

Graphology

Explained

A WORKBOOK

Barry Branston

The bottom section of the page features a dense collection of handwritten cursive text and annotations. The text includes phrases such as "I go", "we take part", "your party did say you are", "a lonely person and I would", and "I analyze me". Red arrows and lines are drawn over the handwriting to highlight specific features, such as loops, ascenders, and descenders. Some annotations include labels like "normal lower case", "heart shaped circles", "unreliable", "infective style", "small circles", "large script", and "used". The background is filled with various other handwritten words and symbols, creating a complex and detailed visual field of cursive script analysis.
