Greening Modernism Preservation Sustainability And The Modern Movement:

Greening Modernism Carl Stein, 2010-10-26 Greening Modernism addresses the interrelationships between sustainability architectural preservation and the Modern movement and places these issues into historical perspective For the past quarter century mainstream architecture has proceeded on the underlying belief that we have the resources to build whatever and as much as we want and that technology can overcome any problems we create for ourselves through our building activities The serious shortages that now confront us demand a thorough reevaluation of this premise Carl Stein nationally recognized for his contributions to the field of sustainable design connects the impact of individual building design decisions to the global energy and environmental crises He sets out the argument for sustainability inherent in Modern design identifying tenets that are intrinsic to contemporary ecological thinking and he provides the nuts and bolts information to assist practitioners and students of architecture engineering planning and environmentalism in specific building upgrade projects While not a how to handbook Greening Modernism provides quantitative data and describes the environmental benefits from the continued use of the vast inventory of modern buildings including reduced demand for energy and other finite resources and reduced need for waste processing Greening Modernism explains the relationships between design and technology in the pre petroleum early petroleum and late petroleum eras and goes on to suggest opportunities for architecture in a post petroleum world

The Greening of Architecture Phillip James Tabb, A. Senem Deviren, 2017-03-02 Contemporary architecture and the culture it reflects dependent as it is on fossil fuels has contributed to the cause and necessity of a burgeoning green process that emerged over the past half century This text is the first to offer a comprehensive critical history and analysis of the greening of architecture through accumulative reduction of negative environmental effects caused by buildings urban designs and settlements Describing the progressive development of green architecture from 1960 to 2010 it illustrates how it is ever evolving and ameliorated through alterations in form technology materials and use and it examines different places worldwide that represent a diversity of cultural and climatic contexts The book is divided into seven chapters with an overview of the environmental issues and the nature of green architecture in response to them followed by an historic perspective of the pioneering evolution of green technology and architectural integration over the past five decades and finally providing the intransigent and culturally pervasive current examples within a wide range of geographic territories The greening of architecture is seen as an evolutionary process that is informed by significant world events climate change environmental theories movements in architecture technological innovations and seminal works in architecture and planning throughout each decade over the past fifty years This time period is bounded on one end by the awareness of environmental problems beginning in the 1960 s the influential texts by Rachel Carson E F Schumacher Buckminster Fuller and Steward Brand and the impact of the OPEC Oil Embargo of 1973 and on the other end the pervasiveness of the necessary greening of architecture that includes systemic reforms in architectural and urban design land use planning transportation agriculture and energy production found in the 2000 s The greening process moves from remediation to holistic models of architecture Geographical landscapes give a global account of the greening process where some examples are parallel and sympathetic and others are in clear contrast to one another with very individuated approaches Certain events like the Rio Summit in 1992 and Kyoto Protocol in 1997 and themes such as the Hannover Principles in 2000 provide a dynamic ideological critique as well as a formal and technical discussion of the embodied and accumulative content of greening principles in architecture

New Approaches, Methods, and Tools in Urban E-Planning Nunes Silva, Carlos, 2018-05-18 Recent advances in information and communication technologies have enhanced the standards of metropolitan planning and development With the increase in mobile communication this will help to deliver innovative new services and apps in the field of urban e planning New Approaches Methods and Tools in Urban E Planning is a key resource for the latest academic research on recent innovations in urban e planning citizen e participation the use of social media and new forms of data collection and idea generation for urban planning Presenting broad coverage among a variety of pertinent views and themes such as ethnography e consultation and civic engagement this book is ideally designed for planners policymakers researchers and graduate students interested in how recent technological advancements are enhancing the traditional practices in e planning

Sustainability Steven A. Moore, 2016-07-04 This second edition of Pragmatic Sustainability proposes a pragmatic discursive and pluralistic approach to thinking about sustainability Rather than suggesting a single solution to the problem of how to live sustainably this collection discusses broader approaches to social and environmental change Eight continuing authors and seven new ones adjust their dispositions toward rapidly changing and still unsustainable conditions forging agreements and disagreements on five overlapping themes the Grounds for Sustainability the critique of Technological Culture the need to conceive of Sustainability in Place in Cities finally asking how should we reimagine the fraught relationship between Civil Society Industry and Regulation Editor Steven A Moore asks how a set of ideas now more than a century old remains relevant A partial answer can be found in reconstructing the very modern ideas confronted by those who came to call themselves

Pragmatists at the beginning of the twentieth century evolution ecology and design Moore argues that we have yet to develop dispositions in theory and practice that critically integrate these ideas into sustainable development In sum this new edition provides a fresh and hopeful look at the wicked problems deliberated by almost anyone engaged in adapting to the always changing conditions of the built world The Innovative Use of Materials in Architecture and Landscape

