Promoting Climate Change Awareness through Environmental Education Wilson, Lynn,Stevenson, Carolyn,2015-09-22 Addressing global climate change is a monumental battle that can only be fought by the leaders of tomorrow but future leaders are molded through education and shaped by the leaders of today While the pivotal role of education in spreading awareness of climate change is one universally espoused equally universal is the recognition that current education efforts are falling woefully short Promoting Climate Change Awareness through Environmental Education stems the rising tide of shortcomings in environmental education by plugging a known gap in current research and opening a dialogue for the future Targeting an audience of young scholars academics researchers and policymakers this volume provides a much needed dam of empirical evidence regarding the role of youth education in addressing one of the greatest challenges of our age This timely publication focuses on topics such as building resilience to climate change green learning spaces gender issues and concerns for developing countries and the impact of young adults on the future of environmental sustainability

Understanding Gifted Adolescents Joanna Simpson,Megan Glover Adams,2015-12-16 Understanding Gifted Adolescents Accepting the Exceptional addresses the basis of exclusive education for gifted adolescents from the theoretical perspective of social identity Using the lens of social identity theory and adolescent development related to giftedness this book builds the case for a curriculum for gifted adolescents By providing a comprehensive foundation for exploring the concept of a more exclusive education scholastically and debunking the elitist concept of gifted education this book is a well organized and clearly structured exposition for the philosophy of gifted education as well as a means of putting a curricular model into practice in American high schools With pointed critiques of differentiated instruction in the general education classroom and the current trend of standardization and normalization in the current educational climate a new philosophy for addressing gifted education is presented

Libraries, Literacy, and African American Youth Sandra Hughes-Hassell,Pauletta Brown Bracy,Casey H. Rawson,2016-10-31 This important book is a call to action for the library community to address the literacy and life outcome gaps impacting African American youth It provides strategies that enable school and public librarians to transform their services programs and collections to be more responsive to the literacy strengths experiences and needs of African American youth According to National Assessment of Educational Progress NEAP only 18 percent of African American fourth graders and 17 percent of African American eighth graders performed at or above proficiency in reading in 2013 This book draws on research from various academic fields to explore the issues surrounding African American literacy and to aid in developing culturally responsive school and library programs with the goal of helping to close the achievement gap and improve the quality of life for African American youth. The book merges the work of its three authors along with the findings of other researchers and practitioners highlighting exemplary programs such as the award winning Pearl Bailey Library Program, the Maker Jawn initiative at the Free Library of Philadelphia and the Blue Ribbon Mentor Advocate writing institute in the Chapel Hill Carrboro City Schools among others. Readers will understand how these culturally responsive programs put theory and research based best practices into local action and see how to adapt them to meet the needs of their communities. Youth Work Tracie

Trimmer-Platman, 2025-11-13 Youth and community work is a long contested profession which has been challenged and required to adapt in order to address social and political priorities. Open access youth work which is informal, youth centred and open ended has faced the most criticism in favour of target driven approaches. This book assesses the impact of a unique youth and community space in East London, part of the 2012 Olympic legacy created specifically to support local young people in addressing the challenges and difficulties in their lives. It gives clear and practical evidence of the significant benefits of open access youth work with guidance on replicating best practice in similar urban environments. Adolescents in Youth Empowerment Positions Joyce Van Meter, 1996

Preparing and accessing decent work amongst rural youth in Cambodia Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2019-08-12 The case study explores which skills and training opportunities young people need in order to gain access to decent employment in rural areas. The research was undertaken in order to develop recommendations to support the Ministry of Agriculture, Forestry and Fisheries (MAFF) and FAO Cambodia in developing appropriate recommendations to support rural young people, especially those of the 15 to 17 age cohort. The study highlights the limited decent employment opportunities that currently exist along various agricultural value chains in rural Cambodia. Poverty and the structural problems of the agricultural sector are the main barriers for youth in accessing decent rural employment. A substantial enhancement of the education system as well as the provision of appropriate training services to ensure successful school-to-work transition is seen as necessary to tackle these challenges. A well balanced policy mix reflecting national and local circumstances can encourage employment opportunities and create an environment that enables rural youth. Building on previous research on agriculture in Cambodia, agricultural transformation requires promotion of agribusiness enterprises, support to community managed organizations of farmers, promotion of agropreneurs and investments in agricultural and rural development, particularly in infrastructure, energy, water, education and health. Moreover, most youth entering agriculture are self employed and work as smallscale farmers. Therefore, the provision of skills and training in rural areas should focus on the skills required to be self employed. Geospatial

Technologies in Geography Education Rafael de Miguel González, Karl Donert, Kostis Koutsopoulos, 2019-05-21 This book addresses new pedagogies focusing on the use of geospatial technologies and geomedias in the classroom. Today geospatial technologies are substantially influencing geography teaching and learning, particularly in secondary education. Web GIS

virtual globes storytelling maps and apps for mobile devices are transforming the nature and design of geography curricula instructional processes didactics resources and assessments Undoubtedly geography is among those school subjects that have benefited most from the implementation of new technologies in the classroom Geospatial technologies can be used to develop inquiry based learning or project based learning pedagogies and help students to acquire spatial reasoning and spatial citizenship skills in the context of education for sustainable development This book highlights a range of initiatives projects and educational practices from several European countries and settings related to geospatial challenges in geography education Given its scope it will be equally appealing to scientists students and teachers of geography and other fields using geospatial technologies and geomedial Enterprising Africa Stephen Dobson,Paul Jones,Daniel

Agyapong,Gideon Maas,2020-12-30 Enterprising Africa explores the future opportunities challenges growth areas and key themes that will shape entrepreneurship in the African continent over the next decade Entrepreneurship can be the key to unlock resilient growth but only if it is driven by both socially productive and growth oriented new businesses The book considers entrepreneurship as an enabler for socio economic growth and development in Africa especially in the context of youth unemployment and increasing youth population for which the traditional and indeed emerging industrial sectors will not be able to produce sufficient jobs to meet demand Organised around three thematic parts Part I covers the notion of inclusive growth and the role that entrepreneurs can play supporting this Part II considers the dynamic between entrepreneurs and the environment since social economic and environmental concerns need to build upon each other rather than vie for recognition Finally Part III offers chapters exploring policy contexts and the wider institutional ecosystems that need to be developed and enhanced to ensure a strong and vibrant environment for the future entrepreneurs of Africa to thrive Edited and authored by leading experts in the field this fascinating text will be of interest to academics as well as students of International Transformational and Social Entrepreneurship and International and African Business
