Fighting for Virtue Duncan McCargo, 2020-01-15 Fighting for Virtue investigates how Thailand's judges were tasked by the late King Bhumibol Adulyadej Rama IX in 2006 with helping to solve the country's intractable political problems and what happened next Across the last decade of Rama IX's rule Duncan McCargo examines the world of Thai judges how they were recruited trained and promoted and how they were socialized into a conservative world view that emphasized the proximity between the judiciary and the monarchy McCargo delves into three pivotal freedom of expression cases that illuminate Thai legal and cultural understandings of sedition and treason before examining the ways in which accusations of disloyalty made against controversial former prime minister Thaksin Shinawatra came to occupy a central place in the political life of a deeply polarized nation The author navigates the highly contentious role of the Constitutional Court as a key player in overseeing and regulating Thailand's political order before concluding with reflections on the significance of the Bhumibol era of judicialization in Thailand In the end posits McCargo under a new king who appears far less reluctant to assert his own power and authority the Thai courts may now assume somewhat less significance as a tool of the monarchical network

The Roman Family in Italy Beryl Rawson, Paul Richard Carey Weaver, 1999 The family continues to be seen as a central institution in Roman as well as modern Western society The Roman family is often used as a stereotype sometimes of severity sometimes of decadence with its decline often cited as a cause of wider decline and fall Definitions and concepts continue to be modified and nuanced however as the availability of new evidence and new methodologies make possible a much less simplistic picture In this volume the study of family draws on a wide range of disciplines to develop the intertwined themes of status sentiment and space For example on status there are contributions about Junian Latins and a survey of senators monuments while sentiment is represented by a gloomy but convincing picture of old age and a paper on the sentimental ideal which argues that conflict as well as concord is a feature of family life Space is represented among others by the contribution on who commemorates whom in Roman Italy pointing up the regional variations in custom and the difficulties in tracing complete families The final contributions focus on the house how people lived in the Roman house the use of rooms and the artefacts that might indicate this use The book makes use of many types of evidence from the legal and literary to the iconographical and archaeological Visual and material evidence play an important role in reconstructing real lives in considerable colour and variety The book moves beyond the city of Rome to the rest of Roman Italy and even into the provinces just as Roman culture moved outwards and mingled with other cultures Chronologically too there are new directions towards the later Empire and Christianity So although the contributors do not abandon any of the territory already gained in Rome nor literary and epigraphical sources nor the late Republic or early Empire there is an exciting sense of new discovery