Architecture Caren Yglesias,2014-02-21 This book is about materials The fundamental properties and technical aspects are reviewed within a context of a material s history the theories of its meaning and making and its use Information about the sustainability aspects of each material is included as a critical necessity in construction Innovative design comes from an understanding of materials for what they are how they have been used in the past and how they can support human activity The author provides essential information to students and professionals concerned with advancing their design at a time when the consumption of natural resources and the consequences of wasteful practices are of urgent concern Instructors considering this book for use in a course may request an examination copy here Geospatial Research: Concepts, Methodologies, Tools, and Applications Management Association, Information Resources,2016-04-11 Having the ability to measure and explore the geographic space that surrounds us provides endless opportunities for us to utilize and interact with the world As a broad field of study geospatial research has applications in a variety of fields including military science environmental science civil engineering and space exploration Geospatial Research Concepts Methodologies Tools and Applications is a multi volume publication highlighting critical topics related to geospatial analysis geographic information systems and geospatial technologies Exploring multidisciplinary applications of geographic information systems and technologies in addition to the latest trends and developments in the field this publication is ideal for academic and government library inclusion as well as for reference by data scientists engineers government agencies researchers and graduate level students in GIS programs Envisioning the Futures - Designing and Building for People and the Environment

Rossano Albatici,Michela Dalprà,Maria Paola Gatti,Gianluca Maracchini,Simone Torresin,2025-09-30 This book gathers the proceedings of the 12th International Conference of Ar Tec Scientific Society of Architectural Engineering Colloqui AT e which was held in Trento Italy on June 11 14 2025 and brought together scholars in the fields of construction and conservation history building construction and performance building design and technologies Digital transition and design of 4 0 buildings digital twins for the management of historical building heritage building human environment relationships and mitigation of vulnerabilities for the preservation of the built environment are also explored The contributions demonstrate that architectural engineering enables the construction of sustainable resilient adaptive and high performance buildings and as such is instrumental in fighting against climate change Industrial Heritage Sites in Transformation Harald A. Mieg,Heike Oevermann,2014-08-07 The management of industrial heritage sites requires rethinking in the context of urban change and the issue of how to balance protection preservation conservation and development becomes all the more crucial as industrial heritage sites grow in number. This brings into play new challenges not only through the known conflicts between monument preservation and contemporary architecture but also with the increasing demand for economic urban development by reusing the built heritage of former industrial sites. This book explores the conservation and change of industrial heritage sites in transformation, presenting and examining ten European and Asian case studies. The interdisciplinary approach of the book connects a diversity of rationales and discourses including monument protection, World Heritage conventions, urban regeneration, urban planning and design, architecture and politics. This is the first book to deepen the understanding of industrial heritage site management as a networked multi-dimensional task involving diverse social agents and societal discourses.

Architecture for Teens Danielle Willkens, 2021-03-23 A practical introduction to architecture for aspiring teen architects. Architecture is a fascinating, diverse field that blends technology, creativity, engineering, and even psychology. Discover the possibilities with this in-depth choice in architecture books for teens. Delve into the world of architecture, learn about recent innovations in sustainability and inclusivity, and uncover the details behind real architectural projects. Explore an overview of architectural movements and designers from prehistory to modern day and check out inspiring interviews with working professionals. With tons of practical advice for pursuing a career, you'll find out how you can become an architect and help build an environmentally responsible world from the ground up. Go beyond other architecture books for teens with Architecture essentials. Get to know the five basic elements of architecture: structure, program, economics, aesthetics, and region. Creative career options. Learn what it means to work in residential or industrial architecture, specialize in historic preservation, create landscapes, innovate in urban planning, and more. Real world examples. Go behind the scenes on real architectural projects with colorful illustrations, breakdowns of the design process, and thoughtful examinations of their impact. This book makes an excellent choice for Christmas gifts for teens, offering a unique blend of education and inspiration. It's also perfect as a stocking stuffer for teens who are curious about the world of architecture.

