My Secret Life on the McJob: Lessons from Behind the Counter Guaranteed to Supersize Any Management Style Jerry Newman, 2007-01-02. Once upon a time a Ph.D. went to work at Mickey D's. And what he found was illuminating. Jerry Newman, a college professor who has taught business courses for nearly 30 years, went undercover as a bottom rung worker for the biggest names in fast food including McDonald's and Burger King. Newman found that fast food chains were the perfect petri dishes for covert research. High pressure, high volume businesses with high employee turnover. The pecking order was also crystal clear from fry cook all the way up to store manager. Of the seven restaurants where Newman worked, some were high morale, high productivity machines. Others were miserable, misplaced circles of hell. Yet one common trait stuck out from them all: Each restaurant's respective manager determined the climate of the work environment. Go behind the fast food counter with Newman and see what happens on an average day on the McJob: how the restaurants are run, for better or worse; how managers reward good employees when raises are impossible; believe it or not, bosses give em more hours and it works; how morale and motivation spring directly from the manager's office; and how a few simple adjustments to your own management style. The Supersized Management Principles in this book can transform and invigorate your workplace.

McDonald's and Subway. A critical comparison of their organisational structures and fit to the chosen corporate strategy Patrick Schneider, 2019-05-06 Seminar paper from the year 2019 in the subject Business economics Business Management Corporate Governance grade 2 0 University of Applied Sciences Essen course Strategic Corporate Management language English abstract This assignment is answering the task to compare the organisational structure of two direct competitors in an industry of your choice To what extent and how does the chosen organisational structure reflect the specific corporate strategy of these companies Discuss the respective structures critically The assignment is comparing McDonald's and Subway the two main competitors in the fast food industry The chosen companies are the two market leaders in the fast food industry Since Hill and Jones point out that a corporate strategy formulation comes first followed by designing the organisational structure the following sections will describe the corporate strategies of both companies first Later on it will be evaluated critically what kind of organisational structure each of the competitors are built on and which one has the better fit with regard to their strategy In the end concluding remarks and an outlook will be provided The organisational structure of any company can be understood as a vehicle that depicts the activities and connections of various divisions business units and functions of that company It helps managers to comprehend and to control the flow of activities The organisational structure is highly important to be established appropriately because it presets the paths on which a company can create value and ultimately determines the efficiency of the value chain There are various problems that can come up especially in large companies like a lack of coordination information distortion and motivational problems The weaknesses of a organisational structure are to be kept in mind when setting up a corporate strategy or else the structure needs to undergo changes in order to follow the strategy The fit between a chosen corporate strategy and the structure of an organisation has an important influence on how smooth the different organs of a company can work together to fulfil the corporate objectives
