Office for Subject Cataloging Policy, 2013 Science in Medieval Islam Howard R. Turner, 2010-07-28 A well organized and interesting overview of science in the Muslim world in the seventh through seventeenth centuries with over 100 illustrations. The Middle East Journal During the Golden Age of Islam in the seventh through seventeenth centuries A.D. Muslim philosophers and poets, artists and scientists, princes and laborers created a unique culture that has influenced societies on every continent. This book offers a fully illustrated, highly accessible introduction to an important aspect of that culture: the scientific achievements of medieval Islam. Howard Turner, who curated the subject for a major traveling exhibition, opens with a historical overview of the spread of Islamic civilization from the Arabian peninsula eastward to India and westward across northern Africa into Spain. He describes how a passion for knowledge led the Muslims during their centuries of empire building to assimilate and expand the scientific knowledge of older cultures including those of Greece, India, and China. He explores medieval Islamic accomplishments in cosmology, mathematics, astronomy, astrology, geography, medicine, natural sciences, alchemy, and optics. He also indicates the ways in which Muslim scientific achievement influenced the advance of science in the Western world from the Renaissance to the modern era. This survey of historic Muslim scientific achievements offers students and other readers a window into one of the world's great cultures, one which is experiencing a remarkable resurgence as a religious, political, and social force in our own time. Space Science and the Arab World Jörg Matthias Determann, 2018-01-29 When Sultan bin Salman left Earth on the shuttle Discovery in 1985 he became the first Arab first Muslim and first member of a royal family in space Twenty five years later the discovery of a planet 500 light years away by the Qatar Exoplanet Survey subsequently named Qatar 1b was evidence of the cutting edge space science projects taking place across the Middle East This book identifies the individuals institutions and national ideologies that enabled Arab astronomers and researchers to gain support for space exploration when Middle East governments lacked interest Jorg Matthias Determann shows that the conquest of space became associated with national prestige security economic growth and the idea of an Arab renaissance more generally Equally important to this success were international collaborations to benefit from American and Soviet expertise and technology Arab scientists and officials had to commit to global governance of space and the common interests of humanity Challenging the view that the golden age of Arabic science and cosmopolitanism was situated in the medieval period Determann tells the story of the new discoveries and scientific collaborations taking place from the 19th century to the present day An innovative contribution to Middle East studies and history of science the book also appeals to increased business media and political interest in the Arab space industry

The Rise of Science in Islam and the West John W. Livingston, 2017-12-14 This is a study of science in Muslim society from its rise in the 8th century to the efforts of 19th century Muslim thinkers and reformers to regain the lost ethos that had given birth to the rich scientific heritage of earlier Muslim civilization The volume is organized in four parts the rise of science in Muslim society in its historical setting of political and intellectual expansion the Muslim creative achievement and original discoveries proponents and opponents of science in a religiously oriented society and finally the complex factors that account for the end of the 500 year Muslim renaissance The book brings together and treats in depth using primary and secondary sources in Arabic Turkish and European languages subjects that are lightly and uncritically brushed over in non specialized literature such as the question of what can be considered to be purely original scientific advancement in Muslim civilization over and above what was inherited from the Greco Syriac and Indian traditions what was the place of science in a religious society and the question of the curious demise of the Muslim scientific renaissance after centuries of creativity The book also interprets the history of the rise achievement and decline of scientific study in light of the religious temper and of the political and socio economic vicissitudes across Islamdom for over a millennium and integrates the Muslim legacy with the history of Latin European accomplishments It sets the stage for the next momentous transmission of science from the West back to the Arabic speaking world of Islam from the last half of the 19th century to the early 21st century the subject of a second volume

Global Village Thomas R. McFaul, 2006-09-30 Many authors have written on the effect technology economics and politics have on globalization but few have addressed the potential impact of world religions on the future direction of globalization McFaul's fascinating book explores what others have not the part the world's major religions Hinduism Buddhism Jainism

Zoroastrianism Judaism Christianity and Islam will play in bringing either greater peace and justice or hatred and hostility to the global village Will these religions which exert the greatest amount of influence worldwide be a force for good or ill in the emerging global village of the 21st century This book answers that question and more Covering the religions to which the majority of world s population adheres it offers insight into the commonalities differences and potential for coming together to create peace to be found among the major faiths The world s seven major religions are covered and topics such as sexuality ethics violence and the tension between secular and sacred arenas are discussed for each McFaul argues that if the leaders and laity of these religions are able to find common ground efforts toward peace and justice in the global village can be more effective and lasting If they accentuate their differences he suggests they will only produce more hatred and hostility
