Islands Crossroads Interaction Archaeology Ethnohistory:

Islands at the Crossroads L. Antonio Curet, Mark W. Hauser, 2011-10 The contributors to Islands at the Crossroads include scholars from the Caribbean the United States and Europe who look beyond cultural boundaries and colonial frontiers to explore the complex and layered ways in which both distant and more intimate sociocultural political and economic interactions have shaped Caribbean societies from seven thousand years ago to recent times The Archaeology of Caribbean and Circum-Caribbean Farmers (6000 BC - AD 1500) Basil Reid, 2018-05-16 Comprising 17 chapters and with a wide geographic reach stretching from the Florida Keys in the north to the Guianas in the south this volume places a well needed academic spotlight on what is generally considered an integral topic in Caribbean and circum Caribbean archaeology The book explores a variety of issues including the introduction and dispersal of early cultivars plant manipulation animal domestication dietary profiles and landscape modifications Tried and true and novel analytical techniques are used to tease out aspects of the Caribbean and circum Caribbean database that inform the complex and often subtle processes of domestication under varying socio environmental conditions Contributors discuss their findings within multiple constructs such as neolithisation social interaction trade mobility social complexity migration colonisation and historical ecology Multiple data sources are used which include but are not restricted to rock art cooking pits and pots stable isotopes dental calculus and pathologies starch grains and proxies for past environmental conditions Given its multi disciplinary approaches this volume should be of immense value to both researchers and students of Caribbean archaeology biogeography ethnobotany zooarchaeology historical ecology agriculture environmental studies history and other related fields

Routledge Handbook of the Archaeology of Indigenous-Colonial Interaction in the Americas Lee M. Panich, Sara L. Gonzalez, 2021-07-19 The Routledge Handbook of the Archaeology of Indigenous Colonial Interaction in the Americas brings together scholars from across the hemisphere to examine how archaeology can highlight the myriad ways that Indigenous people have negotiated colonial systems from the fifteenth century through to today The contributions offer a comprehensive look at where the archaeology of colonialism has been and where it is heading Geographically diverse case studies highlight longstanding theoretical and methodological issues as well as emerging topics in the field The organization of chapters by key issues and topics rather than by geography fosters exploration of the commonalities and contrasts between historical contingencies and scholarly interpretations Throughout the volume Indigenous and non Indigenous contributors grapple with the continued colonial nature of archaeology and highlight Native perspectives on the potential of using archaeology to remember and tell colonial histories This volume is the ideal starting point for students interested in how archaeology can illuminate Indigenous agency in colonial settings Professionals including academic and cultural resource management archaeologists will find it a convenient reference for a range of topics related to the archaeology of colonialism in the Americas The Oxford Handbook of Caribbean Archaeology William F. Keegan, Corinne L.

Hofman, Reniel Rodriguez Ramos, 2013-03-21 This volume brings together examples of the best research to address the complexity of the Caribbean past Power, Political Economy, and Historical Landscapes of the Modern World

Christopher R. DeCorse, 2019-04-15 This interdisciplinary volume brings together a richly substantive collection of case studies that examine European indigenous interactions economic relations and their materialities in the formation of the modern world Research has demonstrated the extent and complexity of the varied local economic and political systems and diverse social formations that predated European contact These preexisting systems articulated with the expanding European economy and in doing so shaped its emergence Moving beyond the confines of national or Atlantic histories to examine regional systems and their historical trajectories on a global scale the studies within this volume draw examples from the Caribbean Mesoamerica North America South America Africa and South Asia While the contributions are rooted in substantive studies from different world areas their overarching aim is to negotiate between global and local frames revealing how the expanding world system entangled the non Western world in global economies yet did so in ways that were locally articulated varied and often non European in their expression Material Encounters and Indigenous

Hofman, 2017-01-03 The Caribbean before Columbus is a new synthesis of the region's insular history based on the authors 55 years of research in the Bahamas Lesser and Greater Antilles The presentation operates on multiple scales and individual sites highlight specific issues For the first time complete histories are elucidated through an emphasis on cultural diversity Entangled Worlds Daniel G König, Akira Iriye, Jürgen Osterhammel, 2025 Far from a stagnant Middle Ages the years 600 1350 witnessed globalization and social innovation Entangled Worlds explores long distance trade in the Americas cosmopolitan effects of Islamic and Mongol expansion the spread of Christian and Sinitic models of culture and social organization and the birth of settled political order in South Asia

