Handbook Higher Education Faculty Principles:

Handbook for Higher Education Faculty David Garrett Way, 2015-12-01 This book has been written and organized to prepare critically reflective teachers to take their place in society and to do that with the knowledge personal framework and tools to be successful the reader will begin with an exploration of the role of higher education its history and development in influencing society He will examine how being critically reflective can serve as a fundamental principle to guide our professional journey She will start drawing the under painting of a self portrait of our identities to see what anchors us to our unique qualities that set us apart as individuals and will help inform our professional decisions and life path Out of the heightened awareness of our identities and experience we ll initiate crafting a framework by which we think and are guided in our teaching practice Readers will engage in exercises to flesh out this framework by unpacking our learning experiences and articulating what was previously implicit our personal theories of teaching and learning Readers will experiment with ways in which we become more conscious of how our thinking and feelings inform our actions and how this increased consciousness can guide us in creating powerful and compelling learning experiences for our students We ll look at the changing population of diverse higher education students and how we can build community with them by using our sense of identity as a bridge Readers will learn to revise artifacts from our academic experiences to serve as benchmarks of our professional development and the major skill areas of teaching preparing to teach successfully executing our teaching plans in and out of the classroom to encourage deep and lasting learning in our students effectively assessing their learning as an authentic process and how to document all these efforts throughout our careers for our own development and in preparation for when we are evaluated by others I look forward to our collaborative journey together Resources in Education

Teaching and Learning at a Distance Michael Simonson, Susan M. Zvacek, Sharon Smaldino, 2019-07-01 Teaching and Learning at a Distance is written for introductory distance education courses for preservice or in service teachers and for training programs that discuss teaching distant learners or managing distance education systems This text provides readers with the basic information needed to be knowledgeable distance educators and leaders of distance education programs The teacher or trainer who uses this book will be able to distinguish between appropriate uses of distance education In this text we take the following themes The first theme is the definition of distance education Before we started writing the first edition of Teaching and Learning at a Distance we carefully reviewed the literature to determine the definition that would be at the foundation of our writing This definition is based on the work of Desmond Keegan but is unique to this book This definition of distance education has been adopted by the Association for Educational Communications and Technology and by the Encyclopedia Britannica The second theme of the book was the importance of research to the development of the contents of the book The best practices presented in Teaching and Learning at a Distance are validated by scientific evidence Certainly there are rules of thumb but we have always attempted to only include recommendations that can be supported by research The third theme of Teaching and Learning at a Distance is derived from Richard Clark s famous quote published in the Review of Educational Research that states that media are mere vehicles that do not directly influence achievement Clark's controversial work is discussed in the book but is also fundamental to the book's advocacy for distance education in other words we authors did not make the claim that education delivered at a distance was inherently better than other ways people learn Distance delivered instruction is not a magical approach that makes learners achieve more The fourth theme of the book is equivalency theory Here we presented the concept that instruction should be provided to learners that is equivalent rather than identical to what might be delivered in a traditional environment Equivalency theory helps the instructional designer approach the development of instruction for each learner without attempting to duplicate what happens in a face to face classroom The final theme for Teaching and Learning at a Distance is the idea that the book should be comprehensive that it should cover as much of the various ways instruction is made available to distant learners as is possible It should be a single source of information about the field
