighting the complexities of our multiple selves acting in an integrated holistic and dynamic fashion to the engaging and novel treatment of self concept as a rope by John Hattie From many of the chapters we see the utility value of the social cognitive theory and self determination theory frameworks for interpreting self processes and how these processes might drive engagement in learning In particular we see how autonomy support self regulation self efficacy and self regulation are part and parcel of self processes intimately involved as individuals work out their futures and possible selves Entwined with these processes are the development of identity resilience and a sense of well being The BFLPE and bullying chapters provide two examples of self processes in operation in the school context What can we take from this Self processes are complex differentiated and yet coordinated By focusing on the agentic self we consider the whole person picture as a rich integrated and dynamic tapestry and by focusing on differentiated self elements such as self regulation self determination self concept and self efficacy we are able to examine in more detail some of the individual threads of the tapestry and the roles they play in the integrated self Overall we learn that self processes are dynamic and are fundamental to enabling human potential SAGE Handbook of Research on Classroom Assessment James H.