Eloquence Embodied Céline Carayon, 2019-08-29 Taking a fresh look at the first two centuries of French colonialism in the Americas this book answers the long standing question of how and how well Indigenous Americans and the Europeans who arrived on their shores communicated with each other French explorers and colonists in the sixteenth century noticed that Indigenous peoples from Brazil to Canada used signs to communicate The French in response quickly embraced the nonverbal as a means to overcome cultural and language barriers Céline Carayon's close examination of their accounts enables her to recover these sophisticated Native practices of embodied expressions In a colonial world where communication and trust were essential but complicated by a multitude of languages intimate and sensory expressions ensured that French colonists and Indigenous peoples understood each other well Understanding in turn bred both genuine personal bonds and violent antagonisms As Carayon demonstrates nonverbal communication shaped Indigenous responses and resistance to colonial pressures across the Americas just as it fueled the imperial French imagination Challenging the notion of colonial America as a site of misunderstandings and insurmountable cultural clashes Carayon shows that Natives and newcomers used nonverbal means to build relationships before the rise of linguistic fluency and crucially well afterward

Encyclopedia of Caribbean Archaeology Basil A. Reid,R. Grant Gilmore III,2014-03-04 A sweeping overview of the scholarly information available on archaeology in the Caribbean tackling the usual questions of colonization adaptation and evolution while embracing such newer aspects as geoinformatics and archaeometry The Archaeology of Native North America Dean Snow,Nancy Gonlin,Peter Siegel,2019-07-30 The Archaeology of Native North America presents the ideas evidence and debates regarding the initial peopling of the continent by mobile bands of hunters and gatherers and the cultural evolution of their many lines of descent over the ensuing millennia The emergence of farming urban centers and complex political organization paralleled similar developments in other world areas With the arrival of Europeans to North America and the inevitable clashes of culture colonizers and colonists were forever changed which is also represented in the archaeological heritage of the continent Unlike others this book includes Mesoamerica and the Caribbean thus addressing broad regional interactions and the circulation of people things and ideas This edition incorporates results of new archaeological research since the publication of the first edition a decade earlier Fifty four new box features highlight selected archaeological sites which are publicly accessible gateways into the study of North American archaeology The features were authored by specialists with direct knowledge of the sites and their broad importance Glossaries are provided at the end of every chapter to clarify specialized terminology The book is directed to upper level undergraduate and graduate students taking survey courses in American archaeology as well as other advanced readers It is extensively illustrated and includes citations to sources with their own robust bibliographies leading diligent readers deeper into the professional literature The Archaeology of Native North America is the ideal text for courses in North American archaeology

Archaeologies of the Caribbean Todd M. Ahlman, Gerald F. Schroedl, 2019-11-12 New perspectives on Caribbean historical archaeology that go beyond the colonial plantation Historical Archaeologies of the Caribbean Contextualizing Sites through Colonialism Capitalism and Globalism addresses issues in Caribbean history and historical archaeology such as freedom frontiers urbanism postemancipation life trade plantation life and new heritage This collection moves beyond plantation archaeology by expanding the knowledge of the diverse Caribbean experiences from the late seventeenth through the mid nineteenth centuries The essays in this volume are grounded in strong research programs and data analysis that incorporate humanistic narratives in their discussions of Amerindian freedmen plantation institutional military and urban sites Sites include a sample of the many different types found across the Caribbean from a variety of colonial contexts that are seldom reported in archaeological research yet constitute components essential to understanding the full range and depth of Caribbean history Contributors examine urban contexts in Nevis and St John and explore the economic connections between Europeans and enslaved Africans in urban and plantation settings in St Eustatius The volume contains a pioneering study of frontier exchange with Amerindians in Dominica and a synthesis of ceramic exchange networks among enslaved Africans in the Leeward Islands Chapters on military forts in Nevis and St Kitts call attention to this often neglected aspect of the Caribbean colonial landscape Contributors also directly address culture heritage issues relating to community participation and interpretation On St Kitts the legacy of forced confinement of lepers ties into debates of current public health policy Plantation site studies from Antigua and Martinique are especially relevant because they detail comparisons of French and British patterns of African enslavement and provide insights into how each addressed the social and economic changes that occurred with emancipation Contributors Todd M Ahlman Douglas V Armstrong Samantha Rebovich Bardoe Paul Farnsworth Jeffrey R Ferguson R Grant Gilmore III Diana Gonz lez Tennant Edward Gonz lez Tennant Barbara J Heath Carter L Hudgins Kenneth G Kelly Eric Klingelhofer Roger H Leech Stephan Lenik Gerald F Schroedl Diane Wallman Christian Williamson

