Is There Anyone Here From Education Education After Thatcher:

Is There Anyone Here from Education? AnnMarie Wolpe, James Donald, 1983 Popular Culture, Educational Discourse, and Mathematics Peter M. Appelbaum, 1995-04-26 This groundbreaking book analyzes contemporary education discourse in the light of curriculum politics and popular culture using sources ranging from academic scholarship to popular magazines music video film and television game shows Mathematics is used as an extreme case since it is a discipline so easily accepted as separable from politics ethics or the social construction of knowledge Appelbaum's juxtaposition of popular culture public debate and professional practice enables an examination of the production and mediation of common sense distinctions between school mathematics and the world outside of schools Terrain ordinarily displaced or excluded by traditional education literature becomes the pendulum for a new conversation which merges research and practice while discarding pre conceived categories of understanding The book also serves as an entertaining introduction to emerging theories in cultural studies progressively illustrating the uses of discourse analysis for comprehending ideology the implications of power knowledge links professional practice as a technology of power and curriculum as at once commodities and cultural resources In this way Appelbaum effectively reveals a direction for teachers students and researchers to cooperatively form a community attentive to the politics of curriculum and popular culture Education Under Siege Stanley Aronowitz, Henry A. Giroux, 2003-09-02 Public spending on education is under attack In this challenging book Aronowitz and Giroux examine the thinking behind that attack in the USA and in other industrialized countries Within School Walls AnnMarie Wolpe, 2012-05-16 Drawing from her in depth ethnographic study of a London comprehensive school the author shows how gender formation for both girls and boys is mediated by disciplinary control sexuality and the curriculum Her findings for girls and boys with their important emphases are revealed So are the responses and perspectives of the teachers Prior to publication of this volume much feminist writing depicted the subordination of girls as a function of patriarchal control both in terms of the teaching the girls receive and the behaviour of the boys around them The author's narrative implicitly and explicitly challenges some of these views A progressive education? Laura Tisdall, 2019-10-29 A Progressive Education argues that ideas about both childhood and adolescence were transformed in English and Welsh schools after WWII Covering the period 1918 to 1979 this book shows that by putting childhood at the centre of the history of education we can challenge the stories we tell about how and why schooling itself changed It has been suggested that the dominance of progressive education after 1945 led to a backlash against permissive attitudes to pupils in both Western Europe and the United States But British child centred education in alliance with developmental psychology actually shaped a more restrictive and pessimistic image of childhood Drawing on an extensive range of sources that illuminate teaching practice from school logbooks to oral histories this book will be crucial not only for historians and sociologists of modern Britain but for education professionals and policy makers Thatcher's Children? Dr Jane Pilcher, Jane Pilcher, Stephen Wagg, 2005-06-28 That childhood is a social construction is understood both by social scientists and in society generally The authors of this book examine the political issues surrounding childhood including law making social policy government provisions and political activism This text examines current social and political issues involving childhood It looks at the impact of the New Right who talk of family values parent power in schools irresponsible provision of contraception to young girls and the increase in child violence as a result of mass media It also considers the response of the caring professions and the Modern Left who campaign amongst other things for the establishment of children's rights
