Grandads War Coldstream Frontline Experiences:

A History of the Guards Armoured Formations 1941-1945 Charles Richard Trumpess, 2025-03-30 Although the Guards armored Division and its sister formation the 6th Guards Tank Brigade shared a common origin they went on to forge quite different operational records One of the units would be tarnished by its failures while the other was applauded for its successes A month after VE Day the two Guards armored formations would be reunited one last time before being officially disbanded During the intervening years the Guards faced criticism public ridicule the threat of disbandment and many other challenges Nevertheless these armored Guardsmen would prevail on the battlefield In response to the threat of a German invasion of the British Isles the Guards armored Division formed in the spring of 1941 But why convert battalions of Foot Guards considered by many to be first class infantry into an armored formation Certainly many people were skeptical that spit and polish Guardsmen could ever adapt to a new armored role As the threat of invasion receded the Guards armored Division and 6th Guards Tank Brigade embarked on years of training while the war raged elsewhere This book examines the decision to form the Guards armored Division and then keep it at home for an extended period Once deployed to Normandy the fighting quickly revealed shortcomings in the Division's training equipment and operational procedures In contrast when the Churchill tanks of the 6th Guards Tank Brigade went into action south of Caumont it was to prove an affirmation of everything they had learnt in training Over the next ten months the Guards armored formations would celebrate victories and lament failures while fighting their way across northwest Europe This book examines how the decision to raise a Guards armored Division came about and why the idea met with such strong opposition It also takes an in depth look at the training equipment and culture of the Brigade of Guards and how that influenced the two formations preparedness for war Once deployed overseas the book explores how the Guards were able to adapt to changing conditions on the battlefield and adopt new operational and tactical procedures Finally the book reveals why the Guards armored formations were hurriedly disbanded in June 1945 Additionally using new archive material the book discloses why it took over a decade to publish the official history of the Guards armored Division

Grandad's War A. C. Reynolds, 2015-11-28 Grandad's War is the wonderful account of a 5th Battalion Coldstream Guardsman Sergeant Stephen Simpson No 2664217 Set on the frontline during WWII he was part of the infantry in the Guards Armoured Division Steve takes us a journey out of the Yorkshire mines down to the Army recruiting offices where he becomes a lifelong member of the infamous Coldstream Guards The 17 year old soldier's story is delivered in a true Yorkshire man's style with warmth and good humour parallel to the horrendous events of war which unfold around him This fascinating insight is a window to another world and another generation come walk with him through his training years in England when he met his sweet heart Beryl who he wrote to from the trenches Cross the channel with him over to France as he takes part in some of the key campaigns in Europe like Operation Veritable Good Wood and Market Garden Travel through the battle scarred landscapes of Normandy leaving his injured and fallen comrades and friends behind taking part in some of the hardest and cruellest battles there were we advance through Normandy smashing through the Germans and liberating Arras We walk alongside heroes like VC Captain I O Liddell We take part in the longest and fastest march in British Military history ensuring the liberation of Brussels and are met with overwhelming joy as civilians are released from the shackles of 4 years of Nazi occupation Not found sitting on his laurels Steve then takes us into Germany liberating a Russian P O W camp then rounding up the surrendering German Army at Rotenburg Aerodrome with Field Marshal Montgomery Along his journey Steve scrupulously saved even the smallest of artefacts to mark his life changing life threatening experience Over 200 original war time items were found after his death pay books release papers character references medals cap stars buttons an Iron Cross Nazi pin badge postcards postal dockets photographs letters to his sweet heart even a Boxing Day menu from 1945 and are all featured throughout his book adding a valuable visual insight Steve then takes us beyond the war back to Normandy 60 years on when he is awarded the Veteran Badge of honour he is humbled by the children and adults who personally thank him for their freedom his story will stay with you long after the next V E Day celebrations Coldstream Guardsman 2664217 A C Reynolds,2015-10 At the beginning of World War II Stephen Simpson became an infantry soldier of the 5th Battalion Coldstream Guards Steve recounts his journey from the Yorkshire mines to the frontlines of Europe The 17 year old soldier s story is delivered with warmth and good humour parallel to the horrendous events of war and fantastic insights into the major key campaigns of Operation Market Garden and Operation Goodwood Steve scrupulously saved the smallest of artefacts to mark his life changing life threatening experience all of which are featured throughout his book adding a valuable visual insight into life as a soldier during the second world war and beyond What he witnessed during the war sat in the shadows of his heart and mind as he became a loving and deeply respected friend comrade husband father and grandfather On returning to England he never forgot his young friends who perished during the fighting He marched every Remembrance Day knowing his fallen comrades would never see the future that their courage and lives had helped to build Steve worked tirelessly all his life for the Coldstream Guards Association helping many ex military feel connected and part of a community He returned to France for many celebrations always visiting his friend s graves to pay his respects one day finally making it back to Belgium to find the family he was billeted with during the fighting 2664217 was the number assigned to him by the British Army but Steve was more than just a number and this is his story What Did You Do in the War, Grandad?