Mining Language Allison Margaret Bigelow, 2020-04-16 Mineral wealth from the Americas underwrote and undergirded European colonization of the New World American gold and silver enriched Spain funded the slave trade and spurred Spain's northern European competitors to become Atlantic powers Building upon works that have narrated this global history of American mining in economic and labor terms Mining Language is the first book length study of the technical and scientific vocabularies that miners developed in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries as they engaged with metallic materials This language centric focus enables Allison Bigelow to document the crucial intellectual contributions Indigenous and African miners made to the very engine of European colonialism By carefully parsing the writings of well known figures such as Cristóbal Colón and Gonzalo Fernández de Oviedo y Valdés and lesser known writers such as Ívaro Alonso Barba a Spanish priest who spent most of his life in the Andes Bigelow uncovers the ways in which Indigenous and African metallurgists aided or resisted imperial mining endeavors shaped critical scientific practices and offered imaginative visions of metalwork Her creative linguistic and visual analyses of archival fragments images and texts in languages as diverse as Spanish and Quechua also allow her to reconstruct the processes that led to the silencing of these voices in European print culture

Space and Time in Mediterranean Prehistory Stella Souvatzi, Athena Hadji, 2013-10-15 Space and Time in Mediterranean Prehistory addresses these two concepts as interrelated rather than as separate categories and as a means for understanding past social relations at different scales The need for this volume was realised through four main observations the ever growing interest in space and spatiality across the social sciences the comparative theoretical and methodological neglect of time and temporality the lack in the existing literature of an explicit and balanced focus on both space and time and the large amount of new information coming from prehistoric Mediterranean It focuses on the active and interactive role of space and time in the production of any social environment drawing equally on contemporary theory and on case studies from Mediterranean prehistory Space and Time in Mediterranean Prehistory seeks to break down the space time continuum often assumed rather than inferred into space time units and to uncover the varying and variable interrelations of space and time in prehistoric societies across the Mediterranean The volume is a response to the dissatisfaction with traditional views of space and time in prehistory and revisits these concepts to develop a timely integrative conceptual and analytical framework for the study of space and time in archaeology

A Historical Geography of Christopher Columbus's First Voyage and his Interactions with Indigenous Peoples of the Caribbean Al M. Rocca, 2024-05-02 This book offers a unique account of Christopher Columbus's first voyage the most consequential voyage in world history It provides a detailed day by day account of the explorer's travels and activities richly illustrated with thematic maps This work expands our understanding of Columbus's first voyage by mapping his sea and land experiences offering both a historical and geographical exploration of his first voyage Traveling chronologically through events the reader builds a spatial insight into Columbus's perspectives that confused and confirmed his pre-existing notions of Asia and the Indies driving him onward in search of new geographic evidence Drawing from a diverse range of primary and secondary historical resources this book is beautifully adorned with illustrations that facilitate an in depth exploration of the connections between the places Columbus encountered and his subsequent social interactions with Indigenous people This methodology allows the reader to better understand Columbus's actions as he analyzes new geographic realities with pre-existing notions of the Indies Attention is given to Columbian primary sources which analyze how those materials have been used to create a narrative by historians Readers will learn about the social and political structures of the Lucayan Ta no and Carib peoples achieving a deeper understanding of those pre Columbian cultures at the time of contact The book will appeal to students and researchers in the disciplines of history geography and anthropology and the general reader interested in Columbus

Connecting Continents Kenneth Kelly, 2020-12-30 This volume draws together richly textured and deeply empirical accounts of rice and how its cultivation in the Carolina low country stitch together a globe that maps colonial economies displacement and the creative solutions of enslaved people conscripted to cultivate its grain If sugar fueled the economic hegemony of North Europe in the 18th and 19th century rice fed it Nowhere has this story been a more integral part of the landscape than Low Country of the coasts of Georgia South and North Carolina Rice played a key role in the expansion of slavery in the Carolinas during the 18th century as West African captives were enslaved in part for their expertise in growing rice Contributors to this volume explore the varied genealogies of rice cultivation in the Low Country through archaeological anthropological and historical research This multi sited volume draws on case studies from Guinea Sierra Leone and South Carolina the Caribbean and India to both compare and connect these disparate regions Through these studies the reader will learn how the rice cultivation knowledge of untold numbers of captive Africans contributed to the development of the Carolinas and by extension the United States and Europe The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of Atlantic Studies Creoles, Revisited Nicholas G. Faracis, Sally J. Delgado, 2021-05-16 This innovative book contributes to a paradigm shift in the study of creole languages forging new empirical frameworks for understanding language and culture in sociohistorical contact The authors bring together archival sources to challenge dominant linguistic theory and practice and engage issues of power positioning marginalized indigenous peoples as the center of and vital agents in these languages formation and development Students in language contact pidgins and creoles Caribbean studies and postcolonial studies courses and scholars across many disciplines will benefit from this book and be convinced of the importance of understanding creoles and creolization