Thermodynamic Interactions Javier Garcia-German, 2017-07-01 An Exploration into Material, Physiological, and Territorial Atmospheres. Energy and sustainability is a complex topic that needs to address simultaneously core disciplinary values and ideas that come from other fields of knowledge. The interconnection between the environment and its climate, its built structures, and the human body requires overlying architecture with other disciplines such as meteorology, thermodynamics, or physiology to engage them in a holistic way. The book is structured in three blocks: Territorial Atmospheres, Material Atmospheres, and Physiological Atmospheres, which present three distinct and successive realms at which thermodynamic exchanges are taking place. Territorial Atmospheres deals with the thermodynamic interaction between the environment and its built structures. Material Atmospheres focuses on the interaction between a building and the climate it generates. And lastly, Physiological Atmospheres centers on the interaction between indoor ambient and the physiological and psychological effects on human beings. Each of the blocks has a co-editor, Silvia Benedito.

for Territorial Atmospheres I aki balos for Material Atmospheres and Philippe Rahm for Physiological Atmospheres who will work together with the editor defining the context of the book

The worldwide use of building envelopes in steel and glass is one of the characteristic features of modern architecture. Many of these pre and post war buildings are now suffering severe defects in the building fabric which necessitate measures to preserve the buildings. In this endeavor aspects of architectural design, building physics and the preservation of historic buildings play a key role. Using a selection of 20 iconic buildings in Europe and the USA, the book documents the current technological status of the three most common strategies used today: restoration, rehabilitation and replacement. The buildings include Fallingwater House by Frank Lloyd Wright, Farnsworth House by Ludwig Mies van der Rohe, Fagus Factory and Bauhaus Building by Walter Gropius. The State of Conservation Joshua Nygren, 2025-01-06. In the twentieth century, natural resource conservation emerged as a vital force in US politics, laying the groundwork for present-day sustainability. Merging environmental, agricultural and political history, Joshua Nygren examines the political economy and ecology of agricultural conservation through the lens of the conservation industrial complex. This evolving public-private network, which united the US Department of Agriculture, Congress, local and national organizations and the agricultural industry, guided soil and water conservation in rural America for much of the century. Contrary to the classic tales of US environmental politics and the rise and fall of the New Deal Order, this book emphasizes continuity. Nygren demonstrates how the conservation policies, programs and partnerships of the 1930s and 1940s persisted through the age of environmentalism and how their defining traits anticipated those typically associated with late twentieth-century political culture. The conservation industrial complex promoted a development-oriented brand of conservation that aided the rise of large-scale capital-intensive agriculture which continues today. It also reshaped the physical and political landscapes of the country, leading to impressive conservation victories and spectacular failures by privileging some environments, degrading others and intensifying farm depopulation. In the name of environmental protection, agricultural conservation made rural America less equal.

California Women and Politics Robert W. Cherny, 2011. An edited volume exploring the role women played in California politics in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries. Contemporary Urban Landscapes of the Middle East Mohammad Gharipour, 2016-03-17. The Middle East is well known for its historic gardens that have developed over more than two millennia. The role of urban landscape projects in Middle Eastern cities has grown in prominence with a gradual shift in emphasis from gardens for the private sphere to an increasingly public function. The contemporary landscape projects, either designed as public plazas or public parks, have played a significant role in transferring the modern Middle Eastern cities to a new era and also in transforming to a newly shaped social culture in which the public has a voice. This book considers what ties these projects to their historical context and what regional and local elements and concepts have been used in their design. The Country in the City Richard A. Walker, 2009-11-23. Winner of the Western History Association's 2009 Hal K. Rothman Award, Finalist in the Western Writers of America Spur Award for the Western Nonfiction Contemporary category, 2008. The San Francisco Bay Area is one of the world's most beautiful cities. Despite a population of 7 million people, it is more greensward than asphalt jungle more open space than hardscape A vast quilt of countryside is tucked into the folds of the metropolis stitched from fields farms and woodlands mines creeks and wetlands In The Country in the City Richard Walker tells the story of how the jigsaw geography of this greenbelt has been set into place The Bay Area's civic landscape has been fought over acre by acre an arduous process requiring popular mobilization political will and hard work Its most cherished environments Mount Tamalpais Napa Valley San Francisco Bay Point Reyes Mount Diablo the Pacific coast have engendered some of the fiercest environmental battles in the country and have made the region a leader in green ideas and organizations This book tells how the Bay Area got its green grove from the stirrings of conservation in the time of John Muir to origins of the recreational parks and coastal preserves in the early twentieth century from the fight to stop bay fill and control suburban growth after the Second World War to securing conservation easements and stopping toxic pollution in our times Here modern environmentalism first became a mass political movement in the 1960s with the sudden blooming of the Sierra Club and Save the Bay and it remains a global center of environmentalism to this day Green values have been a pillar of Bay Area life and politics for more than a century It is an environmentalism grounded in local places and personal concerns close to the heart of the city Yet this vision of what a city should be has always been informed by liberal even utopian ideas of nature planning government and democracy In the end green is one of the primary colors in the flag of the Left Coast where green enthusiasms like open space are built into the fabric of urban life Written in a lively and accessible style The Country in the City will be of interest to general readers and environmental activists At the same time it speaks to fundamental debates in environmental history urban planning and geography
